

BUILDER OF ACADEMY AT MT. ANGEL FILES SUIT AGAINST SISTERS

Disagreement Over Amount of Large Freight Bill Paid on Material One of Causes.

ORAL CONTRACT DISPUTED

Constructor Alleges Benedictine Society Did Not Pay for Changes Which Were Ordered.

In a suit filed in the State Circuit court to recover $19,453.79 from the Benedictine Sisters for work and materials in connection with the construction of Mt. Angel academy, Edward Killefeather, a contractor, alleges, among other things, that the sisters got half freight rates from the South-western Pacific, on materials shipped to Mt. Angel, and charged him the full rates. This he declares amounted to an overcharge of half the rate against him. He explains that the materials were to be supplied to the sisters by the material men T. O. B. Mt. Angel. On presentation of his freight receipts showing payment of the half rate, the material men, he asserts, refunded him only the amount called for by the receipts. When he presented his bills to the sisters, however, he charges that the sisters deducted the full freight rate. The freight bill he asserts totaled about $2,700 but the sisters charged him in the neighborhood of $1,400.

The complaint alleges that the sisters, who are an incorporation, secured the rate on the grounds that the organization is a charitable institution. The complainant asserts the institution is not charitable inasmuch as tuition is charged pupils and therefore under the law the rate secured was not legal. Ten thousand dollars of the amount he seeks to recover is for materials and expenses incident to the performance of duties which fell usually on a general contractor, he says, and which were not provided for in his contract. In this connection, he says, his contract called for the brick masonry and plastering work only, but on the definite promise of the Mother Agatha, the sister superior, and others in authority, to the effect that he would be amply paid, he performed the duties of general contractor as well. When he made demands for his money, the complaint asserts, he was paid $24,602.02, leaving him still due under his written contracts something like $1000. This amount was withheld by the sisters, he says, to meet some claim. His demand for expenses incident to general contracting work were refused, he charges. Arbitration was agreed on but this came to naught and the present suit is a result.

Eminent Baritone Made Doctor of Laws

Portland Friend of Distinguished Singer Receives Letter Telling of Honor Paid by Haverford College.

David S. Bishop, the distinguished American baritone, is about to become a doctor of law.

In a letter to a personal friend, William G. Oberbauer, of 69 1/2 Everett street, this city, the singer writes from Chicago, under date of June 4, in his characteristic, forceful way:

"And now you'll be hoarse for me, if you like, for I am about to have conferred upon me by Haverford college the honorary degree of doctor of laws. In recognition of my services to art and education. Well, I didn't know I had rendered any; but, seeing that they feel that way about it, I will not decline the distinction. Indeed, I am mighty proud of it."

The letter was dated June 4, and conveyed congratulations to Mr. Oberbauer upon the arrival of a baby in the Oberbauer family, the baby being the son of Mrs. E. Rose Miller, of Hood River, and Mr. Oberbauer's first grand son.

Haverford college is at Bryn Mawr, Pa., and is one of the foremost institutions of learning in the United States.

Essay Winners to Receive Cash Prizes

Presentation to Be Made Tonight to Those Who Won Contest Held by W. C. T. U.

Portland public school pupils who wrote prize winning essays on temperance will receive tonight the cash prizes offered by the Multnomah County Women's Christian Temperance Union, in the Central Library building. At the gathering of the prize winning essays will be read also:

The winners: Harold Young, Jefferson high school; Donald Nelson, Washington high school; William Fordyce, Lincoln high school; Isabel Anderson, Franklin high school; Clarissa Wilson, St. Johns high school.

In the grades the prize is equally divided between Martha Skull, of the Davis school, and Winnifred Meade, of Holman.

The prizes will be presented by Dr. R. C. Coffey, and among those who will speak are Dr. Calvin White, secretary of the state health board; Superintendent Boyd, of St. Johns, and Principal Herdman, of the Washington high school.

Osteopaths to Hold Annual Convention

Reading of Papers, Demonstrations of Technique Among Important Business to Be Transacted.

The Osteopathic Association of Oregon will meet in annual convention next Friday and Saturday at the Hotel Multnomah. Reading of papers, discussions of given topics and demonstrations along many important lines will occupy the two daily sessions of the society.

Dr. R. H. Moore, secretary of the Oregon Hygiene society, will address the association at the Friday forenoon session.

The demonstrations in technique will be divided into sections in laboratory, methods of diagnosis, including X-ray demonstrations, will be an important feature of the meeting.

It is expected that the association will put up a fight to maintain Dr. A. J. Van Brakle's right as health officer of Clackamas county.
