

AS THE MEXICAN REBEL ARMY BEGINS ITS CAMPAIGN SOUTHWARD

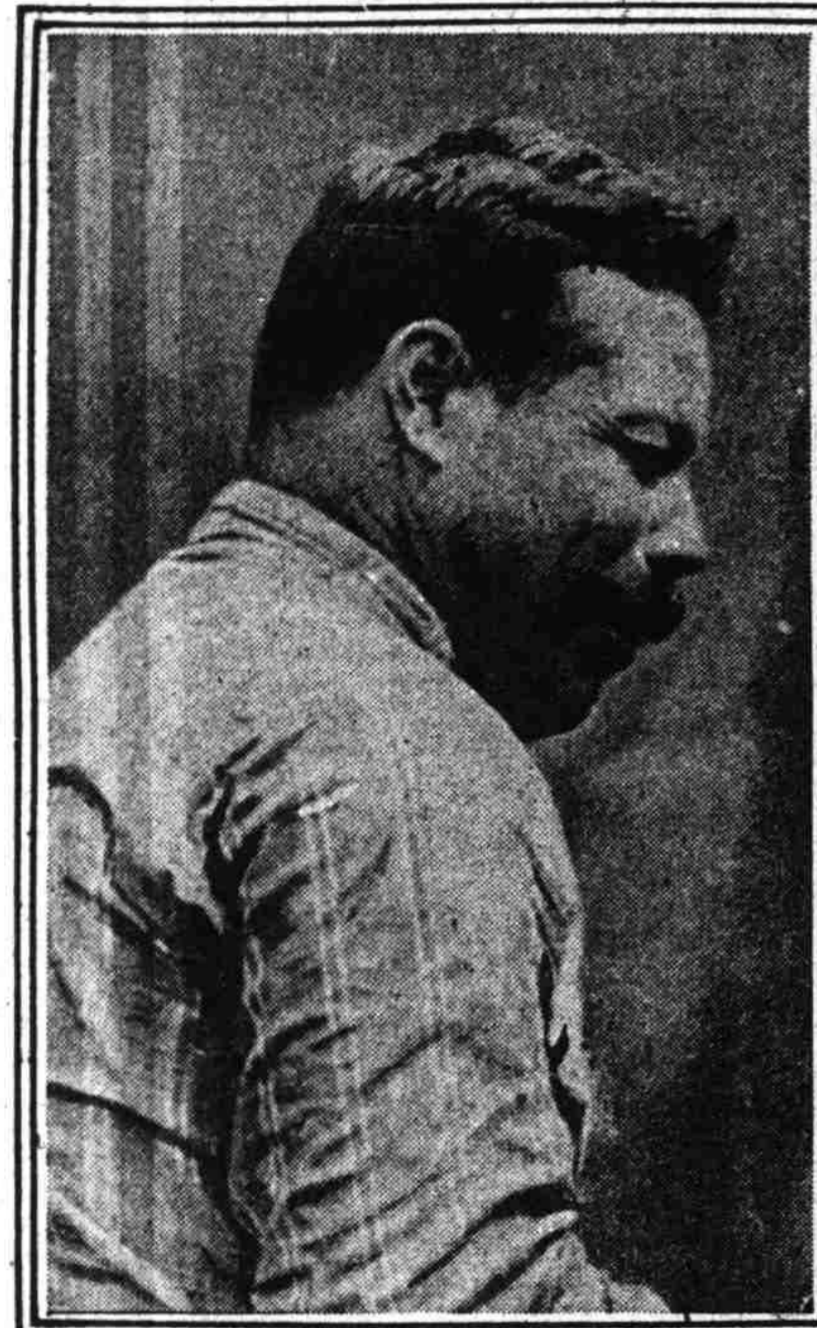

TYPE OF SOLDIERS WHO ARE FIGHTING FOR THE CONSTITUTIONALIST CAUSE

Here are some of the troops with whom General Villa and his associates brought Northern Mexico under the control of the rebels. The appearance of these men belies somewhat their ability as fighters, which was proved at Torreon and Saltillo. These men now seek further victories in the land of the south. (International News Service.)

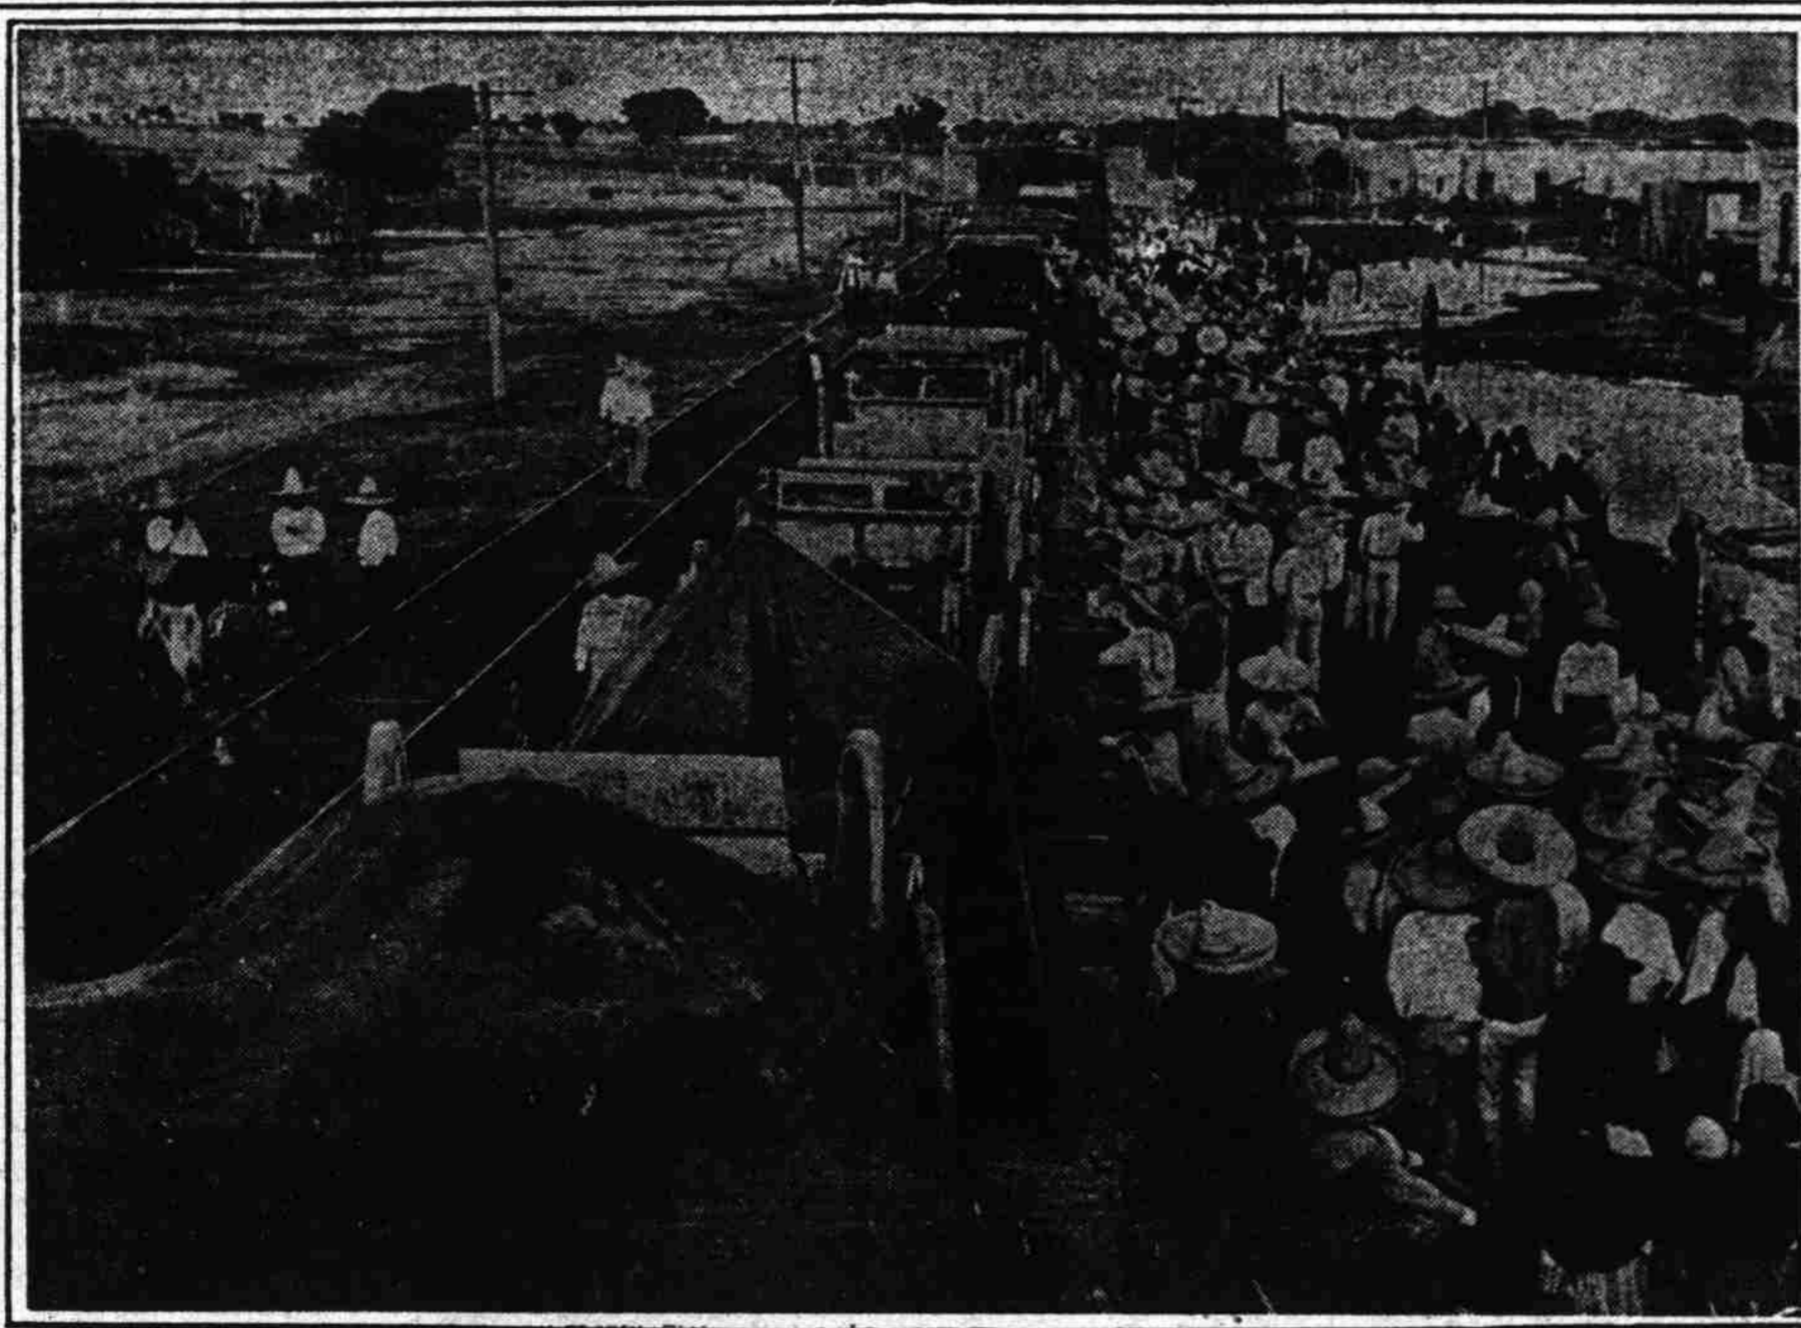

SOLDIERS OF GENERAL VILLA LEAVING TORREON FOR ZACATECAS

Soldiers in the army of the Mexican rebel leader are here shown leaving Torreon for Zacatecas, a federal stronghold that must be taken before the plans for a further advance on Mexico City can be carried out. Villa is more popular than ever with the soldiers seen in this picture. (International News Service.)

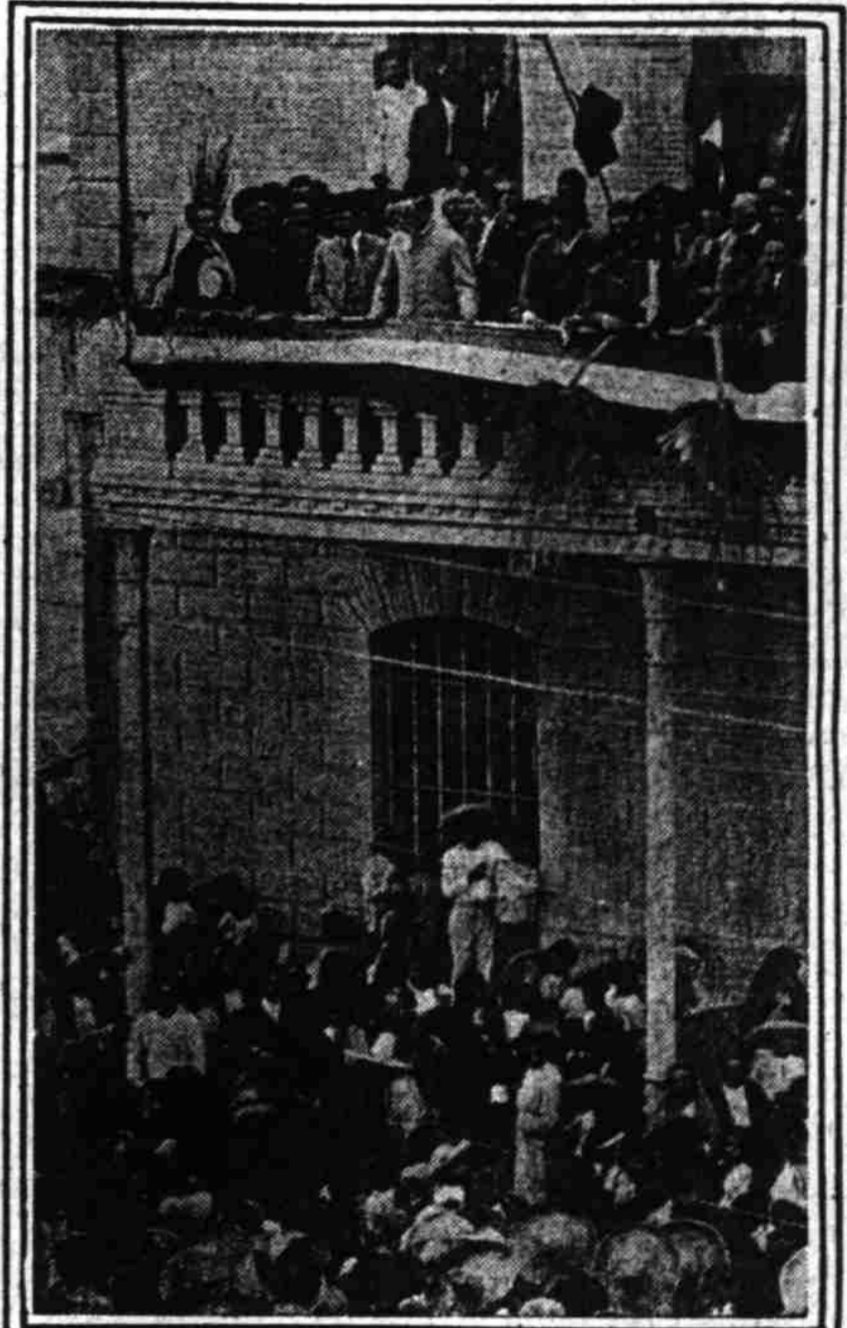

GENERAL VILLA IN FIELD GARB

This unconventional portrait of the rebel leader shows him in uniform. His strength was proved during his recent disagreement with Carranza. (International News Service.)

GENERAL VILLA FORWARDS CAPTURED GUNS TO ZACATECAS

Guns captured by the rebel forces in their victories at Saltillo and other places, are here shown at Durango ready for shipment to the front at Zacatecas. With Zacatecas under rebel control, it is claimed that the ultimate occupation of Mexico City by the rebels is highly probable. (International News Service.)

CARRANZA ADDRESSES HIS FOLLOWERS

General Carranza, constitutionalist leader, is here shown addressing a crowd from the balcony of a house in San Pedro, near Saltillo. (International News Service.)

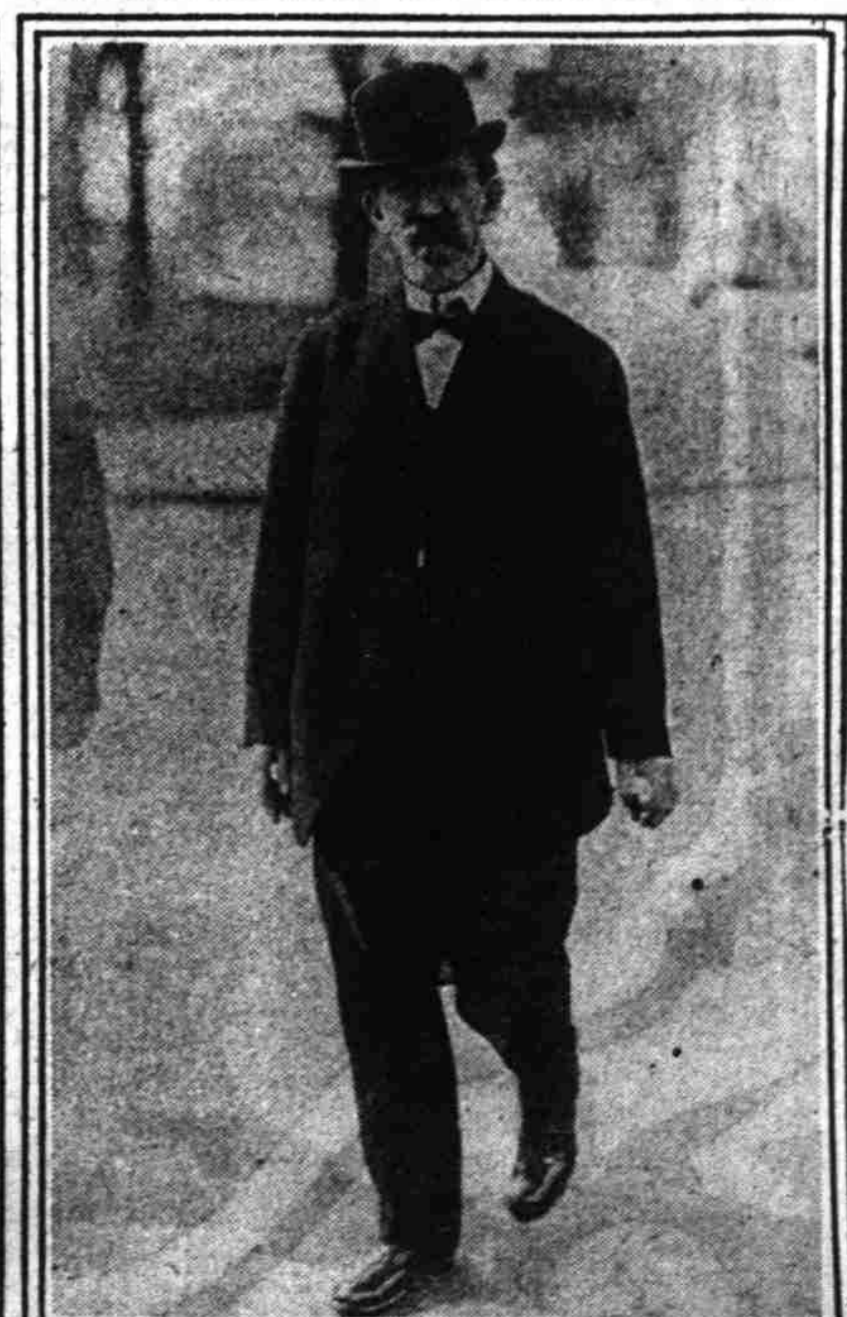

SENATOR KERN OF INDIANA

Senator Kern of Indiana is a member of the steering committee which is conducting legislative program in the upper house. (Harris & Ewing.)

GROUP OF POOR CHILDREN OF NEW YORK WHO MEET A "LADY BOUNTIFUL"

When Mrs. Richard Aldrich of New York decided to go to Europe for the summer, she turned over her palatial home near Riverside Drive to the Salvation Army for the entertainment of the poor children of the Cherry street district. Here are the kiddies, dressed in clean clothing, enjoying themselves in the Aldrich home. (International News Service.)

SENATOR NEWLANDS OF NEVADA

Senator Newlands of Nevada is one of a group of senators who recently conferred with the president concerning possible legislation. (Harris & Ewing.)