

WOODEN SHOES MAY AGAIN BE FAMILIAR SIGHT IN NEW YORK

Return Would Reduce High Cost of Living Though Perhaps They Are Not Stylish.

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, Nov. 15.—Will New Yorkers ever come to wearing wooden shoes? If they are really anxious to reduce the high cost of living, they will. The United States Forestry Bureau, boosting for wooden shoes, says they cost only 65 or 75 cents a pair and will easily last for two years. And it would be only a repetition of history, at that. In the days when this was New Amsterdam, our ancestors wore wooden shoes. While it might be an innovation for upper Fifth avenue or Forty-second street, for instance, the clack-clack of wooden shoes would certainly be nothing new for Bowling Green, the Battery, Whitehall and Greenwich.

After all, why not? Everything is a matter of custom. One must get used to everything? Could the sight of a pretty woman stepping down Broadway in wooden shoes be any more of a shock than was the first silk skirt, or initial minaret gown, or even the premiere hobble? A poke bonnet would certainly get an audience on Fifth avenue today and hoop skirts would call out the reserves, yet our grandfathers thought they looked natural enough.

The movement in favor of returning to wooden shoes was launched recently by the Forestry Bureau and the officials are said to anticipate an immense boom in that brand of foot-wear as soon as the idea has had a chance to percolate through the country.

"These shoes," said the report, "cost from 65 to 75 cents a pair and will last two years. Already they are finding favor with those who have to work in cold and damp places, such as tanneries, breweries, livery stables, ice plants, also by workmen in steel mills and glass factories, who must walk on slates or floors. We expect the farmers to be the next to become their users."

The bureau devoted other paragraphs to the belief that eventually wooden shoes will come into general usage throughout the United States. Of course there are many persons among the 90-odd millions in the country who are not farmers and who do not work in cold and damp places or walk on hot floors.

These may be slow in embracing the innovation, because of the undeniable fact that the wooden shoe is not graceful in shape and stylish in appearance. There again comes the argument that style is but a matter of getting used to it. If everybody wore wooden shoes, they would look graceful and stylish. There is no denying that they are comfortable.

Against this argument is the undeniable advantage that an entire family could be shod with wood for what it now costs to equip one member with leather shoes. Besides, one must remember how long they last—and what is more important—their style will always be the same. Of course, the idea has several indefatigable nemeses—the shoe manufacturers, the shoe dealers, the anti-noise crusaders and the boot-blacks.

Criminal Charge Dismissed.

The charge of defrauding the Seward hotel out of $182.45 against Albert T. Baker was dismissed by District Judge Jones Friday because the evidence showed that Baker had made no attempt to remove his baggage from the hotel or escape paying the bill. Judge Jones informed the hotel people that they should take civil, not criminal, means to collect the bill. Baker said he intended to pay when he could.

Do You Pay for It Afterward?

If You Do, Just Carry a Little Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet in Your Vest Pocket and a Big Meal Will Be Easily Laid Away.

Get away from the foreboding that every time you enjoy yourself heartily and eat a full meal, that you will pay for it afterward. There is no sense in your not enjoying every meal to the utmost. And you can do so without danger from a protesting stomach if you take the precaution always to have Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with you. Then if you overeat, eat something that disagrees with you as the most careful person will sometimes, one or two of these tablets will restore normal conditions in your stomach in a very few minutes.

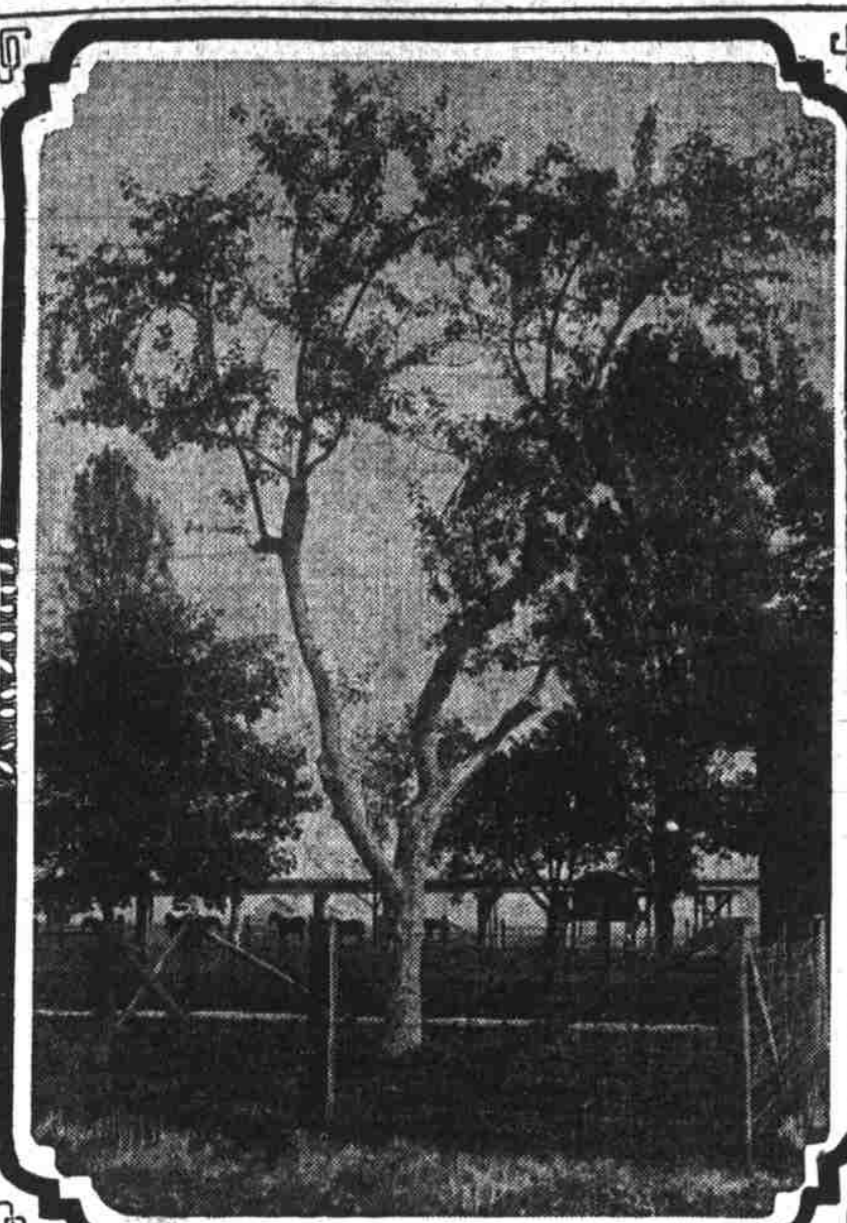

"I Am Going to Enjoy This Meal for I Have a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet in My Vest Pocket."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are nothing more than a natural and mild form of the natural secretions which the stomach employs in digesting food. And Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets merely step in when the stomach is too tired or too sluggish to perform its functions properly, and supply a sufficient quantity of these digestive ferments to digest completely all food, under either acid or alkaline conditions, in the stomach.

It has long been known that the various digestive ferments could be produced as perfectly in the laboratory as in the stomach, but Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the first attempt outside of certain hospitals to utilize these discoveries for the benefit of sufferers from indigestion and kindred complaints.

LEGEND OF THE APPLE TREE

By Glenn H. Ranck

Old apple tree at Vancouver Barracks which grew from seeds planted by Governor McLaughlin and his daughter in 1826. The tree was enclosed by a fence by Colonel McGunagle, commander of the First Infantry, United States army.

At a dinner party in honor of officials of the Hudson's Bay just before their departure from London for Fort Vancouver, a young lady playfully placed her apple seeds in the pocket of the gentleman sitting at her side, and requested him to plant them in the new country for which he was sailing. The seeds were carefully planted under the watchful eyes of Governor John McLoughlin. One of the seeds germinated and the sprout of a promising apple tree—the first apple tree on the Pacific Coast—soon made its appearance. After several years it bore one apple, which, when ripe, was picked by Governor McLoughlin and carefully cut into seventeen slices, and one precious slice of the luscious fruit was served to each person at the governor's table. The next year the tree bore twenty apples, and it is still living and bearing fruit. The first account of this historic tree was written by Mrs. Marcus Whitman, in her Journal, on her visit to Fort Vancouver in 1836, when the tree was about ten years old.

In Eighteen Hundred and Twenty-Six on London's famous strand, On the eve of their departure for Oregon's distant land, Hudson's Bay officials sat in festive banquet room, With wives and mothers dear, and sweethearts in their bloom.

They drank long life to ladies bright,
And to their lovers tall;
While glasses clinked and laughter light
Rang round that stately hall.
Fair Kate unto her lover true,
Then blushing did say:—
"These magic apple seeds take with you,
When at dawn you sail away;
And, that they may be a sign
That you will love me evermore,
Pray plant these true love seeds of mine
On far Columbia's fertile shore."

And so Love's apple seeds were carried to this far western slope;
And here they thrived and prospered beyond the lovers' fondest hope;
In far away Vancouver Fort, to Indians' wondering eyes,
A lordly apple tree soon flung green banners to the skies.

Its offspring now are scattered wide
O'er the broad Pacific coast;
Their luscious apples are our pride,
The orchard's queen, the poet's boast.
Their choice fruit they are lending,
With cool shade for you and me;
While thousands we are sending
To old London o'er the sea,
So now we bless the lady fair,
And bless her lover tall,
Who planted here with tender care,
Sweet apples for us all.

me to wear the head receiver during the ceremony," she said. Mick is a prominent stockman in northern Colorado and he is anxiously waiting for the telephone company to send an operator to relieve his wife.

A new electric flashlight pistol of French invention for scaring criminals not only displays a bright light when the trigger is pulled, but makes a noise like a real weapon as well.

ENLARGING HOLLADAY PARK IS DISCUSSED

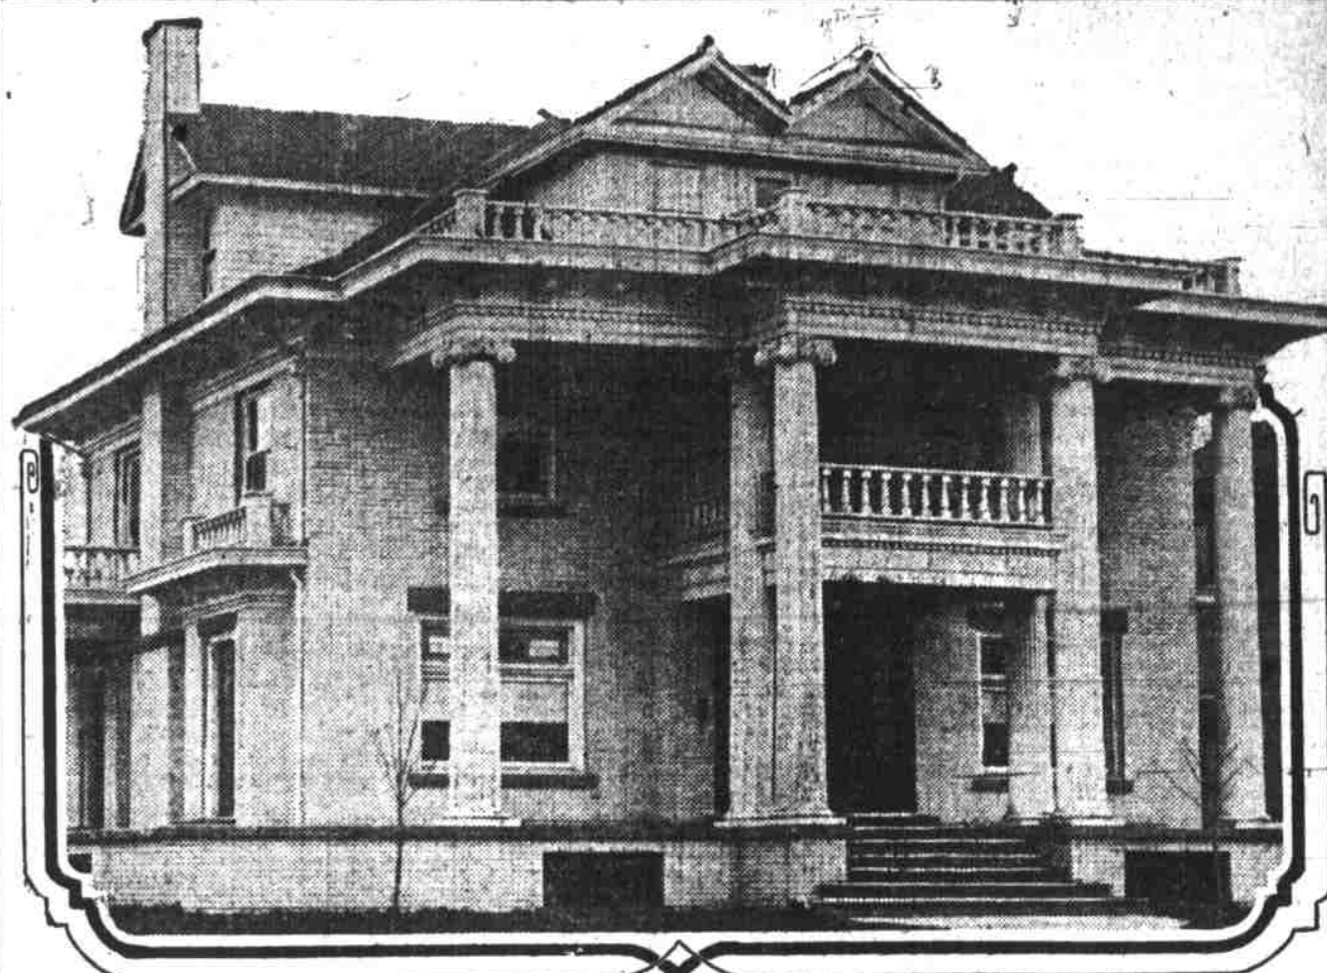

The enlargement of Holladay Park by its extension from East Thirteenth to East Eighteenth and from Multnomah street to the O. W. R. & N. right of way was advocated as a feasible plan for giving the northeastern quarter of the city adequate park facilities, at a meeting of the Greater Irvington club, held at the Irvington club house last Tuesday evening. A resolution was passed urging the city commission to investigate the cost of such an extension of the present park. At the same time the club went on record as opposing any plan for the enlargement of the park that would mean the vacation of Twelfth street or the sacrifice of any portion of the present park. However, the suggestion was made that the enlargement of the park by taking in blocks to the east and south would involve such an expenditure that the voters would probably be not willing to authorize an adequate bond issue for that purpose.

KING ALFONSO ARRESTED IN MADRID FOR SPEEDING

Madrid, Nov. 15.—King Alfonso's generous disposition and willingness to take a joke at his own expense has just been illustrated again in his treatment of two mounted policemen who arrested him for speeding.

The king was motoring from La Granja to this city a few days ago and was traveling at high speed to be here in time for a cabinet meeting when the two policemen held him up. The king told them who he was, but they failed to recognize him, at least well enough to satisfy their consciences. They insisted ed that he accompany them to the nearest police station.

Here the inspector apologized profusely to the monarch and lectured his subordinates severely. The next day Alfonso sent the men a box of cigars and asked that they both be raised in rank.

KAISER'S HUNTING FEAT CREATES LOUD PROTEST

Berlin, Nov. 15.—The keiser's latest hunting feat has caused a renewed outcry of inhumanity against present day sporting practices. His majesty shot 1180 pheasants in a day's gunning at Beneschau, Bohemia, the total bag of the party being 3300 birds. The emperor's companions included the Archduke Franz Ferdinand, the duchess of Hohenberg and others of prominence.

Why Her Oranges Were Red.

Paris, Nov. 15.—Mme. Depitre's oranges were noted for being of the richest, reddish, ripest color in all Paris. She has just been arrested for that same reason. The police learned that she had been in the habit of buying 4 cents' worth of mahogany stain daily and dissolving it in boiling water. Before starting out on her rounds in the morning she would dip her oranges in the liquid. The woman charged that most of the orange dealers she knew were guilty of the same trick.

WHISKERS EARN LIVING FOR OLD CHICAGO MAN

Lived as Artist's Model of Santa Claus Since the Year 1876.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—Whiskers and long hair have enabled Charles Rogers, of 22 East Kinzie street, to keep a remnant of his independence for a decade. They are now the remaining assets of the infirm old man. Giving him the appearance of a prophet, they earn "small change" for him now and then from artists who can use him as a model.

He has not had a haircut in 10 years, and he stopped shaving in 1876, the year he attended the Centennial in Philadelphia. But when he stopped shaving and let his hair grow long it was not for commercial gain. When he was young his hair was black and his beard was long and flowing and of the same ebony shade. "I let them grow because I thought whiskers indicated talent and belived thought came through the hair," he said. "It is well I let them grow, because they help me earn my living now. I am not proud of them now, because they are gray and thin. I only think of their earning power—which will help me to live. "I have no child to care for me. A nephew sends me $5 every three weeks. Sometimes people give me a castoff coat. I am 75 years old, and I don't know what I should do if it were not for my whiskers and hair."

TRASHY NOVELS LURE SOLDIERS IS CHARGE

Berlin, Nov. 15.—That the rush of young Germans to enter the French Foreign Legion in Northern Africa, which has been the cause of so much bad blood between Germany and France, is due to the one and two cent novels which picture the adventurous life in fascinating colors, is the statement made by Professor Dr. Karl Brunner. Professor Brunner claims that the desertion of German soldiers from their own colors to enter the Legion and the allurements of other Germans, is traceable in many instances directly to the reading of this trashy literature. The Reichstag which meets soon is to be asked to lay the axe to this flourishing industry, thereby removing one of the causes that make for friction between Germany and France.
