

YALE AND HARVARD IN FINAL REST BEFORE TOMORROW'S BATTLE

Crimson Is Favorite for Big Splash of Season Against Old Rival of Gridiron

Boston, Nov. 21.—The Harvard varsity football eleven rested today at the Vesper Country club, near Lowell, for tomorrow's contest with Yale. Only two light signal drills were scheduled for this afternoon. Reports received here stated that several shifts in Harvard's lineup were probable. Hitchcock's ankle was still weak today, and he may be replaced by Turnbull. O'Brien's knee is in bad shape, and it is not yet certain whether he will be able to get into the game.

The Yale team rested at Auburndale. Vaudeville artists were engaged to go there this afternoon and entertain the players to keep their minds off tomorrow's game.

Odds stood at 10 to 7 here this afternoon, with Harvard on the long end. Harvard graduates placed $10,000 with brokers in New York to be placed at those odds, but there were no takers. The Yale backers asked for 10 to 6, but even at that price there was but little money in sight.

Biggest Game of Year.
Everything was poised today for the big splash in football for this year. Yale or Harvard may be hoisted and abused by other teams during the season, but when they are turned loose on each other things are different. A new fire springs up where spirits lagged before, and the team that wins always comes out with a thorough understanding of what it means to be in a fight.

Yale is usually represented as a fierce looking bull dog, with overhanging jaw. But the team this year in the early games qualified nearer the sky-terrier class. Way back in this terror's breeding, however, will be found a strain of the ancient bull dog which the New Haven rooters expect to cling on to the gene of John Harvard to the limit. It might be added, just for the sake of argument, however, that at Cambridge this expectation is regarded as containing more bull than dog.

Crimson Picked to Win.

Harvard is picked to win, and should win Saturday. If the Crimson lives up to expectations, Captain Storer's team will turn the trick of having defeated Yale in two successive years for the first time in history. Harvard came out on top last year by a score of 20 to 0, and the tacking on of another victory without a break will establish a precedent. They are not very strong for breaking precedents in the gridiron section of the country where "Yale" and "Harvard" are cultivated. But every once in a while a Harvard man grows up in such a manner that in time it is almost forgotten where he got his pronunciation, and the stout eleven representing the Crimson may do some pre-empting. At all events, everyone in Cambridge, from the drooping-eyed sophomore, whose mention of Harvard is as devoid of "Ra" as Mexico is of peace, to the oldest old grad is getting down his money on the Crimson.

In this coming conflict Yale has two big things against her and one in her favor. Against Yale is arrayed Brickley, Harvard's great fullback, and the Blue's weakness. Precedent alone stands in her favor. History tells us that a few wealthy wallops, such as Charles Brickley is capable of dealing, usually puts precedent talk on the blink. No mention of Harvard is complete without Brickley, or possibly it should be put the other way, as it is necessary in making yourself clear to let it be known just where this young man holds forth. It was a narrow squeak for the Crimson when they met Princeton. Brickley's toe alone brought the decision. He is undoubtedly the greatest drop kicker ever developed in the country. He shoots them over with unerring aim from the 35 or 50 yard line without an effort. As an open field runner he has few equals. His team mate, Eddie Mahan, playing halfback, probably can come closer to Brickley than any other man in this department. Both twist, turn and wiggle through a broken field, and it takes a hard, sure tackle to bring them down.

Harvard Is Not Greatest.
Before the Princeton game Harvard was credited with having the greatest backfield and greatest line in the country. This proved to be largely a myth. Princeton outrushed Harvard, and Streit, the Tiger fullback, ripped through the line for big gains. The backfield is great only when Mahan or Brickley are in line. Harvard's reliable halfback and an excellent punter, but many are in line. Bradlee showed himself to be nothing more than an average back, Captain Storer is a great end, but other members of the team showed little to distinguish them from the average good varsity player of the day.

Yale has plowed along in a bad ditch throughout the season. Injuries have kept Blue regulars out of the lineup, and the team sent against Harvard will be shy five of the best men in the Yale camp. Cornish, the best quarterback developed, was put out with a broken shoulder and others have been in and out on the hospital list. When Colgate defeated Yale the Blue reached the lowest ebb of the year. Since then the work was to build for Princeton and Harvard, and the results of this work will be shown Saturday. Harvard has won but six games from Yale since the two universities started playing football in 1875.

WINDNAGLE IN COLLEGE X-COUNTRY TOMORROW
Vere Windnagle, the Portland distance runner, will enter the Cornell intra-college run tomorrow instead of the intercollegiate cross-country run at New York city. In a recent "blind" handicap race, Windnagle won first place, covering 4 1/2 miles in 23 minutes and 50 seconds. Windnagle's feat, which gave him considerable trouble last year, are bothering him again, but he expects to remedy the trouble before long.

Football Man Is Dead.
San Francisco, Nov. 21.—Found unconscious in the street November 19, "Doc" David Huddlestone, prominent football player, died of a fractured skull without ever recovering enough to tell how he was hurt.

Denver Fight Is Postponed.
Denver, Nov. 21.—The scheduled 15 round fight between Jimmy Fox of San Francisco and Benny Chavez of Trinidad was postponed today from tonight until December 1.

S. P. Juniors Want Games.
The South Portland Juniors have a few open dates. They would like to meet any 120 or 125 pound team in the city. Games may be arranged by calling Main 3660 between 12 and 1 o'clock and asking for Friedman. A game with the Arleta Juniors is preferred.

Walla Walla at Pendleton.
Walla Walla, Wash., Nov. 21.—The Walla Walla high school football team left at 7 o'clock this morning for Pendleton, where a battle is scheduled for this afternoon with the Pendleton high team.

Doty Defeats Raymond.
Centuria, Wash., Nov. 21.—In one of the fastest games ever played on the Doty floor, the Doty Y. M. C. A. five defeated the Raymond Eagles Wednesday night by a score of 35 to 20.

Britton to Fight McFarland.
Milwaukee, Nov. 21.—Jack Britton and Packey McFarland were matched today to box ten rounds here on December 8. It will be a no-decision contest.

For the third successive time the University of Maine eleven has won the Maine state championship, by defeating Colby, Bowdoin and Bates.

REED COLLEGE WILL OPEN NEW GYM WITH EXERCISES TONIGHT

Athletic Potpourri Is Arranged to Entertain Visitors to New Physical Culture Building.

The formal opening of the new gymnasium at Reed college will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. Practically the entire student body will participate in the program, which has been arranged by Physical Director Charles S. Rolfe. All the events will be athletic in character and will extend from calisthenics to games. The men are to give exhibitions of boxing, wrestling and running, while the women will do some fancy dancing. The women's teams of football cheerleaders, and the freshmen and sophomore classes will clash in the first basketball game of the season.

One of the most interesting features of the program is bound to be the pugilistic contest between Stephenson Smith, the peppery 110 pound champion of the sophomores, and Clyde Beals, who is the midge of the freshmen. The rivalry between these two is keen. The odds are about even. Smith has had experience in the ring while Beals has the tremendous advantage of a deep bass voice. His admirers aver that his roars of anger will frighten the sophomore mitt wielder off the canvas. The winner will be declared the windowweight champion of the college.

Led by Miss Mary Brownlee and Miss Annie Jordan Harrison, the women will open the program with a dancing drill which will include a number of movements of the folk and fancy dance type.

Women to Play Basketball.
Following the dancing the basketball game will occupy the floor. The contest is certain to be fast and closely contested as the women have been practicing faithfully for several weeks. Margaret Walton is the captain of the sophomore team.

Lovers of wrestling are anticipating the best match in the history of the college in the bout between Edger Piper and Al Shagren. The two are of an exactly opposite build, Piper being put together along vertical lines, while Shagren has more of the horizontal characteristics. Shagren holds the advantage in weight, he weighs at 185, while Piper tips the scale close to 170. Piper has had far more experience and training and this will stand him in especially good stead as Shagren is not an old man at the game. Shagren, however, is undoubtedly light on his feet for a man of his pounds and his power and quickness will make Piper exert himself to the limit before he goes down. All the men of the college are expected to take part in the mass run, which is to be led by David Bruce and Edwin Zabel. After the conclusion of the program the remainder of the evening will be spent in dancing.

Students Already in Gym.
The gymnasium has already been put into use by the students. It is a well-built, frame structure, designed along the most modern lines. The main floor is 58x78 feet and has a very high ceiling, so that any kind of indoor games can be played. The gallery will seat about 350 persons. It affords a view not only of the main floor but of the hand-ball and squash courts. There are a splendidly equipped special exercise room. The physical director is provided with an office and for him and his assistants. In connection with the shower and locker rooms the drying rooms furnish a place where wet and muddy clothing can be cleaned the dried. Heat and hot water are supplied by the central heating plant.

Care has been taken that plenty of fresh air and light shall not be wanting. Both walls at either end of the main floor are almost entirely of glass and it is possible to make the gymnasium practically an open roof or rather a covered open space. The students are all enthusiastic about the new gymnasium and the Athletic council is busy planning basketball and handball schedules for the season preceding the Christmas vacation. Basketball practice has already begun. In fact, the men were working out before the carpenters had finished the floor. Class teams are being organized both among the men and the women. In addition it is possible that each class will have a second team.

The faculty is planning to put a fast team in the race and judging from the past action of the faculty in other sports, the professors will make the students play real basketball before they give up the fight for the championship.

During the winter Mr. Botsford is planning to have a series of "open houses" which will be in the nature of exhibitions.

Bob McAllister to Fight Again.
New York, Nov. 21.—Bob McAllister, the California middleweight, will be seen for the first time here December 3, when he is scheduled to meet Young Mike Donovan in a ten round contest. McAllister is training at Dal Hawkins' quarters.

DOES BUGHOUSE YAWN FOR THIS TRIO OF BASEBALL FANATICS?

Centuria, Wash., Nov. 21.—Wednesday morning Frank A. Martin of Centuria, George Cartier of South Bend and H. W. McPhail of Raymond went to Tacoma to see the game between the White Sox and Giants. There was a drizzling rain in Tacoma and the game was called off. Undaunted, the three ardent fans followed the teams to Seattle, where they were scheduled to play in the afternoon, but there again the weather man thwarted them and the game was canceled.

Still determined, the three ardent followers of the national pastime, went on to Vancouver with the ball players, but there they found that no game had been scheduled, as the team barely had time to catch the boat for the orient. Goaded to a point of desperation and showering maledictions upon the heads of the weather man and his entire family, the trio of fans still swore that they would see a ball game before they returned home, and accordingly secured passage for the Philippines on the same boat with the ball players.
