JUNE brides will have center stage this week. Beginning with Monday evening there will be three weddings of unusual interest, Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Each bride-elect is counted foremost in popularity and beauty in the younger set of smart society until the very adjectives pale before the task of adequate description which confronts them.

John Felling and J. Frank Bell, immediately following the dinner, a reception will be held for Dr. Wilson, which the general public is invited to attend. Speakers of the evening will be William M. Ladd, Dr. Joseph R. Wilson, James F. Ewing, Dr. John H. Boyd, Frank Branch Riley and Isaac D. Hunt.

Mrs. John G. Ladd was a luncheon hostess Friday afternoon at her home in Flanders street. Garden flowers decked the table at which were seated: Mrs. Gordon Voorhies, Mrs. Ernest F. Tucker, Mrs. Frank E. Hart, Mrs. J. Jay Morrow, Mrs. William L. Brewster, Mrs. Alexander A. Morrison, Mrs. E. T. C. Stevens, Miss Van Winkle of San Francisco, Miss Carrie Flanders, and the hostess.

Mrs. Gordon Voorhies and her four children returned home last week from the east. Mrs. Voorhies went east to accompany her children home from school and was away about four weeks in all. Miss Margaret Voorhies was in Europe at Miss May's travel school of Florence and Paris; Miss Marlon was in Miss Spence's school in New York and her two sons were in Midwestern school, Concord, Mass.

Mrs. Helen Higbee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Higbee. She is a lovely girl, accomplished and exceptionally pretty. of the blond haired and blue eyed type. She attended both the universities of Washington and Oregon, and is a popular member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Mr. DeNeff is well known in Portland, where he has resided for the last six or eight years. He lived formerly in Spokane. He was graduated from the University of Michigan in '04, where he was a Phi Alpha Delta man. He has practiced law in Portland for the past six years.

Miss Grace Honeyman, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Honeyman and Alfred Anthony Aya will be married tomorrow evening at eight o'clock at the Honeyman residence in King street. The ceremony will be read by the Rev. Father O'Hara at 8 o'clock. Miss Helen Honeyman, a cousin of the bride, who has just returned home from school at Miss Spence's in New York, will be the only attendant to the bride and John Wheeler of Prineville, Or., will act as best man. Miss Evelyn Carey and Miss Barbara MacKenzie, who are the most intimate friends of the bride, will stand with the wedding party.

Mrs. Margaret Marlarkey made a rarely beautiful bride Wednesday evening when she was married to Vernon Cartwright of London, England, at her home on Portland Heights. The Rev. Father George Thompson of the Madeleine church officiating. Miss Marlarkey is a debutante of this season and she has been unusually popular. She is clever and accomplished and her beauty is of the fair and luminous orchid type. She took her place before an altar of dainty pink ramblers where Father Thompson read the ceremony. She wore a gown of exquisite simplicity. The skirt of ivory toned chiffon satin hung in soft folds to a medium length oval train. The bodice was of delicate Carrickmacross lace built over soft brides' tulle. Her veil was fashioned in a Juliet cap with a band of orange blossoms and fell to the hem of her train. She carried a handsome shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and maiden-hair fern.

Mrs. Leroy H. Parker and Mrs. John E. Dickson will entertain jointly Thursday afternoon with a large and elaborately appointed tea.

Monday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock Mrs. Edward E. Courson and her daughter, Miss Geraldine Courson received over 300 guests at their charming home in Lovejoy street. Flowers in lovely profusion graced the music room where Mrs. Courson and her daughter received. A color scheme of yellow and blue was most effectively carried out with Spanish broom and blue delphinium with the tall and graceful Passadena ferns as a background. Mrs. Courson and her daughter wore dainty shoulder bouquets of yellow roses and maiden hair fern with sprays of the white gypsophila. Mrs. Courson was handsomely attired in Alice blue crepe de chine elaborated with Venetian lace and jeweled girdle. Miss Courson wore a becoming gown in Tango shaded crepe meter with a wide band of deep green satin and silver lace and bodice of shadow lace. Assisting about the room were Miss Gretchen Klotterman, Miss Jean Martin, Miss Gutherie Butlerfield, Miss V'ona Gutscher, Miss Constance Piper, Miss Kathleen Sealy and Miss Jessie McLean. They wore charming summer frocks and each wore a dainty shoulder bouquet in yellow roses.

Next Saturday evening Miss Helen Honeyman, chaperoned by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Honeyman, will entertain for a bevy of the young people who are home from eastern schools.

Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett will preside at an elaborate luncheon Tuesday afternoon at her home in Sixty street for the pleasure of Mrs. Carter Pitkin Pomeroy.

Mrs. William M. Ladd will receive at an elaborate garden party June 26 honoring her daughter-in-law, Mrs. William Sargent Ladd (nee Babcock) of New York, who has come out for the summer months. The Ladd place, "Cedarhurst," at Riverdale is famous for its beautiful gardens. Mrs. Ladd's "May Walks" on May day having been annual events for many years, always much anticipated by the smart set.

A faraway dinner given in honor of Dr. Joseph R. Wilson, retiring principal of the Portland academy, will be held at the Hotel Multnomah, Thursday evening, June 25, 1914, at 8:30 o'clock. All former students are invited to be present. The committee in charge of the dinner consists of Ralph J. Hurlburt, president of the Alumni association; A. G. Labbe, Dr. G. Norman Pease,

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Nitchey were charming hosts of Monday evening when they entertained about 30 couples at a dancing party at the Waverly Golf club. The beauty of the evening without and the flower bedecked rooms of the club house combined to make the affair an unusually enjoyable one. About the lounging room and dining room of the club pink and lavender Canterbury bells combined with greens were the effective decorations. Supper was served at a quarter of 11 o'clock and dancing continued until 12:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Malarkey, the parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Holman, uncle and aunt of the bridegroom, received with the bridal party.
