By Nona Lawler. LL society found the presence of E. H. Sothern at the Heilig this week the occasion for many charming social gatherings, dinners and suppers before and the theatre and imnumerable box parties.

Monday night the married set of so-elety held their dancing party at Mur-lark hall and Friday evening the younger set enjoyed the Friday Night Dancing club's party, each with their consequent dinners and suppers.

Many smaller affairs were given, in-cluding Mrs. Solomon Hirsch's luncheon yesterday, for Miss Carpenter of Providence, R. I., the house guest of Miss Elizabeth Cadwell and Mrs. Richard Koehler's auction Friday after-

Mrs. Koehler had guests for eight tables at cards and a few additional guests were bidden for tea. Attractive prizes were given for the highest hon-ors at each table and seated at the attractively decked tea table were Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mrs. Peter Kerr, Mrs. Robert W. Lewis and Miss Sallie

Many affairs of the week, especially those of Thursday, took the form of Lincoln celebrations. Mrs. Frank Clay Kelsey gave a large reception and musicale on the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln and a number of patriotic features were cleverly introduced, among which was the following poem by Mrs. Kelsey:

When I remember how he dauntless stood,
Giving himself to stem the civic flood;
How, o'er his head the high waves
seemed to meet
Yet broke and parted, flowing slow
about his feet;
When I remember what his face made known—
How the crude clay became the angel
in the stone;
I tremble, dimly knowing that God's plan
Found part of its fulfillment in this

The mass is man-becoming; he became. In what he was is our potential fame; So blended are we all that one brave Cannot achieve the stars but that the whole Pulses with deeper life, and feels the Lift to that morn where all shall walk in light.

* * For the pleasure of their house guests Miss Dorothy Shepherd, Miss Margaret Jacquette and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Jacquette, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. O'Brien and their daughter and son in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Coe A. McKenns were luncheon hosts Saturday afternoon at the Portland hotel. Mrs. Mc-Kenna presided at one charmingly appointed table set in keeping with St Valentine's day with Scarlet Richmond Roses, at which were seated the young ladies inclding: Miss Jacquette, Miss Shepherd, Mrs. Joseph Wiley, Mrs. Chester Murphy, Mrs. James Cranston, Mrs. Philip Hart, Miss Katharine Hart, Miss Maisie MacMaster, Miss Jean MacKenzie, Miss Isabella Gauld, Miss Cornelia Stanley, Miss Evelyn Carey, Miss Marjorie Hoffman, Miss Mildred Honeyman, Miss Grace Honeyman, Miss Dorothy Huber, Miss Jean Morrison and Mrs. Carl Wernicke.

Those who circled the table at which Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien presided were Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Jacquette; Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, George P. Stanley, Coe A. McKenna and Oliver B. Huston,
