Cattle Continue Weak.

There was a mere handful of cattle reported in overnight, but the trend of the trade at North Portland continues very weak. Even extra good stuff is showing neglect. Killers report heavy stocks of loins and ribs on hands, with a very slow demand. As long as this condition exists there is little likelihood of any improvement for cattle.

Poorest Market is SHOWN FOR SPUDS;

Trade Is Unable to Secure Orders at Any Price; Growers Panic Stricken and Are Consigning to South; Is One Cause of Break.

The market for potatoes is today far the poorest condition shown here for many a year. There is no outside buying to speak of, and the outlook in this regard for the immediate future cannot be considered as improved.

It is stated that a local cooperative this stated that a local cooperative concern, which talked of $1 a cental net to farmers of this section, is actually making sales on the San Francisco market at 50c a cental delivered there. Considering the freight charge between this city and San Francisco together with the handling charges there, as well as the shrink-age in transit, the price is the lowest received here at this period of the season for many years.

Arizona and Texas are out of the market entirely. A few back orders are being filled by local interests, but they are so few as to be searcely considered as a factor. The local jobbing market is almost at a standstill, a conusual when the outside markets are glutted.

NEW POTATOES ARE COMING New crop potatoes from Florida were due to arrive in the local market today, and a carload is expected within a few days. The stock 4s packed in hampers, and is quoted at $3@3.50 per hamper, according to quality.

ORANGES ARE MUCH FIRMER Much firmer tone is showing-in the market for oranges, both here and in the south. A further advance in the price has been forced at primary points, and this has been forced here. Sales are reported today at $1.90@

CELERY MARKET IS FIRMER

Market for celery is firmer with smaller offerings in the south. Along the street today the trade was quoted $4.25, and even as high as $4.50, and er price is expected to become It is stated that only 75 cars northern California, or supply but for a few weeks.

ASPARAGUS MARKET LOWER Lower prices are again reported for asparagus in the local market, with greater receipts from the south. Sales this morning at 15c Receipts are showing rather HALIBUT PRICES ARE DOWN

Price of halibut remains very low in Portland, with a continuation of the fight between dealers. Sales of good stock were today reported at 3½c a pound, or less than similar quality is selling at in the north. Salmon is very scarce. Some northern brights were reported at 7c for chilled. EGG MARKET RULES LOWER

Lower values are again reported for eggs along Front street, with sales down to 19c for case count. Late yesterday afternoon a few sales were made at 191/2 @20c, but this morning nothing above 19c was available in lots. JOBBING PRICES OF PORTLAND

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK MARKET FOR CATTLE

By Hyman H. Cohen.

Alaska is showing its willingness to trade with Portland and business from the north is already coming direct to the north is already coming direct to local merchants. From Petersburg, Alaska, quite a few orders have bee received here during the last few days and the steamers sailing from here are promised heavy cargoes of foodstuffs in the future, Jack Hadland, of Johnson & Hi land, well known fish interests land, well known fish interests of Petersburg, has been in the city for several days. The firm is a big independent supper of fish from the north and already has lined up several of the local firms in taking direct shipments of fish from Alaska.

Many tons of halibut are expected on the first vessels sailing from Alaska to Portland and shipments of other fish have already been ordered by local firms.

It is planned by the Alaskans to make Portland an important shipping point for halibut and it is now stated that most of the independent operators of the north will make direct shipments to this city instead of shipping, Growers seem to be panic stricken in their ideas at this time. They are freely offering to sell good shipping stock at 50c a cental, but are unable to find buyers even at this price.

A private message from a San Francisco firm to its Portland buyer, requested the latter not to purchase potatoes just now at any price. The south is full of consigned potatoes, and there is therefore no incentive to purchase because of the extreme low prices that the consignment agents are selling at.

That most of the independent option of the independent option. The independent option of the independent option of the independent option. The tors of the north will make direct shipments to this city instead of shipping, as heretofore, to Puget sound.

Millions of dollars are annually brought to the northern cities by the sale of halibut alone. The business was during recent years transferred from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific because of the depletion of supplies there. The east buys many hundreds of carloads of halibut from the Pacific because of halibut from the Pacific because of the depletion of supplies there. The east buys many hundreds of carloads of halibut from the Pacific because of the depletion of supplies there.

planned that this city receive a large portion of the business.

To take care of the business huge cold storage plants for the sole purpose of handling the fish, must be constructed at Portland. This city will soon be made headquarters for the growing halibut business of Yaquina. While the business is stating in its infancy along the Oregon coast, it has been demonstrated that better half-but can be secured at home than comes from other sections.

Up to this time the business has been done mostly by small vessels which have proven inadequate to fill the wants. New and greater powered boats are being constructed and will be placed on the fishing runs this seaboats are being constructed and will be placed on the fishing runs this sea-

STILL POOR ABROAD

Few Sales Made at Fair Prices but the Bulk of Offerings Are Going at Low Figures.

Regarding the foreign apple situa-tion, the London branch of the Northwestern Fruit Exchange reports under date of February 14: "There have been a good many New-towns on the market this week show-ing scald, both Rogue River and Hood River, for which some low prices have been realized. Beyond a few desultory sales of best stock at around $2.75 the market seems about as fiat as the market seems about as fiat as ever. Very heavy arrivals are reported for next week, so that conditions do not seem at all favorable for improvement in the immediate future. Colored varieties are not doing at all well. There is a lot of poor stuff about in the way of York Imperials, Rome Beauties, Staymans, etc., for which figures as low as $1.25 have been taken. Altogether the week's business good moderate and as a contrast to boxes a startity is enced. Best western New York State a very good demand has been experitive is enced. MEETING OF PRUNE GROWERS Estacada, Or.—At a meeting of the Estacada Fruitgrowers association Mr. Copley of the Willamette Valley Prune Copley of the Willamette Valley Prune association gave an interesting talk explaining the pooling system of selling prunes and giving the prices received for 1913. After a general discussion, those present decided to pool for the coming year with the Willamette Valley Prune association, which was accomplished by the Estacada Fruitgrowers' association buying one share of stock in the Willamette Valley Prune association. Those joining were C. H. Deming, Walter Snuffin, P. H. Wagner, Charles Duncan, H. D. Taff, F. W. Bates, Thomas & Butler and P. F. Standish, and anyone else may do so by Bates. Thomas & Butler and P. CROP PROSPECTS ARE GOOD Burns-J. R. Jenkins, the Happy Valley sheep man, states they had but ittle snow over in his section during the winter and while the grass has started it is not growing very rapidly on account of cold nights, but crop prospects are fine, there having been a good deal of rain and the ground is thoroughly saturated with moisture.

WOOL OUTLOOK IS EXCELLENT Burns, Or.—It is reported that wool buyers representing Boston firms are in this section trying to contract this season's clip, but have not met with success. The wool men are pretty well satisfied with conditions at present and look for an advance, in fact buyers are offering more now for wool than was paid last year.

BUILD NEW CHEESE PLANT Nehalem, Or.—Kuppenbender Bros., where of a dairy, received a shipment of 60 tons of cement and building supplies for a new silo and cheese factory which they intend to erect at once. They will operate a cheese factory this coming summer on their farm, also buy milk from other dairymen in that was paid last year.

Both Spot and Contract Market Is Slow and Weak; No Orders Are Coming Forward.

Although dealers report only about 35,000 bales of hops unsold in the United States at this time, the market s extremely sluggish. V. W. Yeater, of Independence, is reported the seller of 82 bales but the price or buyer is not known. The extreme top of the market at this time is 17c a pound and few buyers are willing to pay above 16c and even at that figure the mar-much in evidence and the low sales of this stock have naturally had a depressing effect on the market. It is difficult to forecast prospects. We have repeatedly appeared to be on the verge of a change for the better when some adverse condition has arisn to upset matters. Barrels: Like all the markets the demand and prospects are good, although prices for western New York Baldwins are not as good as Lon.

"Pears—Winter Nells stocks are heavy and condition far from good. As reported previously, we expect to see some very low sales later. Condition of stock has necessitated forced sales."

The speaking of the deal J. N. Burgess, president of the Cunningham of the Cunningha was 60 per cent from the old bucks and 40 per cent from young bucks. Last year 75 per cent of our buck wool was from young bucks. Therefore it was better grade and the price received this year is an advance. The buyers discount the old buck wool one third but take the young buck wool at the market price. I estimate that we received a cent market price. we received a cent more for the than we did last year."
