

HAMBURG AND ROYAL MAIL STEAMERS RACE TO NORTH BANK DOCK

Belgravia Leads Packet Liner by 50 Minutes Up the Columbia River.

Racing for the North Bank dock where both are to unload their foreign cargoes, the Hamburg-American steamer Belgravia led the Royal Mail Packet liner by 50 minutes this morning. Although the Glenroy was the first of the two to enter the Columbia river this morning the German steamer got away 50 minutes to the good and it is not believed she can be passed on the run up the river to the dock.

Since the two ships first began to conflict with one another it has been a race for docks and cargoes. The Glenroy is reported to have secured her Portland cargo of 2,000,000 feet away from one of the Hamburg-American liners through her earlier sailing date while the Hamburg-American in turn takes a heavy cargo of 6,000,000 feet of freight, principally flour, out of Portland. This cargo was secured in sharp competition to the Royal Mail.

SEEKS SON'S WHEREABOUTS

Mother Writes Collector of Customs for Information.

In search of her son, Alex MacDonald, a sailor supposed by his mother to be on a ship running out of Portland, Mrs. Lillian Hill has written Deputy Collector of Customs R. E. Barnes. Mrs. Stiles resides in Berchester, Westmoreland county, New Brunswick, and in her letter asks the assistance of the customs officials in locating her son. She has not heard from him in years but is so certain that the customs service can locate him that she enclosed a letter to be delivered to him.

WILLIAM P. FRYE OVERDUE

Alarm Felt for Safety of Full Rigged Ship.

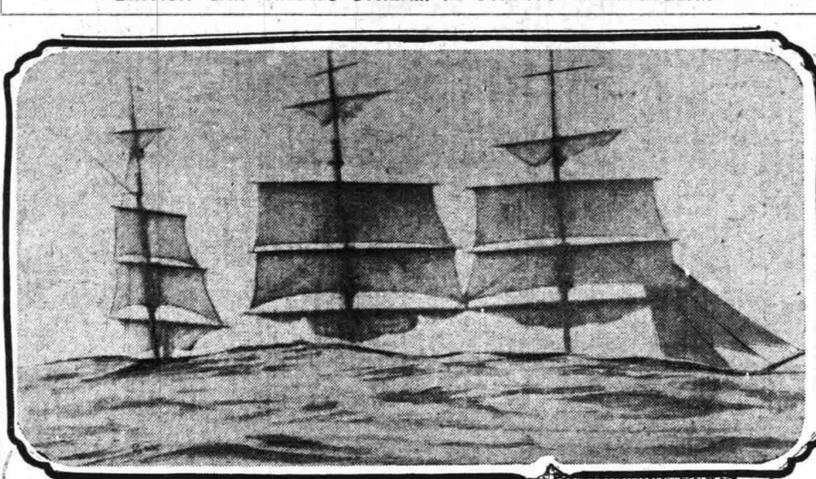

New York, Feb. 27.—Alarm was beginning to be felt today for the full rigged ship, William P. Frye, overdue in New York from San Francisco with a cargo of barley. The vessel was sighted off Montauk Point, Long Island, February 15, and should have been towed into New York harbor the next day. She is one of the longest of America's sailing vessels and carries a crew of 30, with Captain J. A. Nickerson of San Francisco in command.

BRITISH SHIP ARCTIC STREAM IN STRAITS OF MAGELLAN

Remarkable photograph of vessel which foundered off Rotterdam, taken by Captain Dixon from a small boat during a storm while rounding South America some years ago.

Telegraphic advices received from London by the Meyer, Wilson & Co. state that the British ship Arctic Stream, bound from Leith for San Francisco, is aground and will be a total loss. The ship is supposed to have gone aground somewhere in the English Channel, while carrying pig iron and fire brick for delivery in San Francisco, part of which was to have been reshipped here. No mention is made whether or not the crew escaped is made in the dispatch.

According to Lloyd's register, the vessel was chartered to the British ship Arctic Stream, which was chartered to the Meyer, Wilson & Co. state that the British ship Arctic Stream, bound from Leith for San Francisco, is aground and will be a total loss.

ship is now in command of Captain Stewart, but for years she was sailed by Captain Dixon, as well known here as the vessel that he commanded. With Captain Dixon in command the Arctic Stream has been in Portland half a dozen times or more.

Captain Dixon was an astronomer, writer and expert photographer and when last here brought with him an immense collection of photographs taken at sea. Many of them were of the ship, including the one reproduced herewith, showing the craft in a heavy storm in the vicinity of the Straits of Magellan. Captain Dixon and a couple of his crew went out in a small boat to get the photograph, which he valued very highly because of the thrilling circumstances under which it was obtained.

The Arctic Stream was one of the fastest sailing ships afloat and made the run between this port and Queenstown a few years ago in 108 days. She was then in command of Captain Dixon, in stature the smallest mariner that ever came to Portland.

RAILROAD IS TALK DOWN NEWPORT WAY

Newport, Or., Feb. 27.—The Portland West Coast Railroad & Navigation company has accepted the franchise given by the city granting a right of way to come to the waterfront. The bond offered by the manager of the company, J. H. Fitzgerald, was not accepted by the city, as the bond was signed by the officers of the company, with their corporate seal, whereas the franchise requires that the bond must be signed by two individuals, at least one of whom must be worth at least double the amount of the bond, which was fixed at $3000.

Mr. Fitzgerald will have another bond prepared to submit to the city council at the meeting Monday night next. Since A. Welch of Portland has taken over the electric lighting plant here and at Toledo and with a prospect of an electric line into Newport from the valley over the Corvallis & Eastern road, everyone is talking railroad.

LEADER IN FISHING INDUSTRY IS DEAD

Astoria, Or., Feb. 27.—After nearly five years of invalidism due to a malady of heart, Sofus Jensen, well known and highly respected in this city for the past 25 years, died yesterday at his family apartments in the Hotel Nettie, of which establishment he was lessee and proprietor.

For years Mr. Jensen was a conspicuous figure in the Columbia river fisheries, and in those of Alaska. He was one of the founders of the canning concern known the world over as the Union Fishermen Cooperative Packing company of this city, and was its first general manager. He still retained a working interest in the business.

He was also superintendent in Alaska for the Portland-Alaska Packing company, and had been for years an officer and member of the Columbia River Fishermen's Protective union.

The International Union of Shingle Weavers, Sawmill Workers and Woodmen has declared in favor of an eight-hour day for all workers engaged in the timber industry, no matter in what branch employed.

OTHER REGISTRATION RALLIES TO FOLLOW ONE HELD LAST NIGHT

Meetings in Different Parts of City Expected to Stimulate Voters' Interest.

So great was the success of the registration rally under the auspices of the Oregon Civic league at central library last night that plans were immediately made for similar stimulus to registration in such portions of the city as the records of the county clerk show are slow in registering.

An audience that comfortably filled the library auditorium had its sympathies, for all the party representatives that spoke from the platform petitioned complete registration and loyal vote in support each of his respective party's issues and candidates. The theme of the entire meeting was that good government cannot be secured unless voters register, inform themselves and vote. There were also eulogies of party that the speakers could not deny to voters.

Mrs. Abigail Scott Dunway, "mother of equal suffrage in Oregon," said feelingly that her sister women would only prove themselves worthy of their enfranchisement by registering early and voting intelligently. She asked those of the audience who had registered to so indicate. About half responded. Mrs. Dunway expressed disapproval, but others felt it was a very fair showing.

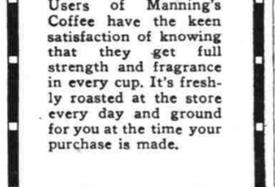

R. A. Booth of Eugene asked that Republicans register as Republicans and vote as Republicans. State Senator Claude McCulloch said one of the best reasons to register and vote as Democrats now is that this is a government of party, the national administration is in the hands of the Democrats, issues of vital public interest have been and are being settled and loyalty suggests most vigorous support.

Emmett Callahan read a London Times definition of the importance to America of the Progressive party and created amusement when he said "A large part of the Repub-Progressive party is in South America." His eulogy of Roosevelt was very earnest. He said that in the trinity of American fame, Lincoln and Roosevelt would be seated at the right and left hand of the Father of His Country.

Ernest E. Taylor, executive secretary of the Prohibition party, was credited with one of the most logical addresses heard during the evening. Prohibition, he said, is the greatest moral, financial and political issue before the people and the party back of it was first to propose equal suffrage, direct election of United States senators and other enactments. Nettie May Rankin read the address which C. W. Barzee of the Socialists had intended to deliver but had been prevented from so doing by absence.

W. S. U'Ren, independent candidate for governor, declared that the Independents hold the balance of power and should strengthen themselves by registration and voting intelligently. He asked, however, that people register no matter what their party.

Former Federal Official Ends Gout and Bad Stomach With Akoz

Hon. John C. Lynch Is an Ardent Advocate of the New Mineral Remedy.

Former Collector of Internal Revenue and former Bank Commissioner John C. Lynch of San Francisco, and well known clubman, is an ardent enthusiast regarding Akoz. John D. Mackenzie's remarkable radio-active medicinal mineral.

This natural remedy, which has given sure speedy relief in cases of rheumatism, stomach trouble, catarrh, eczema, ulcers, piles and numerous other ailments, promptly drove the gout from Mr. Lynch's system and also relieved him from acute nervous stomach trouble.

Before using Akoz, Mr. Lynch tried numerous other remedies and dieted, but received only slight temporary relief. With the Akoz treatment he did not diet, but made remarkable progress in regaining his health. Akoz is Nature's own remedy, free from alcoholic ingredients and is in no way harmful to the system. It is a general tonic, pleasant to the taste, and also relieved him from acute nervous stomach trouble.

There is what Mr. Lynch has to say of Akoz: "For a period of over 10 years I was a sufferer from gout, having attacks which confined me to my home from one to two weeks several times a year. During this time I tried a great many remedies, including abstemiousness and the strict diet, without effecting anything more than temporary relief. "While I was suffering from one of these attacks I was induced by Mr. Mackenzie to try the Akoz mineral powder on my foot. I experienced immediate relief. I followed this treatment by drinking the Akoz water and became permanently cured, having had
