By Charence H. Sprague.

On February 2, 1914, the great world-wide movement, known as Chris. tian Endeavor, will be 33 years old. The past year witnessed the greatest poung people's convention ever held, in Los Angeles, last July." This convention was remarkable for many In it were gathered 10,001 things. registered delegates from all parts of the world, representing a mighty force of nearly 5,000,000 of members. Another feature was that of the launch ing of the nation-wide temperance work under the leadership of Rev. Daniel A. Poling of Portland. As national superintendent of temperance and good citizenship, work for the United Society of Christian Endeavor.

The outstanding feature of the six days' gathering was the message of the president of the United Society, Rev. Francis E. Clark of Boston, often called "Father Endeavor" Clark He brought to the convention a review of the past three decades and then, with his seemingly prophetic power, turned his audience for a look toward the future. And in this looking forward Dr. Clark drew for all the Endeavorers of the world the vision that is to mean much to the life and effective the society, . Among othe things of his address there appeared preeminently his proposal for the obanniversary of the founding of Chrisclency Week." Step by step he out! lined the definite plan of work to be followed out. The thoughtful look into the future, the intense personality of their leader, the wonderful vision of what a week such as outlined would do for the individual and the society, all blended together to make the receiving of Dr. Clark's suggestion unanimous, and in the last motomorrow evening in the Laurelwood ments of the convention, when the res- M.
