Opinion Expressed That Bar Ass'n Should Take Up the Geneste-Ulrich Row.

COURT MUCH DISPLEASED

Judge Stevenson Disappointed That Public Defender Should Have Misused Office, as It Is Charged;

Whether or not Elmon A. Geneste committed a breach of legal ethics when, while serving as public defender in the municipal court he "tipped off" E. A. Ulrich to a case in which there was a possibility of a fat fee; is the question which the Multnomah Bar association will have to settle, if disbarment proceedings are brought before

Attorney Ulrich is also under fire because of the exorbitant nature of the fee received, it being charged in court vesterday that he was to receive $750 from Charles Amos, a riverman. on representations that the money was needed to "fix" the police and news-

Both Geneste and Ulrich deny the charges and state they are ready to let actions undergo the closest to investigate the charges.

Served As Public Defender. Geneste served two weeks as public defender in the municipal court. He was supposed to defend those only who were without funds and who remix with the prisoners interviewing Sunday, April 19. them each morning and hearing their stories so as to be able to defend them charged with a reprehensible and serious offense against a young boy, told Geneste he had money and wanted alawyer. Geneste then sent Ulrich, with whom he shares a suite of offices in the Chamber of Commerce building, to Amos. Ulrich got $250 cash from Amos and a note for $500. Geneste claims that Ulrich and he adjoining offices and figure in many cases together, while their business cards read "Ulrich & Generate" cards read "Ulrich & Geneste."

Action Is Defended. When seen yesterday he said: "I see nothing to be condemned in my action. Court Tells Michael Spahn on Account My sole connection in the matter was of His Attitude Second Jury Must to recommend Ulrich to Amos as the riverman wanted a lawyer. Why shouldn't I recommend Ulrich even should I give it to some one who son, "to do the duty Spahn failed to wouldn't do the same for me some do." time? In fact, I did turn four other cames over to other attorneys," practice, and not from metives of pub-He stated that the two weeks at the station would make him known to the police and court officials, the man in court, Spaken would not would stand him in good stead in his future police court practice. Court Is Displeased.

Ulrich, too, is ready to face any charges that may be brought, and has an affidavit from Amos to the effect that he entered into the contract to pay $750 attorney's fees willingly, and is satisfied with the result of the case. Also that Ulrich did not make Arthur H. Guild of Cleveland Will Tell representations to the effect that meney was needed to "square" police and court officials, and suppress the story in the newspapers.

Following the hearing in police court yesterday morning, Amos accompanied Attorney Ulrich to the Chamber of back his bill of sale on his boat for Ulrich's fee was then fixed at $500. Of this amount, $100 was used to pay Amos' fine, it is said, leaving a net fee of $400. Amos paid $350 cash and executed a note for $150. In many quarters the fee of $500 for a case which was settled for a fine of $100 and 90 days' suspended sentence is considered exorbitant. Judge Stevenson expressed himself arranged for the address. yesterday as most disappointed that Geneste, as public defender, evidently used his office to "steer" business to

Novelties

A woman handling a recall petition directed at Sheriff Word yesterday made 55 cents as the result of securing one signature. Word himself signed the petition and asked her how much she made on cach name. She told him she was paid five cents a name and he reached for his purse. "That's not enough," he said.
"Here's a half dollar to help

The woman had no idea of his identity when she asked the sheriff to sign. He compiled with her request so willingly that she paid no attention to the signature and did not realize that he was the man until she happened to observe his star.

The sheriff began to quiz the woman as to why she was cir-culating the petition and brought out the fact that she knew nothing of the merits of the petition but needed the money. This is the first appearance of a recall petition at the courthouse for some time.

Dr. Hodge Swats Bulletin. Salem, Or., April 8 .- Salem's campaign against the fly was given impetus by the visit of Dr. C. F. Hodge, professor of biology engaged in extension work for the University of Oregon. Monday night before a large audience at the Grand theatre he gave a lecture on fly extermination in con-nection with his "fly film," thrown on the screen by a moving picture machine.

Dr. Hodge, who is a fly authority of national repute, said today that the fly bulletin just issued by the exten-sion department of the Oregon Agricultural college will do more harm than good because of its "collection of old rules, antiquated methods and city ordinances that cannot be enforced,' which he said he feared would add to
