

POWER TRUST FRIENDS FAUL TO GET MAJORITY OF CONSERVATIONISTS

Delegates at Congress Cheer J. N. Teal's Name and Re- joice at Help Given.

(United Press Lined Wire.)
Washington, Nov. 20.—With Arkansas delegates to the National conservation congress in convention, and other delegates threatening to withdraw, the two factions, at loggerheads over the Pinchot policies, were awaiting today the action of the resolutions committee on the report of the water power committee. Anti-Pinchot recommendations were expected from the committee, but test votes indicated that a majority of the delegates sided with the former chief of the forestry department.

Today's sessions were devoted to papers on water power and forestry. The congress voted this afternoon to meet in San Francisco in 1915.

The congress showed yesterday that it thinks a good deal of what Joseph N. Teal of Portland says about things. It was charged by an excited delegate that Joseph N. Teal of Portland, one of the signers of the minority report on water power had not taken part in the discussion and framing of it.

There was a dramatic moment of silence in the big convention until Chairman Fisher called on Professor Swain, chairman of the water power committee. Professor Swain produced a letter from Mr. Teal, saying he was detained in Oregon, but was with the committee in anything it decided upon. Then Gifford Pinchot said he had a telegram from Mr. Teal later than the letter to Swain. He read it.

"I know you are right," Mr. Teal wired Pinchot, "and I will back you up."

At that the convention shouted and stormed with applause.

Forester Graves Speaks

Henry S. Graves, United States forester, spoke before the congress, dwelling particularly on the present policies of the government in respect to the activities of the forest service. Referring to the attitude of the present administration, as to the so-called states' rights policy, which has advocated state instead of federal control of forests, Mr. Graves says there is no thought of any change in the established system of federal ownership and control.

The nation has an important stake in forestry," said Graves. "Here, as in all other countries, the real development of forestry began when the government took up its practice. Even today some persons would leave the forests entirely to private owners, others insist that the public phases of forestry are altogether a state function and federal activities in this field are called for. Those who hold this view are usually either lukewarm or regarding the need for forest conservation or opposed to restricting private activities. Yet unrestricted private exploitation of forests is impossible if we are to continue to have the forests that the nation needs."

National Work Necessary

"National responsibility in forestry is perfectly clear cut. There need be no confusion with an equally clear cut responsibility of the states. And as to private forestry little of value has so far been done that has not been an outcome of public action through state or federal agencies, or both. The national work will always be the backbone of American forestry, not trenching on or interfering with state work or individual efforts but serving as a guarantee that national needs, which individual states can not meet will be provided for on a national scale."

Underlying the forestry problem are two fundamental considerations which should be emphasized and reiterated until thoroughly driven home. One is the public character of forestry. Both in the matter of a continued supply of forest products and in that of the conservation of water resources the public welfare is at stake. Secondly, the consistency of policy and permanence of ownership are essential to any successful attack on this great conservation problem."

Changes Not Sought

"I am frequently asked as I travel about the country whether I am going to make important changes in forestry policy. I was asked that very often in 1910, when I first took office. I am asked it often this year. My answer is that what we are at present doing is the best that the development of a permanent public enterprise with consistent and stable policies. The national forests were set aside in the recognition that the bulk of these lands should be handled permanently under public protection and control."

The Aim of the Present Administration

"The aim of the present administration is not to overturn, but to take every possible step to increase efficiency, and to advance, to adjust difficulties, and to organize as fast as possible the purposes for which the national forests were established. Secretary Houston recently said to me:

Local Welfare Is Aim

"Establish permanent boundaries. Classify your lands; segregate the agricultural land and fix right limits for what is needed as protective and productive forests. Develop policies based on full recognition of lasting public interests, and settled forestry practice fitted to the individual needs of each forest and locality. Study efficiency; make any changes necessary for this purpose, but make no changes that are not clearly called for."

STRICKEN AT WIFE'S GRAVE, AGED MAN DIES

James Charlton, Chairman of Transcontinental Passenger Ass'n., Passes Away.

James Charlton, chairman of the Transcontinental Passenger association, died at his home in Chicago yesterday, according to advices received by his son, A. D. Charlton, assistant general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific. Mr. Charlton was 81 years old, and until the death of his wife three weeks ago, was still vigorous.

It was at the grave of his wife that Mr. Charlton was stricken. His illness developed into paralysis and he was unable to shake it off because of his advanced years. Public funeral services will be held at Chicago tomorrow under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity and he will be buried at Hamilton, Ont., beside the body of his wife.

Mr. Charlton was born in England, where he began his railroad career. His first experience in North American railroading was in Canada, where he became chief clerk of the Great Western Railway. After three years there he became general passenger agent of the Northern Missouri and in 1871 was made general passenger and ticket agent of the Chicago & Alton.

He held that position until 1909, when he retired. In spite of his decision to keep out of railroading, he was chosen chairman of the passenger association in October of the same year and has held the position since. Besides A. D. Charlton of Portland, Mr. Charlton is survived by two other sons, George J. Charlton, passenger traffic manager of the Chicago & Alton, and John Charlton, who holds a position in the passenger department of the same road. Three daughters complete the surviving family.

Mr. Charlton was in Portland in 1909, when the passenger association convened in Seattle. A. D. Charlton returned only last week from Chicago, where he had been at the bedside of his father for several days.

'SHOP EARLY' REQUEST OF RETAIL GROCERS

The Retail Grocers' association asked yesterday the Portland early shopping both for Thanksgiving and Christmas, and of the city administration more energetic use of the sand sprinkler purchased some time ago.

"The retail clerks and drivers employed by grocery stores in Portland have during the past holiday seasons, worked until 9, 10 and 11 o'clock at night, for at least a week previous to Christmas," said Leo R. Herrick, secretary of the Retail Grocers' association, yesterday.

"Fifty per cent more groceries are purchased by the public during the holiday week than at any other time during the year. Additional help is not employed as in other mercantile establishments and the extra burden has to be borne by the regular force. Retail grocers throughout the city are co-operating in the early buying movement to the extent of trying to educate the consumer in the moral necessity of sending orders in early."

"Orders for Thanksgiving day, next Thursday, should be in by Tuesday or Wednesday at latest. The Retail Grocers' association would like to see sprinkled with sand, said Mr. Merrick. These are East Morrison and the Lower Albina hills.

"These streets are flushed at night. In the morning they are slippery, and if the night has been frosty, they are covered with a treacherous glaze. The sand sprinkler was only obtained after a hard struggle and it ought to be in use."

W. H. Daly, commissioner of public utilities, said yesterday that plans are being made for the use of the sand sprinkler, especially at the approaches to the bridges. He added that it is being found a considerable expense and trouble to flush clean, streets that have been sanded.

COL. EDDY'S CONDITION TAKES SERIOUS TURN

So serious became the condition of Colonel J. B. Eddy, ex-commissioner of the Southern Pacific railway, that a consultation was held at Good Samaritan hospital early today, with Dr. K. A. J. Mackenzie, Dr. George Wilson, Dr. A. J. Giesy and Dr. J. H. Walls in attendance. Dr. Giesy said that he had but out little hope for recovery, and it was stated at the hospital this afternoon that practically no change, either for better or worse, had been noted since morning.

Colonel Eddy has been associated with the Harriman system for more than 20 years. He has been in charge of the tax and right of way department of the Southern Pacific since the reorganization of this district two years ago.

In the public interest. Carry out your plans for the development and increasing use of the forests; but above all, make each forest work for community upbuilding and local as well as general welfare. We must always have in mind the men and women who are building up a new country and laying the foundations for prosperity, thriving communities. We must try to study their needs and see where and how the forests can help them. But we must not cease to guard effectively against the evils of private privilege and monopolistic control of resources now the property of the public."

Transportation Club Dance

The second monthly dance of the season given by the Portland Transportation club last night at the Mulholland hotel was attended by about 300. Harvey E. Lounsbury, general freight agent of the O.-W. ### AD CLUB TO INITIATE COUNTRYWIDE MOVE FOR DEEPER CHANNEL

Advertising Organizations All Over Nation Will Be Asked to Lend Aid.

With music, some serious business and a joke that was turned against the jokers, the Ad club enjoyed its program yesterday that its members declared was the best in the club's history.

A resolution presented by C. F. Berg, making the officers of the club a committee to forward the campaign to deepen the Columbia bar channel, was unanimously adopted. This committee will render permanent service. It will at once communicate with every other Ad club in the country, sitting before it the situation and asking it in turn to petition the support of senators and representatives of the state in which any given club may be. As there are Ad clubs in every important city in the United States, the extent of the movement planned can be easily understood.

Joke Turned on Raymond

Two weeks ago the club had a debate on whether the United States should intervene in Mexico. At that time fully 90 per cent of the men present attested by standing vote their disposition to go to Mexico and fight if the call came. On Tuesday most of the club men had heard the international peace advocate, R. W. Raymond came before the club yesterday reminding the club men of their vote to go to Mexico, and saying that he hated, by reminding them of this vote, to introduce an element of discord to the doctrine of international peace.

"But," he continued, with absolute seriousness, "I ask, did we mean it when we said we would defend the honor of this nation in Mexico?"

"The usual and expected answer was the recent method of voting 'Aye' in the luncheon clubs—a brazen lunged, unanimous 'Ab-so-lute-ly.' Raymond nearly sank through the floor when after a miserable pause there came a stentorian and unhesitant 'No.'"

No Candidates for Enlistment

Raymond persisted. He called for a standing vote. Dr. C. W. Cornelius rose. Then there filed with impressive dignity into the room recruiting officers both of the army and navy. Dr. Cornelius kept his feet, saying he certainly would go to Mexico, but he would have to have a little time to decide whether in the army or the navy. After the recruiting officers had eaten their lunch they departed, leaving enlistments.

The program proper was devoted to music. It was ladies' day and there were many present. Moses Christensen, president of the Symphony orchestra, presided. His son, Victor Christensen, played a violin. Solos were rendered by Rose Bloch Bauer, Virginia S. Hutchinson and M. L. Bowman. Gordon Solo gave a piano solo. Then came the native Hawaiian singers, and the climax of the program was the sextet from "Lucia" sung by the Ad club quartet and Mrs. Bauer and Mrs. Hutchinson.

BONUS PLAN FOR NEW BOAT LINE IS INDORSED

Representing the Rotary club, J. C. English and Dwight Edwards met with the trustees of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. The Chamber of Commerce indorsed the plan of Captain Richard Chilcott to place in Portland a bonus of $100,000 in 1000 subscriptions as a means of attracting $1,000,000 outside money to be invested in a Portland-built, Portland controlled, Portland-New York steamship line.

The Rotary club has taken similar action and the club's representatives asked yesterday if the Chamber of Commerce would present it if the Rotary club joined with it in the promotion of the steamship line. They were told by President A. H. Averill and others of the Chamber of Commerce that the chamber stands unqualifiedly back of its indorsement of the steamship line as proposed by Captain Chilcott, and that help in forwarding the campaign in behalf of the line would be welcomed.

The Rotary club proposes to seek the cooperation of other business organizations and secure for Captain Chilcott's plan a material support that will result in getting the bonus and then the investment of capital. Under the terms of the subscriptions, five vessels are to be built, and a subscription of $100 will be paid in five $200 installments, one as each vessel is launched.

The Slim Woman Is Winning

The day of the slim woman's triumph has arrived. "The thinner one is the more stylish," say the dressmakers. This would have been sad news for the fat woman a year ago. She would have had to try dieting or exercise. Nowadays, however, the woman who is too fat for the styles goes to a druggist and gets a case of Marmora's Prescription Tablets, one of which she takes after each meal and at bedtime, and so reduces her superfluous flesh quickly. These tablets, being made in accordance with the famous prescription, are perfectly harmless, and they are, also, the most economical preparation a person can buy, for they cost only 15 cents a box, but should yours be sold out, you can easily obtain a case by sending to the makers, the Marmora Company, Farmer Building, Detroit, Mich.

GIRLS' FOOTBALL TEAM WILL BE BIG FEATURE IN SCHOOL VAUDEVILLE

Students to Give Exhibition at Washington High; Other Numbers on Program.

The graduating class of the Washington high school claim the distinction of having the only girls' football team in the land. Those who attend the vaudeville staged by the student body of Washington high school in the school auditorium Friday night, will see an exhibition of the great American game that would warm the hearts of Gilmour Doble or Yost of Michigan.

This number is one of the headline acts of the program on which the students have worked faithfully for the past three weeks. Anabelle Wagstaff will sing an interesting "Goblin Song," and will be supported by a chorus of "goblins."

Another act which is bound to "score" is that presented by Merle Moore and Roland Boscow, who perform a number of seemingly impossible feats by magic. These performers are both licensed members of the Brotherhood of Magicians, and have already received offers for a three months' tour next summer. This act was first presented about a year ago at the Lincoln high school, where Boscow was at that time a student.

Frances Stiles will call a screamingly funny little skit called "Local Colorings," which will be of the conditions within the school. She will be aided by the school orchestra. Edna Lukke and Roberta Killam will present some song and chatter. William Edris will give impersonations of several notables whose faces are familiar to theatre-goers.

The girls' chorus, 30 strong, will open the program with a selection from one of the great masters, while the Boys' Glee club, which is under the direction of W. H. Boyer, will close the bill by singing Eulhard's "Winter Song." The school orchestra will entertain the audience before the rise of the curtain and will also furnish the music for several of the acts. Misses Schlotz and Wold, of the school faculty, are doing the coaching. William Edris is the stage director; M. Russell Ballard is the business manager, and Ed Kilprie is stage director. All taking part are students of Washington high.

LOCAL HUNTERS WILL JOIN BIG RABBIT DRIVE

Many Portland hunters are planning to join in the big rabbit drive at Madras next Sunday, when the people of that region will have numerous amusement features in addition to the slaughter of "jacks." Automobiles will convey the visitors from town to the scene of the drive several miles in the country. The first drive will take place in the morning and after a country dinner, served in the open, the second part of the drive will begin. Laurence B. Hickman of the traffic department of the North Bank and Oregon Trunk, is rounding up the Portland sportsmen and says he has advice from the gun clubs of The Dalles and Hood River of prospective large delegations.

By the terms of a will signed April 30, 1884, Henry Everding, the commission merchant who died last Saturday at the age of 80 years, left all his property to his wife and only heir, Mrs. Therese Everding. The estate, both real and personal, is estimated to be worth $20,000, according to Mrs. Everding's petition for the probate of the will. Therese Harding was appointed administrator of the estate on petition of Mrs. Everding, because of her familiarity with the affairs of the estate. John Canin, an attorney who signed the will as a witness, is now dead. H. E. Nicholas, an attorney, was the other witness.
