Break in Big 20-Inch Main Causes Drouth in Large Section of City.

PRESSURE ON LATE TODAY

Break Caused by Tapping Machine Which Fell Onto and Broke Large Conduit.

Owing to a break in the 20 inch water pipe at East Thirtieth and East Stark streets, thousands of residents of Laurelhurst, Beaumont, Irvington, and portions of Albina will be without Bull Run water until late this afternoon. Men are working on the break and expect to have service resumed in a few hours.

The break was the result of an accident which occurred shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. Men were working over the big pipe in a trench when a tapping machine came loose from its fastening and fell into the trench, breaking the big conduit. Water had to be shut off immediately.

The break in the pipe gave the telephone operators in the city hall more work than they had in many months. People by the hundreds telephoned to the city hall to inquire why there was no water available.

Runaway Youngster Caught by Deputy

"Jimmy" Erickson, Who Left Home a Week Ago, Found Picking Berries at Gates Crossing.

That 10-year-old "Jimmy" Erickson is a brave youngster will be testified to by Sheriff Deputy Gates of Gates Crossing. Little Jimmy left a note a week ago yesterday telling his mother, Mrs. Lottie Erickson, 183 Morrison street, that he was going to his "buddies" and that he was leaving because she did not love him any more.

Gates observed a boy in his neighborhood several days ago picking berries and seemingly without a home. He watched him for some time and finally picked the little fellow up. "I'll get a policeman if you don't leave me alone," the boy yelled as Gates caught him. When Gates showed him the star the boy began to fight.

"I don't care if you have got a star," he cried, and he fought with Gates and he did so until he became tired. Gates brought him to town this morning and turned him over to the juvenile court, where he was positively identified. He was sent to the Fraser home until complaints concerning his home have been investigated.

Lower Rates Sought.

Reduction of carload log rates from Cochran to Oswego on the P., R. & N. railway from $2.40 a thousand feet to $1.50 is asked in a complaint by the Oregon-Kansas Timber company now being heard by the state railroad commission. The Southern Pacific and P., R. & N. are defendants, and say that the rates are equitable considering the distance and the fact that the company alleges that other points receive lower rates. The distance of the haul in question is 65.4 miles.

By agreement between State Treasurer Kay and the Herman Klaber estate, heirs of Herman Klaber will pay the state inheritance taxes amounting to $2800. The agreement provided that the tax should have been greater by over $1000 and the estate contended that it should have been less, but the agreement was reached by the heirs taking the matter into the court. Mr. Klaber was a victim of the Titanic disaster of April 14, 1912. His property in Oregon was estimated of the net value of $224,585.58. Personal property in Washington was valued at about $100,000.

Herlow, in his defense, testified that the money was borrowed from the Grace for the company and was received as a straight loan.

For nearly a block Decozia fled pursued by screaming neighbors. He fell to the ground and tried to smother the flames with his coat, but Decozia tried to embrace him and the man fled for his home. Death was but a matter of a few hours, the doctors at the hospital said.

Talking to Men in Grill Not Vagrancy

Judge Stevenson Discharges Two Women Arrested in Raid on Restaurant; Man Will Sue City for Damages.

That the conduct of girls in flitting from table to table and talking to strangers in grill rooms is quite improper, but does not constitute a charge of vagrancy, is the opinion of Municipal Judge Stevenson, who yesterday afternoon listened to the evidence in the Richards grill raid case. Six girls and one man were before the court on vagrancy charges, in which the man and two women were discharged, while the cases of the other four girls were continued until Thursday.

S. Miles, promoter of two telephone lines in eastern Oregon, Grace Schwartz and Josephine Dixon were discharged. Miles says he will bring damages suit against the city. He is also survived by his father and mother.

Funeral arrangements have not as yet been completed.

Fix New Rules of School Standards

Committee Appointed by City Superintendent Reports to State School Superintendent.

(Salem Bureau of the Journal.) Salem, Or., June 22.—Rules and regulations for the standardization of the high schools of the state were reported today to State School Superintendent J. A. Churchill by the committee appointed by the department of city superintendents of the State Teachers' association at its meeting in Salem last December. Dolly Levins on Stand in Trial

Testifies That Bossen Tried to Kiss Her Before and After the Death of His Wife—Was Attentive.

Eugene, Or., June 22.—There was nothing sensational in the testimony introduced this morning by the state in the trial of Andrew Bossen, charged with the murder of his wife, Edith. Marie Hendricks testified this morning that she did not hear Mrs. Bossen often talk about her husband's behavior, but that Dolly Levins had told her that.

Dolly Levins testified that Bossen was kind to his wife and helped a great deal with the work she was doing all of it. She also said that Bossen tried to kiss her after the funeral of Mrs. Bossen, and that Bossen had often tried to kiss her before.

Mrs. A. A. Holland said she went into the room where Mrs. Bossen was dying and that the latter exclaimed: "Andrew has poisoned me; take good care of little Stanley."

Mrs. Nellie Levins, mother of the dead woman, and Mrs. Winnie L. Hughes stated that Bossen was attentive and showed deep grief over his wife's death, but Mrs. Hughes corroborated testimony of others as to Mrs. Bossen's dying statement. The testimony introduced yesterday afternoon by the state consisted of statements of the coroner and the undertaker who cared for Mrs. Bossen's body.

CLOTHING FACTORY IS REACHING OUT AFTER TAILORING BUSINESS

J. L. Bowman Co., Largest Manufacturer of Northwest Adds New Department.

300 AGENCIES PLACED

Portland Concern Expresses—Ready Made Goods for Own Stores.

Following the lead of the ready made clothing manufacturing houses throughout the country, the J. L. Bowman company, leading clothing manufacturing concern of the Pacific northwest, has added a tailoring department and is reaching out for that branch of the business all over the west. About six months ago J. L. Bowman established an up-to-date pants factory over his retail store at Third and Stark. Within a short time he added new machinery and established a complete modern and highly organized clothing factory, intending to manufacture clothing on a large scale for the retail trade.

Mr. Bowman obtained from the large eastern tailoring establishments a number of skilled designers and high class tailors for his plant, and as noted above, is now going after the made-to-measure suit business throughout Pacific coast and Rocky mountain states. He has recently established 300 agencies in eight western states. He expects to operate his plant for eight months of the year, turning out made-to-measure tailored suits, filling orders that come in from his 300 agencies. The remainder of the year, which will be the two dull seasons in the tailoring business, will be utilized in making up Oregon woolens into ready-made clothing for the Bowman stores.

For its tailoring department, the Bowman company has secured a complete line of imported and domestic wools, but for the Bowman stores the company will make up nothing but Oregon materials. The Bowman factory has the equipment and facilities for turning out 100 suits a day or about 30,000 suits a year. Mr. Bowman expects his tailoring agencies throughout the west to keep his plant running full capacity for eight or nine months of the year. The Oregon made woolens, used in the factory, are drawn from the Salem and Eugene mills, both of which are turning out many attractive patterns, and are making every effort to get up the latest styles in line with the favor of all classes of wearers.

J. L. Bowman, proprietor of the Bowman Manufacturing company, says that he intends to put Portland on the map as the leading clothing manufacturing center of the west.

Smith Company Not Liable for Injuries

Non-Suit Is Granted in Damage Case Brought by Victor Aho, Whose Leg Was Crushed in Tunnel.

Holding that the responsible parties had not been the defendants in the action, Judge Bean in federal court this morning granted the C. A. Smith Lumber company a non-suit in the action against that corporation by Victor Aho, a tunnel "mucker," for personal injury damages.

Aho, through his attorneys, sued the C. A. Smith company because his leg was crushed in a fall of rock in a tunnel on a logging road being constructed for the lumber company in the southwestern Oregon. It was shown by the evidence, however, that C. A. Smith had let the construction contract to Willett & Burr, and that the latter had sub-contracted construction to Lundberg & Co. The two firms were independent from the C. A. Smith company and Judge Bean held that the latter company could not be held liable.

Mrs. Andraes was operated on about six weeks ago and is still an invalid.

Mrs. Andraes alleged and battery by Engleke as the basis of his suit and that the result of the alleged assault made necessary the trepanning of his skull recently by County Physician Geary.

Engleke alleges that he was called to the house to protect Mrs. Andraes and her mother, Mrs. Frederika Rohs, whom Zorn was attacking. He charges Zorn was attacking him with a knife when he interfered and said that he used the gun to protect himself. Mrs. Andraes corroborated Engleke's testimony. At the first trial Zorn was awarded $750 damages and Judge Cleeton allowed a new trial.

Oregon's Pure Food Law Is Attacked

Attorney for Seattle Baking Powder Company Declares State Has No Control Over Interstate Commerce Goods.

Contending that the state of Oregon has no right to restrict with pure food laws the sale of a product that passes in interstate commerce, but that it is, therefore, subject only to the federal pure food statutes, Attorney Charles A. Riddle of Seattle today argued a motion before Judge Wolverson in federal court asking a judgment for the Crescent Manufacturing company of Seattle in its suit against State Dairy and Food Commissioner Mickle.

The Crescent Manufacturing company puts out an aluminous baking powder; and Commissioner Mickle, declaring the aluminous an adulteration, some time ago issued an order against the product in this state. The manufacturers immediately filed suit, asking that Mickle be restrained from enforcing his order.
