FAIRBANKS IS BETTER, WALKS DO HIM GOOD

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 21.—Former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks is now almost entirely recovered from the indisposition from which he was suffering when he first came to Pasadena for the winter, several weeks before the first of the year. Fairbanks not only was ill, but two deaths in his family—those of his wife and his son's wife—had caused a depression from which he was finding great difficulty in rallying.

Since coming to Pasadena he has been in the habit of taking long walks, especially in the morning, and the sight of his tall, spare figure, as he strolled along the streets, swinging his arms like flails, has caused considerable wonder among those who did not know this was Colonel Roosevelt's former administrative partner taking his daily constitutional.

Fairbanks is accompanied by his son and mother.

VESSELS ENDANGERED IN TERRIFIC GALE THAT HITS PACIFIC COAST

Six Craft Have Narrow Escape From Foundering in Terrific Storm.

Six vessels had narrow escapes from foundering in the gale which swept up the coast Saturday. Latest to report in distress is the steam schooner Saginaw. According to advices received at the Merchants' Exchange this morning she was barely able to make San Francisco under her own steam.

Further damage from the storm was averted by the fact that many captains refused to put to sea with the barometer hovering around 29 as it was Saturday morning, while others, noticing the downward inclinations of the instruments, made for port before the storm broke.

Advices from San Francisco this morning were to the effect that the Saginaw put into port with her deckload of lumber and part of her rigging washed away. She was leaking badly and the pumps were required continually to keep her hold free of water.

Vessel in Danger.

Captain Weber left here at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, crossing the bar early the next day. Disaster is supposed to have overtaken him during the terrific gale Saturday night when he should have been in practically the same vicinity as the steam schooner Yellowstone.

The Yellowstone, in tow of the steamer Chatham, met with further trouble in her attempt to make San Francisco yesterday, the cable parting after the two ships had proceeded only about 50 miles. The Chatham then headed for San Francisco, telegraphing for a tug with heavier cables to come after the Yellowstone. It is supposed the ship will be towed safely into San Francisco today.

Blown straight up the coast towards the "graveyard" off Vancouver island, the Nokomis, a schooner loaded with lumber for Payta, Peru, from this port, was picked up by the tug Tyee from Seattle when she was in a dangerous position. She had a bad starboard list, her canvas was torn and she was on her beams' ends much of the time. Coming up the Straits of Juan de Fuca with the Nokomis, the Tyee came across the schooner Oceana Vance, which had also experienced serious trouble. Her deckload of lumber was partly gone, her cabins damaged and her rigging sadly torn. She was leaking badly.

Steering Gear Useless.

The ship had been out of Everett several days but had been able to make little headway against the southeast winds, which have blown almost constantly, and when the storm struck her so violently Saturday she made for port.

Besides these near-disasters, the British ship Philadelphia and the steam schooner Fair Oaks got into port in bad shape. The Philadelphia was towed into San Francisco by a tug after her steering gear had been rendered useless during the storm. Her captain was held prisoner by the crew during most of the trip, the matter being up before the authorities in San Francisco now. The Fair Oaks was one of the craft that attempted to help the Yellowstone. Her deckload shifted during the storm Saturday night and she made port at Marshfield where she rearranged the deckload and took on further provisions for the trip down the coast.

ENGINE FOR NEW RIVER BOAT

Gasoline Launch Doris Will Soon Be in Service.

On the Dodge line steamer San Ramon yesterday came the gasoline engine for the new Shaver river boat Doris. The Doris, as she has been recently named, is being laid down in the Shaver boatyard on the east side of the river, and will be completed early in the spring. She will be 40 feet long and 10 feet in beam and will carry a 25-horsepower Imperial engine. She is for light service about the harbor.

STORM KILLS MANY BIRDS

Exhausted and Blinded by Sand Many Die on Ocean Beach.

The force of Saturday's 85-mile-an-hour gale on the coast was realized in an unusual manner by sightseers at Clatsop beach points Sunday and Monday.

Birds venturing out in it had been buffeted by the wind until they were totally exhausted. Falling into the surf or on the sands, they were killed in most instances. The strong tide washed them far up on the beaches, and those left alive, too weak to move, were blinded by the incessantly moving sheet of sand that skipped continually just above the surface of the beach.

The huge surf, breaking as far as one could see, seemed to be alive with seals, and everywhere, especially north of Gearhart, they flopped their unwieldy ways far up the beach after the birds. They were very bold, moving back to the water only when people approached very close, and reappearing on the sand again a short distance farther away. A wild duck and a shearwater were rescued by one person, both alive, but blinded by the whirling sand.

TOURIST TRAVEL IS BEGUN

Steamer Bear to Carry Full List on Trip Today.

Tourist travel to southern California ports is now in full swing, as may be judged from the fact that the San Francisco & Portland Steamship company's steamer Bear will carry a full list of first cabin passengers when she sails this afternoon. A goodly sized cargo of freight will also be carried. The Beaver, of the same line, is due to arrive here tomorrow.

Travel to San Francisco and Los Angeles shows no sign of decrease this winter, as all boats from north Pacific ports are carrying the limit on every trip. The steamer Congress, sailing from Seattle recently, carried 35 automobiles from the sound city for use of tourists in the southland this winter, while several have been shipped recently from here. Steerage travel is at a minimum again, however, as the floating class of laboring men who crowded the steerages for several weeks in the fall have seemingly all been accommodated.

SEARCH MADE FOR DESERTER

Immigration Officers Making Effort to Find Man.

Bouerdu Sallyman, one of the Lascar sailors on the British ship Den of Airlie, is a much sought after man. He decided just before the time of departure of the steamer last night that America held greater possibilities for him than did his native heath. However, Sallyman asked no permission of either captain or immigration officers, with the result that every effort is now being made to apprehend and deport him. The Den of Airlie will call at sound ports before leaving for the orient and it is possible that the United States immigration officers may be able to return him to the ship before she sails.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT

Finding that his ship could carry more lumber than he had loaded, Captain Kent of the British steamer Rothley delayed departure a day and added 80,000 feet to the deck load. The Rothley will sail this evening.

The schooner Mabel Gale will be moved to Astoria tomorrow morning.

Boiler cleaning and other minor repairs caused a two day lay-off for the towboat Ocklahama of the Port of Portland fleet. She will be in service again Friday morning.

The British ship Den of Airlie was sent safely on her way from Astoria at 9:20 this morning.

Carrying 43,953 barrels of crude oil, the oil tanker W. S. Porter arrived up last night.

The steamer Portland is at the Globe mills, loading for her return trip.

Heavy shipments of flour, wheat and miscellaneous freight for Los Angeles and San Francisco made up the cargo of the steamer Yucatan which cleared this morning. She sails tonight.

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

If your Back is aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—(Adv.)

WHY EXPERIMENT?

HERPICIDE, the First Preparation for Combating Dandruff Contagion, Has Proven Its Worth.

Like most new creations and truths, Newbro's Herpicide, the first preparation in America to be compounded in harmony with the theory that dandruff is a contagious disease, was the subject of much ridicule. The theory of dandruff contagion was subjected to severe criticism, not to say antagonism, by many.

But what is the situation today? Truth has prevailed. The facts concerning the origin of dandruff are known. That it is a contagious disease is admitted.

The extraordinary success of Newbro's Herpicide, both in America and abroad, has caused practically all other scalp preparations to abandon their old claims and imitate those made for Herpicide. As there has seldom been any change made in the preparations, the sincerity of these claims may be doubted. But why give these other preparations a thought? Why experiment?

The point is this: "Success" is the thing that is always imitated. Herpicide is and has been imitated widely. Why be persuaded to buy an imitation when it is more sensible and in the end more satisfactory to buy the original? Remember, Newbro's Herpicide was positively the first and original preparation for combating dandruff as a contagious disease.

You can get a trial size bottle of this well known scalp prophylactic, also a booklet on the Care of the Hair by sending ten cents in postage or silver to The Herpicide Co., Dept. "S," Detroit, Mich.

Herpicide applications obtained at all the better barber shops and hair dressing parlors. Sold and Guaranteed everywhere. Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00.

For sale at all drug and department stores. (Adv.)

OFFER REWARD FOR NEWS OF BINDING

Friends Fear Retired Farmer of Albany Met With Foul Play.

(Special to The Journal.)

Albany, Or., Jan. 21.—Friends of Fritz Binding have offered $125 for information as to the whereabouts of Binding.

Binding is described as being 60 years of age and of medium size. He is unmarried and is of German descent. He secured his final citizenship papers from Judge Galloway two weeks ago. He was a retired farmer, having recently sold a tract of land near Tangent, and coming to Albany to make his home.

Binding disappeared a week ago from the home of Henry Sussens, where he was staying, and although the police and relatives and friends have diligently sought him, they have heard nothing of him since. He was last seen at 10:30 o'clock last Monday morning, leaving the Sussens home, supposedly for a stroll down town. His room was left as though the occupant intended to return.

It is felt that Binding has met with some mishap or foul play.
