WILL REBUILD THE CITY

Citizens Show Spirit of Hope in Face of Great Loss—Plan to Make Ban-don More Conspicuous on Map.

Bandon, Or., June 12.—With three blocks of buildings in the main business section of Bandon burned to the ground by yesterday's fire, representing a loss of a quarter of a million dollars, less than 20 per cent covered by insurance, and with more than one-third of the mercantile houses of the city put out of business, the much advertised progressive spirit of Bandon prevails more strongly than ever before. The citizens, in the midst of the ruin, plan putting Bandon on the map more conspicuously than in the past. Before the flames had entirely extinguished there appeared on the side of a partially destroyed warehouse, a large banner bearing the words, "Cheer Up! Remember San Francisco Recovered."

The loss is a particularly heavy burden for many in the little city. About 16 buildings and their contents were destroyed, and almost as many more damaged, so that the main corner of the city appeared about as it did 20 years ago. Men who counted themselves in comfortable circumstances are now broke, but encouragement is extended by the more fortunate, and offers of capital for reinvestment have been received from neighboring cities. The financial sufferers declared that there will be built a better city than before.

In the Bandon hospital, which was destroyed, there were nine patients, who were carried from the burning building and removed in automobiles to the resident district. Dr. Houston, the physician in charge, remained in attendance upon a patient about to become a mother while the fire was raging, without making efforts to save $15,000 worth of the equipment and household goods which was burned in the same block.

Several merchants have opened up in temporary quarters, and some of the property owners at once made plans for rebuilding. Those who lost everything say they anticipate there will be no difficulty in securing capital for rebuilding and reestablishment. The destruction of the city was frustrated by the flames being prevented from spreading in three directions by concrete buildings, which acted as fire walls. The city gives credit to the tug Kiyman and the heroic work of Captain Johnson's life-saving crew for extinguishing the fire.

Graeco-Turkish War Is Imminent

New Turkish Minister of War Doing
His Best to Reorganize Army, and Is Bringing It to High Efficiency.

Constantinople, June 12.—Commenting on the London Times assertion that conditions in the Balkans are becoming acute again, and its prediction that another war between Turkey and Greece is near, Turks in close touch with the government here said today that it would not surprise them if hostilities should break out before the end of the summer.

Enver Bey, it was stated, unquestionably was given the war ministry a few months ago with a view to reorganizing the army thoroughly; and, with the help of the Occidental military experts he has employed, it was said he is rapidly bringing it to a point of high efficiency.

The feeling here was that in its next fight Turkey would give a far better account of itself than in the last Balkan struggle.

Two Women Seek California Office

Rival Members of Los Angeles County
Women's Republican Club Want
Nomination For Lieutenant Governor

Los Angeles, Cal., June 12.—Following an announcement by Mrs. Helen K. Williams, of San Francisco, of her candidacy for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, friends of Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz, a Los Angeles attorney, believe today that she will be a candidate for the same office.

Mrs. Williams' formal announcement was made late yesterday at a meeting of the Los Angeles County Women's Republican club. Her candidacy was not endorsed by the club, because of a division of favor with Mrs. Foltz, who has not yet made a definite statement of her intentions.

And So They Were Married.
Baltimore, June 12.—The Rev. Dr. R. P. Kerr, Presbyterian, refused at the last moment to marry F. B. Griswold and Mrs. Alice Gerry Stewart because Mrs. Stewart was divorced, but the Rev. W. A. Price, another Presbyterian, tied the knot.
