

ONE OF THE ESCORT OF JEFFERSON DAVIS DIES AT HOOD RIVER

Francis M. Jackson Was True Southern Democrat and Respected Citizen.

Francis M. Jackson.

(Special to The Journal.) Hood River, Or., Jan. 13.—Francis M. Jackson, one of Hood River's pioneers and most respected citizens, died at his home near this city Monday, January 12, after a lingering illness. He was 78 years old. Mr. Jackson was born in Athens, Tenn., and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jackson, pioneers of the state of Tennessee.

At the age of 17 years he traveled by ox team to Missouri, and in the spring of 1848 continued his journey to California where he spent several years in mining. When his father died he returned to Tennessee and stayed on the old farm where he purchased a number of slaves. In June, 1861, Mr. Jackson enlisted in the Fourth Battalion of Tennessee Cavalry, his command being known as Peck's Light Dragoons. After two months' service as a private, he was promoted to a sergeant. Shortly after the "Wild Cat" fight, Mr. Jackson was elected by acclamation to the rank of captain of his company, upon resignation of the captain. He was in the Fisher creek battle and two battles near Vicksburg; was captured at Black River battle and suffered as a prisoner of war for 18 months on Johnson's Island near Sandusky, Ohio. Being exchanged, he was returned to his regiment and was acting colonel until the close of the war, his colonel's commission reaching him just at the close of the war.

Mr. Jackson returned to his old home after the war. He disposed of what property he had remaining to pay for slaves he had purchased on credit. With his debts all paid, after two years' service as recorder of Morris-town, and having received the nomination for mayor, he started west and came to The Dalles via San Francisco and Portland, and shortly afterward came to Hood River and took up a homestead that he retained until his death.

On June 8, 1869, at Morris-town, he married Miss Elizabeth L. Thurman, a relative of Captain Lewis, of Lewis and Clark fame, and of the family of Thurman, one of whom was a candidate for vice president with Cleveland. Mrs. Jackson died in 1882.

Mr. Jackson was a member of the secret of Jefferson Davis up to the time of Davis' capture. He was a staunch Democrat and was a leader in his party in both Washington and River counties. He was progressive in civic improvement matters and a successful farmer and fruit grower, being possessed of considerable wealth.

Mr. Jackson will be buried in the home place tomorrow. Five children survive: Carrie L., wife of J. H. Gerdes, of Hood River; W. F. Jackson, D. M., of Hood River; and Rev. Francis R. Jackson, Baptist clergyman, of Centerville, Wash.

Mr. Jackson requested that he be buried in a Confederate uniform.

EMPLOYMENT OF M'COLLOSH NOT LEGAL — BURNETT

This line is employed it must be done out of the individual's own pocket. Could Not Substitute. "So far as my concern, litigation for the state, or in which the state is interested, the duties for which the claimant was appointed, were germane to, and might well be performed by either the attorney general or the district attorneys," says Justice Burnett, "and the state having provided such officers charged with such duties, the corporation commissioner could not substitute an appointee of his own to perform those duties. The work laid out for the appointee under whom the plaintiff claims, and which it is said the former accomplished, appertains to the duty of an attorney in its essential scope and meaning, for no attorney can efficiently serve his client without ascertaining the facts and the means of providing them. This he may do, of course, either in person or by other lawful means; but in the end he must acquire personal familiarity with such data or be falls short of performing his duty toward his client. So far as the appointment involved counsel and legal advice to the commissioner, it may be said that if that officer was not well enough versed in the law governing his position to perform its requirements, he cannot expect the state to incur the expense of educating him thereto further than may be implied from the functions of its regular law officers. As His Own Expense. "If he desires independent legal advice, he may, at his own cost, secure it. He cannot supersede the regular law officers of the state. The terms 'clerk, stenographer and assistants,' are not comprehensive enough to include attorneys, or to work a repeal or amendment by implication of the laws providing legal advisors for the state and in its interest."

The court also held that Senator McCulloch was disqualified to hold the position on the ground that it is a "lucrative office," and as his term as senator does not expire until next November, he would be holding two lucrative offices. It held further that as a member of the legislature creating the corporation department he was disqualified from accepting a position in the department.

The action was brought on a writ of mandamus to compel the state treasurer to pay a salary warrant of $37.50, and the court dismissed the writ.

SEATTLE CONTRACTOR SPENDS NIGHT IN JAIL

Samuel Mathieson, Seattle contractor, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of failing to pay an innkeeper. He was called to Portland as a witness in the Gerlinger-Frank breach of promise suit. The complaint is that he owes a bill of $48 at the Portland hotel, $57 at the Franklin hotel and a saloon bill of $38.

Detective Hyde arrested the contractor Mathieson formerly lived in Portland, but moved to Seattle with his family two years ago. Failure to raise bonds of $600 last night caused his detention in the city jail. The preliminary hearing will be held later part of this week in the municipal court.

Not Afraid of Hood Doo.

Friday the thirteenth had no terrors for Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Kollock who today are celebrating the forty-fourth anniversary of their wedding. Mr. Kollock is district freight and passenger agent of the Pennsylvania railway system. The wedding date was Friday, January 13.

MOVEMENT TO GET REGIONAL BANK IS NOW PARAMOUNT QUESTION

Governor Lister Invites Governors of Northwestern States to Hearing.

In behalf of the movement to secure a federal reserve bank for the northwest, Governor Lister of Washington has sent out invitations to the governors of the northwestern states and Alaska to be present and give testimony at the hearing before the organization committee to be held in Seattle, January 31.

Invitations were sent to Governor John M. Haines of Idaho, Governor S. V. Stewart of Montana, Governor Oswald West of this state and Governor J. F. A. Strong of Alaska. It is not known whether Governor West will accept or not.

Washington, led by Seattle, is urging the establishment of a federal reserve district in the northwest as the paramount issue now confronting this section of the country, and is expressing the opinion that this question should not be subordinated to that of urging the individual claims of cities for the location of the bank.

Seattle Wants It.

At the same time Seattle is not denying that she wants the bank on Puget sound, and wants it badly. If a bank is to be established in the northwest, the active competition for the honor of reserve city must lie between Portland and Seattle. Spokane, while in many ways more favorably situated geographically than Seattle, has not the financial strength of either of the cities of Puget sound or the Columbia. Bankers and business men are authority for the belief that Spokane will boost for Portland rather than Seattle, when she realizes that her own claim to the designation is not valid.

Portland is the natural financial and commercial center to which Spokane should look and by virtue of the accessibility of Spokane and the whole Inland Empire country to this city, Spokane will no doubt throw her influence in this direction.

The Seattle chamber of commerce and the Seattle Clearing House association have sent out the following circular letter throughout the northwest:

Appeal Is Made.

"With further reference to the subject of a federal reserve district for the Pacific northwest under the new currency law, it is announced that the first hearing by the federal bank organization committee was held January 5 in New York city. This will be followed by hearings in different parts of the country.

"It is of vital importance to this section of the country that a federal reserve district be created, embracing the states of the Pacific northwest, as distinct from a single grouping together of all the states on the Pacific coast. This is necessitated by considerations of business, industry and finance; of geography and relative remoteness from other centers; of agriculture; of foreign and Alaska trade; and of future development.

"We, therefore, respectfully urge you to supplement what has already been done in this direction by one more appealing to the reserve bank organization committee at Washington urging strongly the creation of a northwestern federal reserve district, and stating the reasons therefor, so that we may not become practically eliminated before the formal hearings in Portland and Seattle are reached.

Los Angeles in Fight.

"Los Angeles has now joined San Francisco in asking that the entire Pacific coast be made a single district with San Francisco as the reserve city. These two Pacific northwest states are willing to be made permanently subordinate to California in future financial activities, it is imperative that we take vigorous and united action toward securing a separate reserve district.

"The interests of contending cities in the location of the federal reserve bank are incidentally the same. There will be no work train on the Ocean Shore railroad. Company officials refused to fix responsibility for the accident.

its claims on its merits. Meanwhile the whole territory should unite in the appeal for a northwest district."

SECOND HOMESTEAD ENTRIES PROVIDED FOR

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.) Washington, Jan. 13.—Senator Chamberlain has introduced a bill providing for second homestead and desert land entries where the original entries have been forfeited for other reasons than fraud; also a bill regulating homesteads entries by heirs disqualified by reason of alienage.

ASKS RIGHT-OF-WAY IN NEW NATIONAL PARK

Washington, Jan. 13.—Senator Myers of Montana today introduced a bill in the upper house granting a right of way to the Great Northern railroad through Glacier national park. The bill provided that this right of way, as it may be surveyed by the railroad to shorten its line, shall constitute the southern boundary of the park.

Three Hurt in Wreck.

San Francisco, Jan. 13.—Three men were slightly injured today in a collision between a passenger train and a work train on the Ocean Shore railroad. Company officials refused to fix responsibility for the accident.

MONTANA MAN COMING TO IDENTIFY BURGLAR

Resident of That State Believes Man Killed by A. A. Hatcher His Son.

Captain of Detectives Baty received a telegram last evening from Warden Conley, of Deer Lodge penitentiary, in Montana, saying that a man named Mulvihill, who is believed to be the father of the burglar killed by A. A. Hatcher last week, is on his way to Portland.

The information of Mulvihill's coming was preceded by a message from Conley asking if the dead man had scars from burns at the base of the fingers of the right hand. Examination of the body disclosed the presence of such burns.

The Portland detectives asked for an additional description and this request was followed by the information that Mulvihill was on his way here. He will arrive here tonight.

The Belgian ministry of railways proposes to substitute motor vans for horse-drawn vehicles in all future contracts for freight delivery.

MURPHY TAKES FAMILY TO HIS TRAINING CAMP

New Yorker Says He's More Contented in Preparation for Fight.

San Francisco, Jan. 13.—Both Harlem Tommy Murphy and Champion Willie Ritchie got down to the hard grind of training today for their scheduled 20 round clash here on the evening of January 23. Murphy is stationed at San Rafael and Ritchie at Colma.

"I am feeling in great shape," said Murphy today. "I took splendid care of myself while on the road and have been doing some road work right along. I was in four shows last Sunday, and believe me, I had plenty of exercise. My wife and little girl are with me now and they will be with me at my training camp. They are a lot of company and I feel much more contented than when I was training for the December 10 match with Ritchie.
