

Women's Clubs

BY VELLA WINNER

THE cherry picnic of the Monday Musical club, given yesterday at the suburban home of Mrs. Glenn Foulkes. How-it station was a very delightful affair. Some of the women went in automobiles and others on the street cars; the latter on the end of the line with conveyances to take them to the Foulkes home. Great baskets of cherries abounded, lunch was served picnic fashion on the lawn and the porch. Mrs. John Toft was in general charge of the program. In the afternoon a program was given. Miss Case and Miss Hickett gave vocal numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Herman Heppner. Mrs. Carlin DeWitt Joslyn was heard in one of her own songs and for an encore she gave a dramatic reading, also one of her own writings. The Monday Musical club, with Mrs. Russell Dorr at the piano, sang several inspiring selections. Mrs. Heppner played one of her own compositions, "The Blue Bird," for an encore. She gave an exquisite little poem dedicated to her mother, with musical accompaniment. Miss Elizabeth Johnson gave a number. Mrs. G. J. Frankel gave a dramatic reading.

Mrs. Herman Heppner, retiring president of the Monday Musical club.

The installation of the new officers was one of the ceremonies of the afternoon. Mrs. Herman Heppner, the retiring president, made a graceful address, bespeaking all possible success for her successor and for the club. Mrs. Frankel, the newly elected president, responded graciously, as did also Mrs. Russell Dorr, the first vice president. In the course of her remarks Mrs. Dorr said that she was taking for her motto for the club work for the year "With love preferring one another."

There were about 40 women present to enjoy the day.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. Ruth Blanchard-Doty Dead. A bride of less than six months, Mrs. Ruth Blanchard-Doty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Blanchard of this city, died Sunday night in Los Angeles, where she has been sojourning for her health for several months. Mrs. Doty's mother was formerly pastor of the Third United Brethren church in South Mount Tabor and the young woman sang in the choir of the church several years. She had lived in that neighborhood for more than 12 years. Her marriage to Clyde Doty took place last Christmas day. Her health had not been the best for some time, but an early recovery was confidently expected.

Bound for Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Wright will start tomorrow morning for a three months' vacation trip through Europe, sailing from New York for Liverpool July 2 on the White Star liner Baltic. They expect to visit all the important cities of the continent and tour the Alps. They will start back September 3 on the Celtic. Mr. Wright is assistant cashier of the United States National bank.

Excursion to Cherry Fair.

A joint excursion run by the Portland Commercial club and the Royal Rosarians of the Great Northern, dropped the railway will take a large delegation to the Cherry fair at Salem next Saturday. Reservations are now being made at the Commercial club, a fare of $2 for the round trip, including a chicken luncheon served on the train. The special train will leave the North Bank station at 12 o'clock noon, and will leave Salem on the return about 3 p. m. The Rosarians will be in uniform.

THEATRICAL NEWS

"Neptune's Daughter" Is Beautiful, Artistic and Interesting Play.

Story in Fairy Tale. "Neptune's Daughter," with Annette Kellerman, is one of the most beautiful, artistic and interesting motion pictures that has been shown on a Portland screen. The picture was made in Bermuda, under the direction of Herbert Brenon, and is filled with scenic beauty that is new to the motion picture camera.

The title and Miss Kellerman at once suggest water, and a number of the water scenes are surpassingly beautiful. The story is a fairy tale once suggest water, and a number of the water scenes are surpassingly beautiful. The story is a fairy tale once suggest water, and a number of the water scenes are surpassingly beautiful.

Her swimming and feats in the water are not only thrilling but astonishing. Her fight under water with "Kodak" and her being thrown, tied hand and foot, from a cliff, and her struggle in the water for freedom must be seen to be appreciated. Not the least interesting of Miss Kellerman's work is her dancing.

The cast of supporting actors is splendid. The photography of the picture is just about perfect, and the beautiful tinting is deserving of mention. The scenery alone would make the picture even if the work of master artists in photoplay production were not visible throughout the entire length of the film. "Neptune's Daughter" will be at the Hollis the remainder of the week, with a daily and evening performance.

Oregon Trail Pictures Show. For an extra added feature at the Baker this week there are still views and motion pictures of the old Oregon trail with a lecture by Ezra Meeker, the famous pioneer of 25 years who crossed the trail in the early days and in later years went back over the historic roadway with his oxen and prairie schooner.

The pictures and talk are a revelation of some of the hardships the early emigrants endured in making their way to Oregon. The regular offering is Beverly Dobbs' "Atop of the World in Motion" pictures of Alaska and Siberia in five reels.

Fields of ice, glaciers and other scenery of the Arctic regions have been caught by the camera as well as the wonderful dog trains, hunting the native animals sports of the natives, their modes of living and occupation. The pictures are not only interesting but they have a decided educational value as well.

Sunday Schools of Marion at Quinaby

Twenty Represented in the Hayesville District Meet for Business Session and Elect Officers for Year.

Quinaby, Or., June 23.—The Hayesville district, comprising 20 Sunday schools of Marion county, met in convention at Quinaby on Sunday with an attendance of 500, despite the cold winds that prevailed, and the fact that many had driven a distance of 15 or 20 miles. Dr. C. J. Smith, of Portland, Democratic nominee for governor, spoke on "Legislation"; C. B. Harrison, of Portland, "The Country Boy"; Attorney E. A. Baker, of Portland, "Why Oregon Should Go Dry, From an Attorney's Point of View," and E. B. Lockhart, city editor of the Statesman, Salem, on "Community Quarrels and the Church." The Chemawa brass band contributed several numbers and the Misses Marie Bolinger and Ruth Brown, of Salem, sang. A basket dinner on the grounds was one of the pleasant features.

Harry White was elected president of the association; A. Neptune, vice president; Mrs. J. W. Fruit, secretary; Miss Mabel Williams, secretary of Missions and Christian stewardship. Clear Lake, with 71 delegates present, won the banner over Hayesville, with 61, but courteously allowed the latter school to take it, since Clear Lake was acting the part of hosts at the convention. Quinaby, with a total enrollment of 41 members, was represented by 42 at the convention.

Little Stories for Bedtime

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS

Danny Meadow Mouse Hunts for Little Miss Nanny.

Danny Meadow Mouse never before in all his life had felt so bashful as when at last he stood on the doorstep of the house of little Miss Nanny Meadow Mouse. He hoped she would be glad to see him and he was afraid she wouldn't. He just knew that he wouldn't be able to think of a thing to say. The truth is Danny was in love. He had been in love ever since he first saw little Miss Nanny a day or two before. But she might not fall in love with him. It was a dreadful thought because he felt that he could never be happy again if he didn't. Perhaps there was someone else she cared for. The very idea made Danny grind his teeth and long to fight again as he had just been fighting.

How still it was inside! Danny fidgeted about uneasily. Then he peeped inside, which is a perfectly proper thing to do in Meadow Mouse society. The house was empty! Little Miss Nanny wasn't there at all! Danny walked right in and looked everywhere. He was queer, for he had been quite certain that he had seen her peeping out at him as he started up her private little path. Could she be hiding from him? Or could it be that while he had been so long in coming someone else had stolen her away? Instantly he grew bold. The thought that he might have lost her through his own bashfulness made him doubly anxious to find her.

Danny looked out of the back door. As she hadn't come out the front way she must have gone out this way. Of course! There was just a little faint Mouse scent. It tickled Danny's nose. He knew it was the scent of little Miss Nanny. He followed it eagerly, for that is the way of little meadow people. It led him straight to a big grassy tussock. The long grass hung way over all around him. It seemed to him that he saw just the tip of a fascinating little tail disappear on the other side of the tussock. Danny started after it as fast as he could run. Some-times he thought he heard little footsteps ahead of him. Round and round that grassy tussock he ran, but he could run pretty fast for a Meadow Mouse he didn't even catch another glimpse of that fascinating tail. It was quite plain to see that little Miss Nanny could run quite as fast as he could. Then he had a bright idea. Anyway it seemed like a bright idea to him. He would run the other way and then he would be sure to meet her. So Danny turned around and started around the grassy tussock just the opposite way from which he had been going, and his heart beat very fast with excitement, for now surely he must catch little Miss Nanny. But he didn't! No, sir, he didn't! He went clear around that grassy tussock without seeing a sign of little Miss Nanny. He was so disappointed and vexed that he could have cried but for the fact that he had outgrown his crybaby ways. It was very plain to be seen that little Miss Nanny was quite as clever and smart as he, and the more he realized this the more he knew that he just must have her.

This time he walked around very slowly, sniffing and sniffing! Ha! There was that faint scent and it led down a private little path. Danny began to run once more. This time it led to an old brush pile and under this were little galleries in all directions. Danny heard a faint rustle in one of them and if he started in that direction. Then began such a game of hide-and-seek as he never had played in all his life. Dozens of times he was sure that at last he had caught up with little Miss Nanny, only to be disappointed. He began to almost hate that brush pile. And then, just when he was quite tired out and almost discouraged, he saw little Miss Nanny sitting with her back to him and looking out under the old brush pile as if she didn't know that he was anywhere about.
