Members of the bar of Portland and the state were guests of the Oregon Bar association at a reception and entertainment at the University club Tuesday night.

Waller is 91 Today.

Monmouth, Or., Nov. 20.—T. Orville Waller, pioneer merchant of Monmouth, celebrated the ninety-first anniversary of his birth at his home in this city today.

John E. Keller is to make a tour of the west with a strong company and will give Shakespearean performances.

Grant Stewart is at work on a new piece called "A Little Water on the Way" which William Collier is to be the star.

"The Girl and the Peasant," a baseball play by Rida Johnson Young and Christy Mathewson, is to be on the road shortly.

Marlin Harvey, the famous English player, is to come to America next year for a tour of the United States and Canada.

Cyril Keightley, the English actor, has arrived in New York and is to appear in a play by Cosmo Hamilton, entitled, "The Duke's Son."

Jean Havex has discovered an Irish nightingale in a young woman named Nora Flynn. She is to appear in vaudeville in a repertoire of songs.

Several companies will play "Within the Law" in the English provinces, and A. H. Woods has arranged for its production in Germany and Austria.

When Maude Adams begins her New York engagement she will have two supporting companies. One is to enable her to give special performances of Barrie plays.

George L. Baker is looking for a "big man." He wants him for the part of the big foundry worker, which the college boys kidnaped Saturday night on their team in "The College Widow," Thanksgiving week. Silent Murphy is the character. All the man has to do is to act like a scared lumber jack. It has Woodstock W. C. T. U. Meets.

A mothers' meeting, under the auspices of the Woodstock W. C. T. U., was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Clara Ingham, 1185 Harold avenue. Mrs. F. McCourt, president, had charge of the program. Dr. Leon Stoy gave an instructive address on the physical care of the child. He advised against the use of alcohol and patent medicines or soothing syrups for the child. Rev. Mr. James, pastor of the Woodstock M. E. church, spoke on the special training of the child, which he said began with the parents.

Five vocal and instrumental selections were furnished. Delicious refreshments in which the apple played a prominent part were served. Sixteen infants were enrolled and decorated with the white ribbon, and four new members were secured. Mrs. McCourt is the efficient president of this prosperous union.

Many Circles Organized.

The organization of New Parent-Teacher associations is still occupying the time and attention of the women who are prominently identified with this movement, and with the educators of the city. Yesterday three new associations were formed with a full corps of officers and good memberships. At the Gregory Heights school, Mrs. C. W. Hayhurst made the principal address and assisted in the organization. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. W. Le Gray; vice president, Mrs. Robards; secretary, Mrs. F. A. Young; treasurer, Mrs. Fred Rose. A committee from the Glance school and the teachers of the Mount Tabor school gave an interesting entertainment of folk dances by the children, music and addresses yesterday, after which a new association was perfected with the following officers: President, Mrs. J. M. Short; vice president, Mrs. Mae F. Coffey; secretary, Mrs. E. H. Brown; treasurer, Mrs. Mary Perry.

Still another association was organized at the Thompson school. Assistant Superintendent Groun made an address, setting forth the value of a co-operative organization among parents and teachers. Mrs. F. S. Myers, the president of the Portland association, was also present and spoke briefly. Several excellent musical selections were given by the children. The following are the new officers chosen for this school: President, Mrs. James Rogers; vice president, Mrs. E. Welch; secretary, Mrs. Herzog; treasurer, Mrs. Winkler.

Among the newly organized circles doing exceptionally good and practical work is the Llewellyn association, where hot nicker lunches are to be served to the children. Mrs. Ida Allhands is principal of the school and Mrs. Le Compte is chairman of the committee in charge of the New lunch arrangement.

Men to Conduct Booth.

A holiday sale of fancy and useful articles is being planned by the Guild of St. David's church for the near future at the parish house, Twelfth and East Morrison streets. There will be all sorts of booths for the sale of useful and fancy articles and delectable table dainties. One of the novelties will be a booth to be presided over by the men of the parish, where only things of interest to men will be offered for sale.

At Woman's Club.

The psychology department of the Women's Club, under the leadership of Florence Crawford, will hold its regular meeting in the class room adjoining the regular clubrooms tomorrow at 2 o'clock. The lecture subject will be: "Mind; Its Meaning and Purpose."

The present is Sousa's twenty-second American season. Although Sousa's fortune is large, he will not retire from the concert platform so long as the popular demand for his band continues.

"Macbeth" has recently been acted in Japanese in Tokio for the first time. Eminent players took the chief parts in the play, and the English-speaking element in the audience was hardly less impressed by the excellent performance than the native.

A terrible fire at sea, showing panic-stricken passengers leaping overboard to escape from the ill-fated vessel is one of the features of a two reel Kalema drama which heads the bill opening today at the Columbia. Only three passengers escape, two men and a woman, and they are cast ashore on a lonely island, where they live in the primitive for five long years. There is a story of strong brotherly affection and self sacrifice running throughout the play.

Mrs. Fliske, "leader of the American stage," comes to the Helix theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, December 1, 2 and 3, in "The High Road."
