

Good Road Talk at Hermiston Meet

Commercial Club Delegates Representing Cities Affected Discuss Proposals of Road Surface Improvement.

Hermiston, Or., April 17.—On invitation from the Hermiston Commercial club, delegates from the Commercial clubs of Pendleton, Echo, Stanfield and Umatilla and the candidates for the office of county judge, attended a meeting held here Tuesday for the purpose of perfecting plans for the building of a hard surface road from Pendleton, via Echo, Stanfield and Hermiston to Umatilla.

The various clubs were well represented and it is hoped that the result of the meeting will be the construction of the much needed and desired road through this section in the near future.

Awarded Insurance; Will Sue Company

Farmer of Farmington, Wash., Gets Verdict in One Case and Says He Will Start Action for Damages.

Coffax, Wash., April 17.—In the superior court Wednesday, Henry Goddard, a well known and wealthy farmer residing near Farmington, Wash., was given a credit of $5500 against the Northwestern Insurance company for loss of 6000 bushels of wheat in a warehouse fire of unknown origin near Farmington two years ago.

The company charged Goddard with having fired the warehouse, but the evidence showed that the grain was worth as much or more than the insurance, and lack of evidence of the crime charged, favored Goddard.

Goddard through his attorney, Charles Hill, says he will bring suit against the insurance company for personal damages on the arson charge.

Oldest Resident of Oregon Passes Away

Mrs. Mary DeLore was Born in Northwest 117 Years Ago; Educated at Vancouver, Wash.

Mrs. Mary DeLore, who it is claimed was the oldest resident of Oregon, died at the age of 117 years, last Wednesday, at Mount St. Joseph Home for the Aged, East Thirtieth and Stark streets.

Mrs. DeLore was a native of the northwest and was the daughter of a French Canadian trapper and an Indian woman. She was reared at Vancouver, Wash., at the headquarters of the Hudson Bay company and was educated in the company school, established by Dr. John McLoughlin, chief factor of the company. She was the mother of a large family, all of whom she survived.
