Social and Personal BY NONA LAWLER

MRS. JAMES W. COOK and her daughter, Miss Cornelia Cook, who have been visiting in the east for the past two months, returned home Sunday evening. They passed five weeks in New York, and Miss Cook visited in various places with former school friends. They were the guests in Chippewa Falls, Wis., of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander A. McDonell, former Portlanders, who recently returned to Wisconsin, their old home, to live.

Monday Musical Club Tea and Musical.

Mrs. R. F. Lytle, of East Twenty-second and Hancock streets, was a charming hostess for a club and social afternoon given yesterday by the Monday Musical club. Members and guests of the club assembled informally in the beautiful drawing rooms, which were particularly attractive with artistic arrangements of Scotch broom and clusters of lilacs. Mrs. Lytle received in an effective costume of ivory crepe meteor and macrame lace. Miss Lucy M. Case, Miss Naidyne Baker, Miss Melba Westengard, Miss Florence Westengard, Mrs. R. E. Jacobs and Miss Florence Jackson gave a splendid program of musical numbers and readings. During the social hour Mrs. Nathaniel Palmer and Mrs. P. Autzen presided at the tea table, which was adorned with an epergne of pink sweet peas and ferns. Mrs. Palmer's gown was of pastel green charmeuse, combined with white filet lace. Mrs. P. Autzen wore amethyst crepe de chine, with cream lace blouse effect. Miss Edith Prater, Mrs. R. B. Carter and Miss Alice Autzen assisted in serving.

After a business session of the executive board of the Monday Musical club, held yesterday with Mrs. Fred A. Kribs, 210 North Twenty-fifth street, Mrs. Kribs entertained the board members with a delightful 1 o'clock luncheon. Those present were: Mrs. Herman A. Heppner, Mrs. P. L. Thompson, Mrs. Lillian Conser, Mrs. Joseph L. Stafford, Mrs. E. M. Baker, Mrs. Chester Deering, Mrs. Russell R. Dorr, Mrs. Herbert Garr Reed and Mrs. Roscoe R. Giltner. Following the luncheon, the members of the board attended the club at home held with Mrs. R. F. Lytle, East Twenty-second and Hancock streets.

Porter-Boyle Wedding.

Saturday evening, April 18, Miss Bessie M. Boyle and Frank S. Porter were the participants in a pretty home wedding at the residence of the bride's parents, 910 Francis avenue. The house was a bower of delicate ferns and spring flowers. The bride was tastefully dressed, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Emma Porter, sister to the groom, was the bride's only attendant, and Charles Porter was best man. Because of a recent bereavement in the groom's family, the wedding was a quiet affair, only the families and a few intimate friends being present.

Mrs. Boss Hostess.

Mrs. Charles L. Boss entertained most delightfully at four informal auction bridge parties last week, the last being the eleventh of a series of informals that this hostess has given during the latter part of the winter and early spring. Mrs. Boss' beautiful home was made doubly attractive with the many varieties of spring blossoms, which were used in the decorations. The ladies winning highest score honors were Mrs. Leon Peters, Mrs. George Knight Clark, Mrs. Will See and Mrs. John Manning. Mrs. Chester Struble of Holyoke, Mass., was given a guest of honor token. Mrs. Boss contemplates one more affair, which will include the younger set of maids and matrons. The lists of guests are as follows:

Thursday—Mrs. Roa Ervin, Mrs. William Reid, Mrs. Edward D. Ulrich, Mrs. William C. Witzel, Mrs. Ralph L. Brackett, Mrs. Robert C. Wright, Mrs. J. C. Wright, Mrs. Alfred D. Irvington Club Ball.

The Irvington club will give its second formal party of the season Wednesday evening. The ladies of the club have just completed having the interior of the club redecorated, and the affair is going to be a social event. The committee in charge of the party is composed of C. Lewis Mead, chairman, A. R. Porter, J. P. Menefee, W. F. Fliedner, M. F. Brady and J. W. Creath. The patronesses will be Mrs. Johnson P. Porter, Mrs. Frank S. Fields, Mrs. George W. Caldwell, Mrs. F. A. Ross, Mrs. A. M. Wilson, Mrs. William F. Woodward, Mrs. Frank J. Raley and Mrs. W. C. Cameron.

Eilers Dancing Club.

The April party of the Eilers Dancing club to be held tomorrow evening at the Cotillion hall, Fourteenth off Washington streets, is arousing great enthusiasm among the members and their friends and a large attendance is expected.

THEATRICAL NEWS

Stratford Players Bring Out the Wit and Humor of Shakespeare.

Performance Highly Pleasing.

If Queen Elizabeth was as delighted as the Heilig audience last evening, when the Stratford-upon-Avon players gave "The Merry Wives of Windsor," Shakespeare must have felt well satisfied with his work. Tradition has it, with many indications of truth, that good Queen Bess commanded the poet to write her a play in which Falstaff should be in love, and to do it in fourteen days. "The Merry Wives of Windsor" is the result.

Lacking all court scenes and the pomp of so many of Shakespeare's plays, it deals with commonplace people and is one of the poet's few creations giving a truthful picture of contemporaneous middle class life. If there were any who went to the theatre last evening harboring the idea that Shakespeare has been outlived and his plays are not wanted in this day, they must have lost the idea before the performance was well over for the modern comedy or the concoction of mirth and melody that can surpass "The Merry Wives of Windsor" in laughter producing quality would be indeed hard to find.

The rascal Falstaff is in love, but not honestly so, yet his conceit and self satisfaction are so great that he is the willing dupe of the two merry wives and blindly falls into the pit which he dug. That is the big theme of the play which is notable for its plot rather than for character drawing. It is written in prose with only a bit of blank verse and imagery at the close when the fairy scene is introduced.

It is the ideal of the Stratford-upon-Avon players to show that Shakespeare is not dull and uninteresting, but full of fun, humor, wit and understanding of human nature. To them is the lion's share of the credit for the performance last night. By elimination of the "star" system and schooling of the actors to the idea that "the play's the thing" amazing results are attained. A cast of artists of equal strength, with not a flaw to be picked from the smallest to the largest part, works with a harmony and oneness of purpose, creating an atmosphere of real life, not play acting, that reaches out at once into the audience which responds with an understanding and goodfellowship too seldom engendered in the theatre.

The scenery is not elaborate but adequate and there are no waits after the curtain rises at 8:15. The detail of the costuming and make up is most worthy of note. William Calvert is the Falstaff. Dr. Caius, the French physician, is played by F. R. Benson, who has been directer of art at the Shakespeare Memorial theatre for 25 years. A member from whom much may be expected in other roles is Murray Carrington, who played the jealous Ford. The two scenes that fairly rocked the house with laughter were the duel episode and Falstaff's first adventure when he is carried off in the basket "The Merry wives of Windsor" will be repeated Thursday "King Richard the Second" is the play for tonight.

Lyric Company Warmly Welcomed

An especially warm welcome was extended to the Lyric company playing "The Country Girl" with Edna Marble in the title role. A case of mistaken identity, in which a jockey in disgrace is taken to be a famous composer serves for the plot.

He and his trainer wander into Cherryville and find themselves heartily received at a country home where they are the exclusive boarders at $250 per week. The jockey really is not crooked and, of course, he and the country girl, the daughter of the house, fall in love with one another.

Joe Kemper is the jockey and sings and dances in his usual form, but why does Mr. Kemper not put his hands in his pockets sometimes just for a change? Carrol McFarland is the trainer who looks and acts but is short the dialect of his Murphy part. Arthur Harrison is the farmer and Stella Mayfield his sister, Mehitable.

Much of the comedy is due to Tommy LaRose as Hank, a rube country boy with lines of city wisdom. The Rosebuds make frequent changes of costume, mostly abbreviated, and assist in several numbers. The best musical offerings were "Bring Me Back, Lovin' Honey Boy," with Miss Marble and the chorus, and the "Down on the Farm" duet sung by Mr. Harrison and Mr. LaRose. Three motion pictures preface the company's performance.
