UNWILLING TO ABIDE BY PROXIES' DECISION, COMMITTEEMEN QUIT

Failure to Capture Control of Democratic County Central Committee, Cause.

TWENTY-SIX QUIT RANKS

Robert A. Caples and Followers Desert to Standards of Iroquois Club, of Which Former is President.

Like a house built of playing cards the attempt of Robert A. Caples to gain control of the Democratic county central committee has collapsed.

Yesterday he and 25 of his followers in the committee tendered their resignations to Frank Lee, secretary of the committee, because proxies were not recognized at Thursday night's meeting.

Unwilling to abide by the decision of the committee and to support the regularly elected chairman, Caples and his crowd have deserted the committee in favor of a so-called political and social organization known as the Iroquois club, of which Caples is the president.

Renegade Politics Seen.

Caples' action and his new club are regarded as further evidence of the renegade politics he has played in the past. Although a regularly elected Democratic county committeeman, he is now head of an organization which has as its avowed purpose the support of candidates endorsed by a majority of the club members, regardless of the candidate's political affiliation.

As a member of the county committee it would seem incongruous in Caples that he support the Democratic candidates, yet, it is pointed out, he has been busy for the past month fathering an organization to support any candidate of any political faith, as long as the club by a majority vote indorses him.

Names of Those Who Resigned. Signing the blanket resignations with Caples were 25 other members of the committee, 25 in all, and it is announced forthwith that 25 have joined the Iroquois club, but as Caples is already a member it means that all 26 are members of the organization.

The committee who resigned are: J. B. Dunn, precinct 224; Charles Fitzlerald, 131; C. W. Gray, 124; Joseph Brooks, 9; E. T. Staley, 54; C. H. Vyse, 192; H. Morris, 25; E. Manning, 84; C. L. Daggett, 258; E. S. Miller, 30; Matt P. Murphy, 268; G. W. Lawhorn, 142; T. B. Fuller, 128; Henry Vadnais, 209; Ray Mansfield, 23; E. J. Smith, 19; C. E. Jessup, 192; R. A. Caples, 46; William Millon, 189; George C. Jackson, 227; Frank, Roudou, 235; W. E. Reynolds, 51; C. E. Zalko, 192; Wright, 6; and W. B. Donahue, 268, although the last named was neither elected or appointed according to the roll kept by the secretary of the committee.

Caples' Name Heads List.

It is significant, too, the resignation of the group was penned by Caples and that his name heads the list of signatures showing that he completely dominates the men in question.

Although Caples was chosen on the committee and was willing to serve therein until he could show that he could not gain his ambition to control the body, it is readily seen that he shifts with the breeze, while he is recognized as a turncoat by most of the members of the party he claims.

Not less than a month ago he was acting as campaign manager for John Manning, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination; now he is open in his opposition to the successful candidate, Dr. C. J. Smith and to Senator George E. Chamberlain, candidate for re-election to the United States senate.

Furthermore he is working for R. A. Booth, the Republican candidate against Chamberlain, and yet he was willing to accept a place on a Democratic central committee until his plans to gain control of it were thwarted.

Past Record Bared.

Caples' past political record is enough to stamp him as a party renegade, for in 1910 he acted as manager for Jefferson Myers in his race for the Democratic nomination for governor, but when Myers was defeated by Governor West, Caples turned right around and joined the forces working for Jay Bowerman, the Republican candidate.

His new Iroquois club is believed to be an organization for the control of votes in his hands and its very nature robs any member of his independence in voting. Caples is president, R. W. Hubbler, vice president, J. B. Dunn, secretary, and Charles H. Vyse, treasurer. All with the exception of Hubbler are included among those who resigned yesterday from the county central committee.

This fact, too, is taken to show that Caples and his Iroquois club sought domination of the committee but as previously stated his attempt failed and he and his kindred committeemen have withdrawn from the committee on a pretext which has deep nourished scheme to hold the Democratic central committee under his thumb collapsed.

Police Inspection Attended by Scores Mayor Albee Expresses Entire Satisfaction With Showing Made by the Patrolmen.

A large number of men and women attended the annual inspection of the police department yesterday at the Armory. The department was inspected by Mayor Albee and the city commissioners and the police captain, Captain John T. Moore, senior captain and drillmaster, has been drilling the policemen for several weeks for the occasion.
