

ANTILLA'S CARGO OF WAR MUNITIONS STIRS UP PEACE MEDIATORS

Whether Supplies Sent to Rebels Shall Land or Not Troubles Administration.

VESSEL MAY BE STOPPED

Mediators Said to Consider Halting of Vessel in the Light of a Violation of the Armistice.

By John Edwin Nevlin.
Washington, June 5.—General Carranza was believed here today to be delaying his answer to the "A. B. C." mediators' invitation to the rebels to take part in the American-Mexican peace negotiations until he sees whether or not the steamship Antilla is allowed to land her cargo of war munitions with which it sailed from New York for Tampico. It was reported that the mediators were highly indignant because the Antilla was allowed to sail, but Secretary of State Bryan refused to discuss the matter. As to what course would be adopted with reference to the Antilla on its arrival at Tampico there was much speculation. It was understood that Commodore Anselmo, commanding the Mexican federal gunboat Progresso, Bravo and Zaragoza, would attempt a blockade preventing the ship from entering the harbor.

Blockade Not Tolerated

Nevertheless, Admiral Mayo's present instructions are for the federal forces from blockading the port. Unless they are countermanded, it was expected that the blockade would be maintained and the three gunboats away and on compliance with Azueta's part, it was said, might mean a resumption of hostilities.

On the other hand, Mayo himself would undertake to prevent the landing of the Antilla's cargo. It was understood the rebels would consider he had committed a hostile act.

Seizure of the port, as a means of taking possession of the arms the ship was bringing, as was done at Vera Cruz, it was agreed, would be an actual act of war and so unwilling has the administration shown itself to take such a step that it even permitted the landing of arms and ammunition for President Huerta by the German steamers Bavaria and Yarnanga at Puerto Mexico, Admiral Badger protesting but not interfering.

Violation of Armistice

In the meantime, it was pretty definitely known that the "A. B. C." mediators were pointing out that by permitting the rebels to add to their supplies of arms and ammunition, the administration was practicing a violation of the terms of the American-Mexican armistice.

Altogether the situation was very embarrassing and caused the state department much worry.

Secretary Bryan admitted that he knew the Southern Pacific steamship El Rio was leaving New York today with a cargo of munitions and he insisted it was bound for Galveston and not for any Mexican port.

Ignoring the Antilla matter, members of the rebel junta here today thought Carranza's delay in answering the "A. B. C." mediators was due to his desire to perfect his provisional government first. He was on his way from Durango to Saltillo today to do this.

Police Will March on Inspection Day

Public Invited to See Bluecoats Make Their Best Appearance in Armory and on Principal Streets.

After the inspection of the police Saturday at the Armory, the entire department will march to the police station, passing through the downtown district in order to give those unable to attend the inspection opportunity to review the department.

The line of march will be from the Armory south on Eleventh street to Washington, east to Sixth, south to Morrison, east to Third, thence north to Oak street, where the men will disband. The parade will be led by the mounted squad under command of Sergeant Oate. The police band will follow the horsemen, then 200 members of the department.

At the Armory the drills will be directed by Captain John T. Moore, senior captain. The mayor, city council and police commissioners will inspect the men. The public is invited.

Coroner to Inquire Into Door Plant Fire

Deputy Coroner Dunning announced yesterday afternoon that an inquest will be held to inquire into the cause of the fire that destroyed the North-west Door company building, and resulted in the drowning of two men. The men are William Sterling and Alex Balough, Jr., employed by the company.

A report that the fire originated from a spark blown from smoldering debris of the Columbia dock fire, and why this fire was allowed to smolder will be phases of the inquiry, which is scheduled to begin this afternoon.

Says Wed Actress When Drugged

Los Angeles Man Arrested on Bigamy Charge by Wife, Who at Once Tells Him Out.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 5.—That he was drugged and knew nothing of the events of the last few days is the defense today of Lawrence Converse, who left his wife and two babies to marry Reatha Watson Lytle, of San Diego, a beautiful motion picture actress. Converse was arrested late yesterday on a charge of bigamy, preferred by his legal wife, who then furnished his bail. He spent last night at his own home.

According to Converse's own story, he had been drinking heavily for two weeks because of business troubles. He claims that he must have been drugged in a saloon. He declared that he regained his senses early yesterday, after he had spent the night under an orange tree in the yard. He went to his mother's home, and thence to his own. Mrs. Lytle, or Converse, has not been found since the wedding Wednesday night. She is believed to be in Los Angeles.

PIPE LINE BUILDERS SUE CITY FOR LARGE SUM FOR "EXTRAS"

Schaw-Batcher Company, of Sacramento, Plaintiff in Action Filed Today.

The city of Portland is made defendant in a suit for $230,629.37 filed in the federal court today by the Schaw-Batcher company, general contractors of Sacramento, to which payment for numerous "extras" claimed to have been incurred by the plaintiffs in the construction of the second Bull Run pipe line, supplying the city with water.

The suit is for $199,620.40, but interest of $30,000 from November 4, 1931, to June 4, 1934, is asked in addition. The suit was filed by the legal firm of Platt & Platt.

Eleven different causes why the payment should be made are cited in the complaint. In the first, $10,000 is asked because the city engineer prohibited use of sufficient explosives in blasting for fear that the other line would be injured. Because one set of plans was sent to the pipe works and another to the field engineer, the complaint charges, the pipe did not fit and now $7000 is asked for the trouble taken in reworking.

Additional money is asked because of right of way changes made at Gresham, which caused the contractors to counter unusual difficulties. Two claims aggregating $49,000 for the extra cost of manufacturing the pipe because the city was late in getting its plans and profiles to the factory, are made. The bill alleges that the delay caused the factory to work so hard to come up to the contract that the men went on a strike for more wages.

Another change in the route cited in the ninth cause of action cost the contractors $10,000 more, it is alleged. A period of delay caused overhead extra expense of $11,000, the bill cites.

In the last claim the complaint avers that the contractors are entitled to $5,000 in bonuses. It is claimed that the contractors had the work done about 90 days ahead of time, but the city tied up the final steps of completion because it did not furnish the plans in time.

Singer's Secret Is Not Disclosed

Counter Accusations Not Permitted Today in Mms. Schumann-Heink's Divorce Hearing in Chicago.

Chicago, June 5.—Reference to a "mysterious secret" in Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink's life was others, pleaded guilty in Judge Bean's court today in the divorce hearing of the songstress' suit for divorce from William Rapp Jr.

The reference occurred in a letter from Rapp to his wife and the former's counsel threatened to explain what it meant. To this Mms. Schumann-Heink's lawyer objected vigorously and the court ruled that, for today at any rate, the defense would be permitted only to meet the vocalist's charges of misconduct against her husband. Later, it was stated, Rapp might make counter accusations if he chose.

The deposition of Benjamin Maples, a detective, was read in the course of the forenoon. It related to visits Rapp was said to have made to the New York apartments of Mrs. Katherine Dean, to whom it was charged he was attentive.

Year in Prison for Theft of Mona Lisa

Florence, Italy, June 5.—Vincenzo Perugia, who stole the "Mona Lisa" from the Paris Louvre, was sentenced today to 1 year and 15 days' imprisonment. From this he will be deducted six months he has already spent in jail.

The penalty would have been heavier but for Perugia's plea of extenuating circumstances. These were that the painting was originally part of the loot taken from Italy by French soldiers, that he thought Italy was entitled to recover it, that he gave it up without exacting a price, and that it was again back in Paris.

BRIDE'S MOTHER FAINTS

San Mateo, Cal., June 5.—Dan L. Fudge, a wealthy young cattleman, and Miss Diva Bell, secretary of the famous women's grand jury of San Mateo, county, several months ago, were the principals in an elopement here. The mother of the bride fainted when told of her marriage.

DEMOCRATS ELECT WHITTEN DELEGATE AFTER A HARD FIGHT

Determined Attempt to Put in Opposing Man Proves Unsuccessful.

PROXY BALLOT RULED OUT

Selection of Delegate to State Central Committee Cause of County Committee Fireworks.

Meeting at the Central library last night to elect a delegate to the state central committee the new county Democratic central committee proved itself to be one of the widest awake organizations that has appeared in the public view for some time.

From the opening of the meeting to its close it was a fight, but George H. Watson, the new chairman, demonstrated his ability in controlling a tempestuous body.

Although it was evident from the first that the election of F. C. Whittens would be a determined effort was made by one faction led by Robert Caples and M. Murphy to put over another candidate. Whittens, however, was elected.

The fight began just after the roll call of delegates. Secretary Frank Lee stated that of the 125 delegates whose election had been certified to by the county clerk, 15 were Republicans and 17 were not registered at all, while only 90 were straight, qualified Democratic electors.

He then declared that all but the 90 would have to be eliminated from the committee, with the exception of those delegates appointed to the committee to fill vacancies.

An attempt was made later in the evening to vote a proxy, but the chairman immediately ruled that no proxies would be allowed, declaring that if a member of the committee did not take enough interest to be present at one of its meetings, his vote could not be counted. He further stated that the proxy system would enable one man to gather a pocket full of proxies and control meetings.

After it was found that this ruling of the chair could not be changed F. C. Whittens declared the Jackson club was declared elected over C. L. Dagget. The fight for Whittens' election was led by Alva L. McDonald, Judge Oglesby Young and George I. Smith.

Following the business session addresses were made by John A. Jeffery, Municipal Judge John Stevenson, G. H. Harry and others. The next morning the election will be held when the county clerk has completed the official count on precinct committees.

Wisconsin Floods Endanger Towns

Dams Burst on Black River, Concrete Levees Swept Away—Four Feet of Water in Streets of Owens.

Greenwood, Wis., June 5.—Several towns along the Black river, including Greenwood, were in danger today of being swept away by a flood. More than 250 feet of concrete levee, four miles from here, were swept away, and the mills of the Withee Lumber company have been torn down by a bursting dam.

Four feet of water is rushing through the streets of Owens, 15 miles north of here.

CHAMBER WILL URGE RELIEF FOR SETTLERS

Homestead Act Considered Too Rigorous, Especially in Timbered Sections West of Cascade Mountains.

Relief for homesteaders in western Oregon, home of the rigors of the homestead act was recommended today by the trustees of the Portland Chamber of Commerce. Conditions west of the Cascades, where vegetation grows so much more heavily than in eastern Oregon, make the clearing of as much land as the homestead act requires a most onerous task, it was pointed out, and the United States senators will be asked to seek an amendment of the law.

The trustees also recommended to the Oregon delegation in congress that it work for appropriations to improve the Yaquina Bay bar and the river up as far as Toledo.

Fines Imposed on O-W. R. & N. Co.

Failure to Report the Overtime Service of Its Employees Resulted in Several Judgments.

Judgments against the O-W. R. & N. company aggregating $3,300 for violations of the interstate commerce laws, have been returned within the last 24 hours in Judge Bean's division of the federal court. Yesterday afternoon a suit containing large number of charges of failure to report overtime service on the part of employees was contested, but after it had progressed a while, Judge Bean directed a verdict in favor of the government on the ground that the railroad company had insufficient evidence to refute the government's charges. In another case a whole train crew worked overtime, the violation was not reported, the railroad company confessed judgment and the fine of $250, each man, $50, was ordered paid. In another case a telegraph operator worked too long and the railroad company, admitting the violation, was assessed $100, the statutory fine.

WIDE VARIANCE FOUND IN ACCOUNTS OF WHAT HAPPENED TO VICTIM

The Rev. Otis Spurgeon Accuses Robert Owens of Being Ringleader of Mob.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Denver, June 5.—The district court here was packed today at the resumption of the trial of Robert Owens, one of 10 men charged with abducting the Rev. Otis Spurgeon, a representative of the Knights of Luther, on the night of April 5, following a lecture by Spurgeon attacking the Catholic priesthood.

Spurgeon testified yesterday that Owens seemed to be the leader of the mob who entered his room at the Pierce hotel, put a strap about his neck and dragged him outside. Spurgeon swore that he was driven to Henderson, Adams county, badly beaten, partially disrobed and robbed of $10. He denied that he had said that "all priests are white slaves."

The testimony at today's hearing was very contradictory.

Former Deputy Sheriff A. B. McElroy testified that at 8 o'clock on the night of April 5, he saw Owens enter the Pierce hotel and emerge later dragging Spurgeon by the collar. He said Owens was accompanied by several other men.

Sam Biggs and C. L. Harding swore they were with Spurgeon when Owens and the other men entered the room and dragged the minister away.

The defense attempted to establish an alibi. Mrs. Owens testified that her husband was at home the entire evening in question after 6:30 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Ryley, who said they were guests at the Owens' home that evening, corroborated Mrs. Owens testimony.

CITY GOVERNMENT IS TO TAKE ACTIVE PART IN ROSE FESTIVAL

Friday Will Be Holiday and the Employees Will Join in Big Parade.

Each of Big Balloons Will Carry Flock of Birds Which Will Be Released at Intervals.

With Friday declared a holiday by the mayor, arrangements are being made to have all the official government of Portland take an active part in the final day of Rose Festival.

All departments will be closed at the city hall and a number of the city employees will march in the big day parade which will be the crown jewel of that city today. Rose Festival officials received a letter from Mayor H. H. Rose this morning thanking them for a box of roses sent in care of Captain Magoon of the steamer Beaver, and promising the girls a royal welcome.

Starting tomorrow at 7 a. m. Sixth street between Yamhill and Salmon streets, will be closed for one week. The street will be entirely roped off, and automobile parking will not be permitted within these blocks, which are set aside for the Festival center, the heart and core of the whole Festival. Jesse A. Curry, director in charge, announced his four assistants, one for each day of the Fiesta, this morning. They are: Tuesday, H. W. McLean; Wednesday, R. H. Thomas; Thursday, N. G. Pike, and Friday, H. J. Blasen.

PIGEONS TO CARRY NEWS

Verdict for Defendant.

A jury in Judge McGinn's court late yesterday found for the Portland Taxicab company, in a personal damage suit for $10,000 brought against it by J. G. Hammer. A few months ago Hammer visited the company's building on Union avenue to examine an auto truck and fell into a pit being dug for an elevator shaft. The company put up a defense that Hammer did not exercise ordinary prudence.

BLOODHOUNDS TRAIL GUSTAV ASCHOFF

Indications Are That Young Man Is Walking Across Mountains Towards Eastern Oregon.

Bloodhounds have found a trail indicating that Gustav Aschoff, a 19-year-old youth, who disappeared from his home last week, is walking toward eastern Oregon through the Salmon east of Marmart, his home, according to a telephone message received by Sheriff Word today.

Aschoff left his home several days ago and a two-day search through the mountains failed to reveal any trace of him, and his parents believed he had committed suicide on account of a fancied slight on the part of his brother and father.

Prepared by the children, while the boys of the trades schools are constructing a float as an example of their handicraft.

W. J. Hoffman, prince regent of Rosarion, received a letter from Governor West this morning, stating that Mrs. West and he would be pleased to accept the invitation of the Rosarion to be guests on the Rosarion's private car.

Queen Thelma and her 11 princesses arrived in Los Angeles this morning, and will be entertained by the people of that city today. Rose Festival officials received a letter from Mayor H. H. Rose this morning thanking them for a box of roses sent in care of Captain Magoon of the steamer Beaver, and promising the girls a royal welcome.

PIGEONS MAKE RECORD TIME

The first trial of the homing pigeons to be used by the four air pilots in the big national balloon race which is to be a feature of the Rose Festival was successfully completed Wednesday, the pigeons coming home from Kalamazoo, Wash., in record time.

Each of the big aerostats will carry a flock of these "homers," one to be liberated at specified intervals in order that Portland may be kept informed as to the progress of each balloon in the race. The pigeons will be shipped to Centralia tomorrow for a second trial, and to Seattle Sunday for a third and final trial before the race Thursday. The birds are being furnished by Ralph Warren of the Oregon Homing Pigeon club.

Chief of Police Clark has promised to furnish a special squad of police to handle the crowd at the start, that the air pilots may be certain of getting away without interference.

Due to the presence of thousands of cubic feet of gas, smoking among the spectators will be absolutely prohibited.

CHAPIN DEFENDANT IN A FORECLOSURE SUIT ON $3500 MORTGAGE

Papers Served While Accused in Larceny by Bailee Case Is in Court.

State Seeks to Show, by Records, That Company Was Running Behind Thousands of Dollars.

W. H. Chapin, a realty man on trial in Judge Kavanaugh's department of the circuit court, for larceny by bailee of $3500, was made a defendant in a mortgage foreclosure suit filed this morning against him and his wife by James Shepard. The papers were served on Chapin in court and he showed in addition he has been compelled to pay $67.50 in taxes to protect his rights. The forenoon session of the trial was consumed in arguments of attorneys regarding the question whether the books of the firm of Chapin-Herlow Mortgage & Trust company should be admitted as evidence.

The state desires this as it hopes to show by the books that the company was running behind thousands of dollars. At Chapin's first trial recently, which the jury disagreed, the defense introduced the books as evidence, but since the state has gone over them is averse to having them brought into the case.

Yesterday Mrs. William Grace, who with her husband entrusted the money to Chapin and Herlow, was on the stand. She testified that she had known Chapin for years and how Chapin and his partner, E. C. Herlow, came to them and offered to handle her husband's business affairs in 1910 after Grace had become incapacitated for business by illness. She listened to them and consented and the present criminal charges against Chapin and

A Carr, a steamship man, went on trial in Judge Morrow's court today on a charge of passing a worthless check on David A. Pentecost, a local merchant. It is charged he secured $375 on a check when he had only a few dollars in the bank. Carr, it is said, will set up a defense that he believed he had sufficient funds in the bank to cover the amount. The jury was selected this morning.
