

COMMISSION FORM RECALL IS INDORSED

Public Meeting Held at Library; J. O. Stearns Jr., Is Chairman.

At a public meeting held at the Central Library last night under the auspices of a self-appointed "Taxpayers' Committee on Recall," a resolution was passed indorsing the recall of the commission form of government.

The meeting was called primarily to discuss the recall of Mayor Albee and a motion to that effect was first proposed. After an extensive discussion relative to the ethics of the recall and criticism of the commission form of government as administered in Portland, the motion was amended to read: "Application to the entire commission and not to any individual member. The chief criticism made was that of extravagance."

The meeting was presided over by Joseph O. Stearns Jr., chairman of the committee, which is composed of Mr. Stearns, Robert G. Duncan and George W. Gordon.

It had been previously announced that other members of the committee were Dr. Cora Talbot, Emmett Callahan and F. L. Olson. These, however, have asserted that the announcement was without their authority.

"The chief purpose of the meeting," said Chairman Stearns, "was to clear the atmosphere of the dust of recall that has blown up."

SUPPORT OF BILL FOR BIG DREDGE NEEDED AT ONCE

dredge until the bill is passed, and to go wherever his services can be most effectively used.

Plan Declared Exactly Right.

Joseph N. Teal, the leading authority on transportation in the northwest, believes President Averill's plan is exactly right. "The dredger is not only desirable but absolutely necessary, and aggressive action in securing the appropriation is the proper thing," he said today.

"The issue is of paramount importance and it is not now or never," asserted Frank H. Ransom, of the Eastern & Western Lumber company. "Deeper water on the bar and an effective policy of channel improvement means everything to our commerce now," said O. M. Clark, president of the Oregon exposition commission. "Great steamship lines are now making up their schedules for admission upon the opening of the Panama canal. They will call at the deep water ports of the coast and those ports that are active in channel improvement. Portland must get in this list now or forever stay out."

"President Averill is acting along the right lines," said Walter F. Burdell. "I would like to see such an organization as he outlined accomplished. I think a focal organization can co-operate effectively with the Ports of Columbia committee and aid in vitalizing the entire movement. Certainly nothing before has such importance as deepening the channel over the bar at the mouth of the river."

Deep Channel Biggest Thing.

"I consider that plans have been made which solve the problem of dock construction and river improvement," said Frederick W. Mulkey, president of the public dock commission. "The deepening of the bar channel is the biggest thing we have before us."

"I would judge from my recent trip to California," said George B. Hegard, engineer of the public dock commission, "that if we fail to deepen the bar and improve the river channel we will not get desirable shipping here. The largest ships will not be sent here, but smaller vessels and cargoes will be transhipped."

"We will announce at our meeting tomorrow the creation of a trade and commerce extension department which will have full authority of the club to cooperate definitely and helpfully in respect to this movement," said Charles F. Berg, president of the Portland Ad club.

"Our club has had this matter under consideration for three months and we will have the support of every member in cooperating with the Chamber of Commerce in the plan outlined," said Jacob Kansler, president-elect of the Progressive Business Men's club.

Ready Board to Cooperate.

"The ready board will absolutely cooperate to a man in any way possible," declared R. D. Vincent, president of the ready board.

Said S. M. Meers, president of the Port of Portland commission: "I am in favor of building a dredge if we can have one adapted to the bar. I am not in favor of makeshifts, or accepting anything we can get. We want the best dredger obtainable."

P. S. Myers, postmaster of Portland, holds very positive views on the subject. "Portland must organize immediately and prepare the port for the commerce of the world, not only to deepen the bar and improve the river channel, but to secure lines of ships and induce all local shippers to patronize them."

Demand Is Urgent.

"It is a thing we have to see through," said John C. Ainsworth, president of the United States National bank, in discussing President Averill's plan of organization. "There is no argument any longer about the necessity of placing a great dredger on the bar. The experience of hundreds of other world ports shows that dredging is thoroughly practical and we cannot escape the conclusion that dredging is essential here."

"It is only through organized effort that we accomplish anything," declared Franklin T. Griffith, president of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company. "The axiom applies better to the condition at the mouth of the river than any other I know."

L. C. Gilman, president of the Hill lines in Oregon, made his first expression of attitude toward the work at the mouth of the river, when he said: "I am desirous of obtaining all possible information of giving every support to the movement."

Pastor Adds Indorsement.

Dr. John H. Boyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, is a minister who believes that ministers should be useful in commercial as well as spiritual welfare. He said:

"From the Straits of San Juan to the Golden Gate, a sea front flanked by a territory of infinite resources, there is no harbor—unless it be the Columbia river. Great cities must grow up to care for that immeasurable commerce of the future between our coast and the world beyond. The Columbia river is a potential harbor of the first order. Portland may become a vast, populous, wealthy port—if we see the vision and act. The most evident and insistent opportunity, the most compelling obligation resting upon our entire people at this hour is to see to it that from city wharf to Pacific blue there is a channel deep enough to float the merchant ships of the world."

Wilbur E. Coman, vice president and general manager of the Northwestern Electric company, has been giving special study to the subject of trade extension and commercial development.

"The whole future of the Columbia river basin and the Columbia river as a port depends on the depth of water on the bar," he said forcibly.

"The Rotary club will be committed with all its strength to the support of the effort proposed by President Averill of the Chamber of Commerce," said President C. V. Cooper of the Rotary club. "I will announce today the appointment of a committee to represent the club in forwarding this effort in a way commensurate with its importance."

Alleged Forger Shoots Himself.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 13.—With officers knocking at his door to arrest him on a charge of forging pay checks, Corporal Joseph Kindsmueller, a clerk in the marine corps paymaster's office, shot and killed himself.

picked them up as fast as they were reported.

When the men besieged the police station at noon, Chief Schmedek "roasted" them for not being willing to get out and work for their board and clothes until they could get something better to do. Leaders in the crowd retorted that men would be foolish to do such a thing.

Of the 40 given work at the state institutions yesterday through the efforts of Governor West, 10 left their work at noon. These 10 were given work at the institution for feeble minded. At noon they inquired about their sleeping quarters, and objected to being housed in a barn where they said the roof leaked, the floor was damp and the windows were out.

The dissatisfaction was aroused and fostered by a leader of the 10 who is said to have persuaded the others to quit.

Those at the other institutions remained on their work, except the gang of 10 sent to the state fair grounds which was given only one day's work.

They worked six hours yesterday, were paid last night, and returned to the institution this morning to finish the day by working two more hours.

Board May Meet.

It is expected that a meeting of the state board of control will be held this afternoon, when arrangements likely will be made to employ, at grubbing stumps and clearing land, all who are needy and actually need assistance. The matter was discussed at a board meeting yesterday afternoon, but no action was taken.

The plan discussed was to house the men in militia tents and allow them to work for their board and a small wage, perhaps 50 cents a day, the idea being to tide the men over until they can get something better to do, but not to offer an inducement for them to come here. Only those who worked would be allowed to eat.

Yesterday afternoon, when the army was requested to vacate the basement of the First Christian church, where the men were housed Sunday night, they marched to the state house and he got out of bed to investigate, and clad only in his night dress started for the dining room. He was immediately seized by two men and as he offered violent resistance the struggle between the three men was spread over almost the entire lower part of the bungalow. Haskins fought desperately, the whole melee being centered on the possession of a revolver. At one time Haskins had it and then once more it was wrenched from him by the burglars. While still in the hands of one of his opponents the gun was discharged, fortunately at a time when Haskins, clinging tenaciously to the pistol, had it pushed to one side so that the bullet did not strike a vital spot.

Struck by the bullet Haskins fell to the floor and the burglars ran, one of them hitting the injured man with a chair as he fled. During the course of the scuffle, a stove in the dining room was overturned, fire starting near the woodstove. The blaze spread to the roof of the bungalow.

Haskins was able to call upon neighbors for help, who in turn called out the St. Johns fire department. After being attended by Dr. Joseph McChesney, Haskins was taken to the hospital, the ambulance of the ambulance service company. The fire did about $1000 damage, principally to the roof of the house.

Haskins, who is a stock buyer, describes one of his assailants as being tall, and the other short, the latter wearing a heavy mustache. It is thought the burglars made their way to Portland as the ambulance driver saw two men, answering their description, making toward the city as the ambulance rushed toward St. Johns in answer to the call. The case is being investigated by Chief of Police Allen of St. Johns, who has also communicated with the Portland police department.

occupied the rotunda for several hours while Rimer conferred with the governor and other state officials. The governor told him he had done all he could do for them.

BROADWAY-EAST 28TH ROUTE IS INDORSED

Residents Want Carline Extended Straight Through Instead of Turning.

Members of the Thirty-third Street Improvement club who met at the home of Dr. W. O. Spencer, 983 Tillamook street, last night went on record as favoring the plan to extend the cross-town carline to join Broadway at Twenty-eighth street and then to Twenty-fourth street, instead of the plan that has been suggested to run the line down Halsey street.

As a result of the meeting last night a committee of 12 was named to call on Commissioner Daly in reference to the cross-town line and this morning it was announced that the final reading of ordinance providing for the line would come up in the city council a week from tomorrow.

The organization, which has for its purpose the securing of better car service for the district east of Irvington is joining with other clubs in the Rose City Park and East Halsey district to secure the extension of the Broadway carline to Cross Sandy boulevard, making it a main artery to the eastern limits of the city.

The club is also active in attempting to secure the extension of the Broadway line to Thirty-third street on Broadway and then north to Fremont street. The meeting last night was so well attended that the club will petition the school board to be allowed to use the Fernwood school hereafter.

Accuse Negro of Murder.

San Francisco, Jan. 13.—Robert Lampkin, negro, aged 20, was held here today awaiting instructions from the police at Los Angeles, where it was said he was wanted on a charge of murdering Lew Wilson, another negro, last August. A detective recognized him on the street, from a description sent out by the Los Angeles authorities.

SALOON MAN HELD TO THE GRAND JURY

Proprietor Accused of Allowing Minor in His Place.

For permitting a minor to remain in his saloon over an hour on the night of January 5, J. J. Russell, proprietor of a bar at Second and Burnside streets, was held to the grand jury yesterday afternoon by District Judge Bell. He was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

The boy, Clifford Maybury, 13 years old, was taken into custody in a raid made by Sheriff Word and his deputies. He was playing freecut with five men, according to his testimony, and had paid for one round and had participated in two others, taking 45 cents each time.

Russell and several policemen admitted that the boy did not have the appearance of being of age and should not have been allowed to remain.

Another raid was made last night on one of Russell's saloons and Russell and 10 players were brought in. Albert Rohde and four cardplayers were arrested in a raid on the saloon of Rohde & Rupert about the same time. Bell was furnished in each case.

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

Don't look old! Try Grandmother's recipe to darken and beautify faded, lifeless hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.—(Adv.)
