PATIENT AT INSANE HOSPITAL KILLED IN SCUFFLE WITH GUARD

Frank E. Wallace Succumbs to Injuries Sustained When Head Hits Polisher.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)

Salem, Or., Jan. 13.—Frank E. Wallace, a patient at the state hospital for the insane, was killed today as the result of a fall while tusseling with Oliver Whitney, an attendant whom Wallace attacked.

Coroner Clough investigated the case and said no blame could be attached to Whitney and therefore no inquest will be held.

Wallace was employed in one of the corridors polishing the floor with a large polishing block, which is dragged back and forth across the floor. When Whitney entered the room Wallace was seated. Whitney directed him to get up. Then Wallace jumped and grabbed the attendant and a desperate struggle followed. Finally they slipped, the two falling, with Whitney on top. They fell across the polishing block, a corner striking Wallace in the pit of the stomach.

The commotion attracted other attendants, who took Wallace into the strong room and left him. A little later Whitney went to see the patient and found him on the floor, evidently suffering. A physician was called and it was found that the patient had internal injuries and probably broken ribs. He had genera paresis, which the physician said caused hardening of the bones and would account for their easy fracture.

Wallace was committed from Portland about eight months ago. He has been in the state 10 years, was said to have been a salesman and had a wife in Tacoma.

SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN MANY OPINIONS

Salem, Or., Jan. 13.—The supreme court today handed down the following opinions:

Petition for rehearing denied in Simpson vs. Durbin, Wilson vs. Peterson, and McFarland vs. Carlsbad Hot Springs sanitarium.

West Oregon Lumber company, appellant, vs. Martin Denny, appealed from Multnomah; suit to recover money, judgment affirmed.

E. R. Hanan, appellant, vs. S. A. Sanford et al.; appealed from Douglas; suit in equity to enjoin the prosecution of an action at law, affirmed.

S. S. Johnson vs. Miami Lumber company, appellant; appealed from Tillamook; action for fees for legal services, affirmed.

William L. Borthwick, appellant, vs. J. E. Johnson; appealed from Multnomah; suit to quiet title, reversed.

Astoria Southern Railway company, appellant, vs. Pacific Surety company; appealed from Multnomah; action to recover on a surety bond, affirmed.

L. Y. Keady, appellant, vs. Hattie L. Martin; appealed from Multnomah; action to recover dower, affirmed.

In the matter of the assignment of the Standard Cafeteria company, an insolvent debtor, vs. Standard Cafeteria company; appellant; appealed from Multnomah; involving an appeal by an insolvent from a judgment establishing a claim against it, affirmed.

W. J. Cook et al. vs. J. D Gordon, appellant; appealed from Multnomah; action for a broker's commission, modified.

Roy Fisher vs. Portland Railway, Light & Power company, appellant; appealed from Multnomah; motion to dismiss appeal, denied.

R. M. Vaughan vs. Canby Canal company, appellant; appealed from Multnomah; suit for the cancellation of a judgment, reversed.

Richard Willis et al. vs. Horticultural Fire Relief of Oregon, appellant; suit to recover on fire insurance policies, reversed.

Recommendations for increased wages for employes of the government printing office aggregating $83,000 have been made by the public printer to congress.

BENSON CANDIDATE FOR SUPREME COURT BENCH

Place Is Sought at Hands of the Republican Party.

Judge Henry L. Benson, of the Thirteenth judicial district composed of the counties of Klamath and Lake, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for supreme court justice. Judge Benson arrived in Portland several days ago from his home in Klamath Falls and after conferring with friends here made formal announcement of his candidacy.

Judge Benson is now serving his third term as a circuit judge in Oregon. He was first elected in 1898 of a district composed of Jackson, Josephine, Klamath and Lake counties. Later on his district was divided, Klamath and Lake counties forming the new or thirteenth district, and he has been twice elected judge of this district.

In the three races made by Judge Benson for circuit judge, he has carried every county in his district by substantial majorities—a rare distinction in Oregon politics.

Elected Prosecuting Attorney.

Prior to his election to the circuit bench, Judge Benson occupied conspicuous places in Oregon. He was twice elected prosecuting attorney of the district composed of Jackson, Douglas, Klamath and Lake counties. He was a member of the celebrated "hold-up" legislature of 1897, and was elected speaker of the rump or Mitchell house.

He has always been an active Republican in politics, and is one of the leaders of that party, his advice and counsel being sought by party associates when the battle was fiercest, and the outcome doubtful.

Judge Benson's record in the supreme court on appealed cases is one of the best among the circuit judges of the state. He has been reversed on an average less than once a year during his 12 years service on the circuit bench.

Judge Benson is 59 years old. He was born in California, but has been a resident of Oregon for the last 33 years. His father, a Methodist preacher, was editor of the Pacific Coast Advocate, of Portland, from 1864 to 1868.

Attended Portland Academy.

As a boy from 10 to 14 years of age, Judge Benson attended the old Portland Academy and had as classmates such well known Portlanders as R. L. Durham, Fred Holman, Julius Moreland and Ben Selling.

Judge Benson was a brother of the late Frank W. Benson, of Roseburg, who was twice elected secretary of state, and who was acting governor of the state following the election of Governor Chamberlain to the United States senate.

Terms of four of the supreme justices of this state will expire January 1, 1915. These are Chief Justice McBride and Justices Bean, McNary, and Ramsey. Judge Benson is a candidate for one of these vacancies.

CORVALLIS HAS DRASTIC ANTI-TOBACCO LAW

Corvallis, Or., Jan. 13.—After today all minors will be prohibited from purchasing cigarettes, cigars or tobacco in Corvallis. The ordinance recently passed by the city council is the same as the state law in regard to the sale of tobacco to minors, except that it makes the age limit 21 years instead of 18 years. All dealers of the city have posted the ordinance and have promised to comply with the law to the letter.

Will Boost for Upper Columbia.

Wallace R. Struble, secretary of the Lewiston, Idaho, Commercial club, who is in Portland working up plans for the upper Columbia and Snake river waterways convention in Portland next February, is sending data on the Celilo canal to J. M. Edwards of Spokane. Mr. Edwards is about to start for England and is taking the information with him for use among prospective investors in the upper Columbia valley.

PRESIDENT GILMAN OF NORTH BANK TO SPEAK

Portland Chamber of Commerce to Hold Annual Meeting.

President L. C. Gilman of the North Bank road will be one of the chief speakers at the annual meeting of the Portland chamber of commerce Thursday night, according to announcement made today. Mr. Gilman has not made any public appearance since his assumption of executive authority over the Hill Lines January 1.

Other speakers will be: G. H. Martin, manager of the Tacoma chamber of commerce and commercial club; Rev. Luther R. Dyott, pastor of the First Congregational church, and Judge Guy C. H. Corliss, formerly chief justice of the North Dakota supreme court, now a resident of Portland.

The meeting will open with a banquet at the Commercial club at 6:30 o'clock, at which A. H. Averill, president of the chamber, will be toastmaster. The reading of reports of President Averill and the committees will follow and election of officers will be the last of the business program. The speaking program will follow, President Averill introducing the speakers. About 300 members are expected to attend.

P., E. & E. INVITATIONS SENT OUT BY CLUB

Formal invitations to the membership of the Portland Commercial club to join the opening excursion over the newly electrified P., E. & E. loop next Saturday were sent out today. The club will charter an entire train, which will leave the union depot at 8 a. m., returning about 9:30, after stopping at every town and cross roads between Portland and McMinnville, on both the west side line and the Newberg line.

The club will charge $4 for the round trip, which includes luncheon and dinner. At first it was thought wives of members could be accommodated, but the demand for places has been such that it was decided today that men only would be passengers.

The schedule has been made up tentatively, some changes being made as responses are coming in from the cities along the way, which require special recognition on the part of the club.

MERITS OF CANDIDATES WILL BE DISCUSSED

Vital questions of the day as well as the merits of proposed candidates for office to be voted upon at the forthcoming state election will be discussed at the regular weekly luncheon of the Multnomah Progressive club to be held at noon tomorrow in the grill of the Oregon hotel. Mayor Albee and Judge G. N. Davis have been invited to attend. T. A. Sweeny will preside.

Tonight the club will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Oregon hotel. Leaders of the party will be present.

GILMAN INSPECTING OREGON ELECTRIC

Tour will Take President to Eugene, Probably Return Tonight.

Starting today on the second lap of his inspection tour of the lines under his jurisdiction, President L. C. Gilman of the Spokane, Portland & Seattle railway took a special train over the Oregon Electric this morning. He expected to cover the territory between Portland and Eugene, returning tonight.

Accompanying the president on the trip were Traffic Manager W. D. Skinner, General Manager W. D. Scott, Superintendent A. J. Davidson and numerous department officials. President Gilman has never made the trip over the valley lines and expected to make a thorough examination of the properties.

During the absence of the general manager, his office force took advantage of the occasion to make a transfer of offices. Hereafter Mr. Scott will occupy the suite in the Railway Exchange building previously occupied by A. C. Adams, superintendent of motive power, who will take Mr. Scott's suite at the far end of the corridor. The change was made to put the general manager's office in closer touch with that of the president.

A Wonderful Offer

An attractive group, embracing every size in fine hand-tailored suits for ladies, at one price — the lowest price in Portland:

$9.85

Until now these suits have been regularly priced $19.50, $24.50 and $29.50, but during this month of sales they are offered at a price which returns only a part of their original cost, but which eclipses any suit offer you fill find anywhere.

The variety of fabric, patterns and color is great enough that a satisfactory choice may be easily made. Before buying a Midwinter suit be sure to see these.
