The market for poultry is showing very bad break in values along Front A week or 10 days ago the trade was exceedingly firm with supplies less than the demand at 19c a bound for hens but during the last 24 nours confirmed sales were shown at hours confirmed sales were shown at 16c a pound and there were unconfirmed reports that from ½ to 1c a pound less than this had been accepted by Front street receivers.

The sharp loss in the price was made in the face of widely circulated quotations by a Front street house which claimed to have a corner on the business as well as supplies and that even better prices would rule this week than during the preceding six days. While everyone on Front street took the quotations of the so-called wise ones with several grains of salt, there were many in the country who were led to believe them and consequently they received a bad bumping when their stock was actually shipped to the market. All other houses were much more conservative and gave the country the right impression—that the country the right impression—that the price of chickens was at the danger

DRESSED MEATS ARE DOWN

Higher Prices Are Offering for Wool

Mark for Season, to Date; All Sections Firmer.

Buyers of wool are showing keen anxiety to interest Pacific northwest sheep men in contracting their fleece supplies. Already shearing operations are reported in some sections of the northwest and some weel is being received in the warehouses at interior points.

Higher prices are being offered in secret by some of the buyers, it being stated that as high as 19 cents has actually been paid in Montana and that this same price was offered for several lots in Idaho and eastern Oregon.

A small amount of business has been reported in eastern Washington but sheepmen have been offering too freely there to receive the extreme prices that The past four months have shown a similar experience in the wool trade. Domestic fine and fine medium wools are costing at least as much per scoured pound as at this time last year. This anomaly is difficult to explain, yet certain factors are clear.

Foreign mills are busy and wool prices are high all over the world. Moreover, the wool clip of the United States has been steadily decreasing. In view of the big increase in population in this country, this latter fact has especial significance.

The entire flock was purchased by the university last December, and since that time have been fed for experimental purposes at the Caldwell station. The sheep are fattened on Idaho grown feeds, and have made remarkable gains in weight. The ewes and wethers have been fattened on a mixture of one-half barley, one-fourth corn and one-fourth oats with alfalfa hay and mixed hay. The lambs were fattened in three separate lots, one being fed straight barley and alfalfa hay another alfalfa hay and a mixture of three-fourths barley and one-fourth corn, and the third alfalfa hay, another alfalfa hay and a mixture.

for No. 1 Quality; Small Trade BOTTOM IS PUNCTURED

The Frederick Breaks Away From the Tug Boscoe; Barge Carried Machinery for Contractors.

. (Special to The Journal.) Florence, Or., April 4.—The barge Frederick, in tow of the tug Roscoe, went on the rocks at the end of the north jetty last night and will likely be a total loss. Loaded with machinery for Porter Brothers, the vessel was being towed in about 6 o'clock last night. The Roscoe lost control of the barge in a stiff southeasteriy wind and the Frederick jammed agains the end of the north jetty, damaging both the barge and the jetty consid-

Thirty-five bents were torn from the letty. The bottom of the Frederick was knocked full of holes and she took water rapidly settling on to the rocks. Today every attempt is being made to save some of the machinery aboard her and probably some of it wil be saved. She carried 800 tons of railway equipment, including a steam shovel, a locomotive and several dump cars, besides a lot of tools and general equipment for Porter Brothers.

The Frederick has been pursued by hard luck. Only last week she came out of the yards at Portland, where she was overhauled and repaired of the results of running aground at Yaquina bay on December 13 last. She was badly damaged in this accident and was repaired at considerable expense. The tug Roscoe has also undergone a recent overhauling, and with the Frederick, was on her way back to Florence, where she is regularly employed by Porter Brothers in their raisroad work and in towing connected with the Tide Water Mill company.

It is the belief that the Frederick will be a total loss. She lies now on top of the rock work of the jetty, swell further increases the damage to her bottom. Much of the machinery will be saved, however.
