Now that the election is over, the directors of the Festival are already planning to give the queen and her attendants a real dyed-in-the-wool royal send off when they in their special car depart from Portland on May 29 for the tour. Among the propositions ur der consideration is to have each or ganization that backed a candidate for queen to participate in a demonstra-tion, which would include a parade to

The contest enriched the Rose Festival fund by approximately $15,000 and after the expenses incident to the election and tour are paid it is estimated that about between $10,000 and $11,000 will remain in the treasury to g toward the payment of general fiests

Election Aroused General Interest. The election aroused general interest throughout the city. Each gir was backed by an organization and had been selected on account of her personal popularity. The personal phase of the situation was soon lost sight of, however, and the contest resolved itself into a campaign in which organi-zation was pitted against organization. The young women worked night and day, and their friends did the same. During the early weeks of the vot ing coupons were printed in the various newspapers and hundreds of thousands of these were voted. In addition, the Festival association sold votes at rate of 10 for a cent und : stores and theatres gave votes with each purchase or ticket.

When the last week of the campaign rolled around the big ballot box at the festival headquarters was closed and the balloting was secret thereafter.

Ballots Cast by Wholesale. Then the reserve supply of ballots Were cast, and the friends of the candidates began to buy ballots by wholesale, and in some cases the purchases ran up as high as $50 and $100 at a time for votes.

During the official count, which be gan yesterday forenoon, each candidate had an official watcher on hand.

It's Not Giving the Ladies a Square Deal

Think, if you will, how much of a woman's time is spent in her kitchen. Is it fair to expect her to go through another Summer, working in an atmosphere of 100 degrees or more, and toiling over a coal or wood stove which is radiating about 150 degrees of heat?

Are you giving her a Square Deal when you allow her to carry up heavy loads of coal or wood from the basement, and compel her to bother with messy, dirty kindling and ashes?

Picture yourself in a kitchen like this in operation-a Modern Gas Range, especially equipped for any mode of Cooking, no Dirt, no Ashes, no Excessive Labor-a Gas Water Heater supplying you with Unlimited, Inexpensive and Pure Hot Water by simply striking a match.

Order a GAS RANGE and a GAS WATER HEATER today and have at your service a Cool, Comfortable and Sanitary Kitchen.
