

CHAMPION STEER IS EXPECTED TO BRING WEST'S RECORD PRICE

Durham Yearling Will Be Auctioned at Livestock Show Tomorrow.

Benefactor, grand champion steer of the fat cattle division, which won the first prize for that division, will be sold at public auction tomorrow at the livestock show in the stockyards, and it is believed he will bring the highest price ever paid in the west for beef. At the national show, Chicago, $1,500 a pound was asked, while at the Portland show last year it was $1,200, and is expected to go better than that tomorrow. Benefactor is a Durham between 1 and 2 years old, and is owned by the Idaho State college.

J. P. Adams, of Denver, and one of the judges at the National Livestock show, Chicago, said that the entries this morning were the best collection of 2-year-olds he had ever seen, and therefore he did not feel competent to judge them by himself. He called on Frank Brown, Carleton, Or., and John Tomson, Dover, Kan., to assist him in the judging.

Judges Have Reputation.

"I am taking all the credit for the good weather," said O. M. Plummer, general manager of the Pacific International Live Stock Exposition, as he surveyed the large crowd in attendance at the show. "The breeders and feeders of the Northwest are entitled to great credit for the excellent show being put up here. Four of the judges are men of national reputation and every one of them claims that the show is equal in proportion to its size to the International show at Chicago, and there is no question but that it would be in the money there."

J. W. Clise, with his Ayrshires, and the Monroe company of Spokane, with Holsteins, have creditable herds of dairy cows at the show. In the Jersey entries appear the heifer that won the grand championship at the Chicago dairy show, entered by J. B. Stump & Sons of Mountville, Or. A. B. Cook of Helena, Mont., has an exhibit of fancy Herefords. He never before has exhibited at a Portland show but his animals have been taking numerous prizes at recent shows elsewhere.

Shorthorns Are Prominent.

Shorthorn entries of A. G. Dunn of Wapato, Wash.; W. O. Minor of Heppner, Or., and Frank Brown of Carleton, Or., are prominent on display. Child, Anceny & Summers of Bozeman, Mont., and Alex Chalmers of Forest Grove, Or., likewise have fine animals of that breed. Numerous entries in the swine and sheep classes are to be judged later in the week and plenty of different breeds of all classes are to be found and are attracting attention from the local and out of town visitors.

EAT LESS MEAT AND TAKE SALTS IF KIDNEYS ACHE OR BACK HURTS

Says, Bladder Irritation or Rheumatism means Kidneys aren't straining out uric acid

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, also you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate of soda, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.—Adv.

SELECTION OF BRIDGE APPROACH AT ISSUE

The selection of an approach from the Oregon side to the new interstate bridge for the construction of which bonds have been voted, will be still further complicated by a petition signed by 1000 voters asking that the approach run along Vancouver avenue. It is pointed out in the petition that this route is the most advantageous for the reason that it is a mile shorter than either the Union avenue or Patton avenue routes and above all that it will require no right of way proceedings. The old government road to Vancouver formerly ran along Vancouver avenue and the right of way to the river was transferred to the county by the government some years ago. Another advantage pointed out is that there will be less fill in making a roadway along the route than on other routes suggested. The petition is in charge of Woerdts and Haas, attorneys.

"Ride Up and Save $5"

This Has Been My Slogan Since I Started My

Upstairs Men's Clothing Store

But hundreds of satisfied repeat customers have assured me that the actual saving has been $10.

(This I have always known, but my policy is to give even more than I promise.)

Hereafter I'm going to be less modest and boldly assert that you can "RIDE UP AND SAVE $10" on hundreds of the best $25 Suits, Overcoats and Raincoats this city ever saw.

W. DALY QUESTIONS AUTHORITY OF STATE RAILWAY COMMISSION

Question Is Whether Fares of United Railways May Be Regulated by Board.

Salem, Or., Dec. 9.—Direct challenge to the authority of the railroad commission in the regulation of fares on the United Railways, so far as any change might be made affecting the rate fixed by the franchise granted to that company by the city of Portland, is contained in an answer filed by the city to the recent application of the United Railways for authority to increase its fares.

The answer, which is signed by Will H. Daly as commissioner of public utilities of the city, asserts that the state public utility act, under which the railroad commission is given authority to regulate rates, is unconstitutional, illegal and void, "so far as it attempts to apply to the contractual relations between the United Railways and the city of Portland."

"Neither the legislative assembly nor the railroad commission has power or authority to permit or authorize the United Railways to violate the terms of its said contract," the answer continues, "or to charge a higher rate for passenger service within the corporate limits of said city than five cents."

The case will be set for hearing before the railroad commission later. It is expected that Linnton and the people between Linnton and Portland will protest increase of rates on that part of the line, and the main fight will be centered there.

COL. GARLAND DENIES CHARGES OF EMPLOYEES

Colonel William H. Garland denies emphatically that his newspaper, the Morning Citizen, which was to have made its initial appearance December 1, has been held up through any financial arrangements which he has been seeking to make with his employees. He repudiates the reports that he compelled his employees to loan him money or that he offered a receipt for a check as security.

Saying that the Citizen will soon be issued, he says of the reports of his earlier venture: "I never demanded of anyone in connection with the Morning Citizen the investment nor the loan of money. I never employed nine men; I never employed a linotype operator. I never received advances from all his employees. I never said or agreed to present a receipt for the check as evidence of good faith. One gentleman of his own accord offered me a loan of $100 and holds all he asked for it, viz., my note, which will be paid promptly at maturity. I feel sure the printer I employed will not say he advanced me money or that I asked him to do so; no advertising agent will say he advanced me money."

"There are due from small accounts on the transaction, rendered to me December 2 and 3, and they will be paid in a few days."

"I neither received nor asked any money of the pressman; he worked as far as I can ascertain, one and a half days for me, and rendered a verbal bill, December 1, for $77 for two weeks' services, the last one I never saw him all week."

Ladies Look Higher Prices Are Lower

This should prove especially interesting to economical girls and women. When Ground Floor Stores, with their High Rents and proportionately high running expenses, can afford to sell a $40.00 garment for $25.00, isn't it reasonable to suppose that, with our Low Rent and expenses upstairs, we can sell that same value for $20.00? It is. We do, and will even do better than that for this week, so be on hand early to profit by our actual loss.
