Skantz-Olson Wedding.

Miss Christina Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Olson, and William S. Skantz, son of the late Rev. J. W. Skantz, were married at a very pretty wedding on Tuesday evening, June 30, Rev. J. C. Bernhard officiating. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion, pink carnations and lilies being massed in the living room and hall, and the dining room was in yellow and green with cottons and ferns. Before the ceremony Miss Esther Elsen sang "Because" (d'Hardelot). The bride entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Cordelia Hill, and was given away by her father. Miss Olga Larson was bridesmaid, Lloyd Thoren was ring bearer, and Johnson Skantz was best man. The bride wore a charming gown of white crepe charmeuse and shawl lace and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. Miss Larson wore an effective costume of white crepe de chine with touches of pink, and carried an arm bouquet of sweet peas. Miss Olson, who has many friends, is a clever musician. She has been for some time soprano soloist and director of the chorus choir at the University. Paris Presbyterian church, has appeared as soloist at many local concerts, and has been pre-

Little Stories for Bedtime

Best Secret of All. Did you ever, ever, ever feel so happy that you feel you would steal away your secret to yourself alone? Because such joy was all your own? It was that way sometimes. Happiness can be so great that it almost hurts and makes one feel like getting away where one can do foolish things, like rolling in the grass and shouting and singing, without anybody to see, and say that it is foolish and undignified. It was that way with Danny Meadow Mouse. He felt that he just had to get away by himself, where he could be just as foolish as ever he pleased. "If I don't certainly shall blow up and burst," said he to himself. "I never was so happy before in all my life and I don't believe anybody else was ever so happy, either. I've simply got to get away by myself, because if anybody should see me they would think me crazy, or else they would guess my secret, and that would be worse still." So just as soon as he could, without letting Nanny Meadow Mouse know where he was going, for he knew that she would laugh at him if he told her, he stole away from the pile of old worms and their new home, and off to a secret little place he never had shown any one, not even Nanny. He made sure that no one was about to see him, not even his dear little Breezes of Old Mother Best Wind, and then he acted as if he certainly had gone crazy. Yes, sir, Danny Meadow Mouse acted for all the world as if he had quite lost all his senses. He jumped. He squeaked. He tried to sing. He chased that funny little stubby tail of his round and round until he was so dizzy that he could hardly stand. He turned somersaults and rolled over and over. He even tried to sit on his head, which is a perfectly absurd thing for a Meadow Mouse to try to do. By and by he had made up his mind, and when at last he did get his breath, why, he started in to do it all over again. When he was quite tired out he lay down to rest, and then as he thought of his great happiness he grew very sad. "I must be very careful," thought he. "I must be very careful, indeed. I mustn't let any one guess this new secret, not a single, single soul, because—why, because it's the best secret that ever was, and I wouldn't have a minute's peace if I thought that anybody had guessed it. No, sir, I wouldn't. I wouldn't be able to eat or sleep if I thought that anybody had guessed my secret. So I am going to be twice as smart as ever I have been and twice as careful." With that Danny carefully brushed himself off, for he had got very dirty rolling around on the ground, washed his face and hands, and then started back for his home in the pile of cornstalks. At first he walked in a very dignified manner, but as he drew near his home he began to hurry, and presently he was running as fast as ever he could. Have you guessed why he was running and what his secret was? Well, in that splendid little house which he and Nanny had built were four teeny, weeny babies, his, sir, four teeny, weeny babies were waiting for him there with their mother, who, of course, was Nanny Meadow Mouse. Do you wonder that Danny was happy and that he thought this the very best secret of all the many secrets he had had?

The maid of honor, Miss Pauline Blank, looked charming in a gown of pink charmeuse and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Elizabeth Zoulek, wore a gown of pink crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The bridegroom was attended by Eugene V. Thompson and Byron D. Ewers. The ushers were Lloyd Dittrich and Henry Voderberg. A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Miss Hattie Lester of St. Louis, a cousin of the bride, received with the bridal party. Mr. and Mrs. Fowler will make their home in Oakland, Cal.

To Pass Month in Alaska. Mrs. Olive King Jeffery and Miss Josephine Sullivan have left on the S. S. Jefferson for a month's visit in Alaska. After spending some time in Juneau with relatives, they will make a trip to northern Alaska, returning to Portland about the first of August.

To Entertain on Fourth. A special chicken dinner will be served the Fourth of July by Mrs. M. E. Henderson at her charming bungalow Inn near Latourell Falls, "Falls Chalet."

For Out of Town Visitors. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. C. E. Pullen gave a delightful luncheon at her beautiful home on Columbia boulevard, in honor of Mrs. P. W. Jones of Winnetka and Mrs. William Jaques of Vancouver, B. C. The table was artistically decorated with sweet peas and ferns, the color scheme in the dining room being red. Those present were Mrs. J. W. Jones, Mrs. W. C. Frey, Miss Lillian Yeo, Miss Lillian Ewing, Miss Ethel Pullen, Mrs. A. W. Reese, Mrs. Jack Stiver, Mrs. Hugh Auld, Mrs. Floyd Mills and Mrs. C. E. Pullen. Mrs. P. W. Starker-Ostrander Wedding. In the prettily decorated auditorium of the Sunnyside Congregational church, Miss Margaret Ostrander became the bride of Thurman J. Starker, Tuesday evening, June 30. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. J. J. Staub, D. D. The bride was attended by Miss Arabella Preston as maid of honor and Miss Louise Peterson as bridesmaid. Sinclair Albert Wilson, a classmate of the groom at the University of Michigan, acted as best man; William H. Layton, also a classmate at the University of Michigan, and three brothers of the bride, Messrs. Earl Sidney, Aubrey and Donald Ostrander, served as ushers. Mrs. R. H. Baldwin, a charming young matron, presided at the organ and played "Faith" (Mendelssohn), "Evening Star" (Wagner), "Prayer and Cradle Song" (Gullmunt). The bridal party came in to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March sung by four of the bride's friends, Mrs. Raymond R. McKalson, Miss Hazel Harlie, Miss Kinn and Miss Conway, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Baldwin. The bride was charming in an ivory charmeuse draped in chintilly lace, embroidered with pearls; her veil was caught with a brown ribbon. Large blossoms worn by Mrs. R. H. Baldwin at her own wedding two years ago; she carried an arm bouquet of white and pink roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a pink charmeuse and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

BUILDS BUNGALOW FOR LATOURELL TOURISTS

—Photograph by Bushnell.

Only in the last few years have the Portland people found the beautiful Columbia river gorge accessible as a show place for tourists. Improved roads and automobiles have made this possible, and throughout the summer the roads are lined with cars. Mrs. M. E. Henderson conceived the idea of an inn of an unique nature along the way, and last year was associated with the Chautauque Inn, above Rooster Rock, where her southern biscuits and chicken dinners were famous. This year Mrs. Henderson has built another bungalow at Latourell, which she calls "Falls Chalet." The cottage is in the very midst of the beautiful waterfalls at Latourell, nestling under the hills, yet commanding a beautiful view of the river and mountains. The cottage is on the highway, and a few hundred feet from the O. W. R. & N. railroad.

He never misses a meeting of the camp and is regarded as one of the up-buders of Woodcraft in Portland, being a natural born organizer among men.

K. of C. Wins at Hillboro. The Knights of Columbus baseball nine played Hillboro last Sunday and got away with that burg's aggregation 13 to 4. On July 4 and 5 the K. of C. will be in Prineville. The Prineville fans expect to see the Portland boys beaten to a "frazzle" because of the rarity of the atmosphere at that elevation makes it difficult to run for anyone not accustomed to it. The first base, Fouscher, second base, Hughes, manager, and no pitcher on occasion; G. Brown, captain; Galvin, pitcher; Therian, catcher; Corrigan, first base; Fouscher, second base; Moran, shortstop; Brown, third base; Hinkle, Kennedy, Linckey, left, center and right fielders, respectively.

THEATRICAL NEWS

Blowing Up of a Yacht at Sea. Furnishes Thrills at the Globe. Fourth of Pauline Series. The fourth episode of "The Perils of Pauline" has reached the screen of the Globe, and registers a considerable number of surprises and thrills. In company with the three rogues, Pauline, unsuspecting of her danger, embarks with them on a private yacht for a further search of the treasure island. "Where there's a will there's a way" is again proved, and Harry embarks with the party. The discovery of his presence is the inspiration for using an infernal machine, which blows the yacht up. The three villains escape in an open boat, but Pauline and Harry are forced to jump with only life preservers to rely upon. All five are picked up by a passing steamer, the chief rogues manage to escape suspicion, and the way is open for a new and thrilling adventure in the next episode, although it is difficult to imagine just what it may be. Another of the Alice Joyce feature pictures, "The Show Girl's Glove," is also on the screen. It is one of the stories in which the actress receives decidedly the worst of it in every respect. A delightful picture is "The Bear Facts," a Vitaphone comedy, with little Bobby Connelly as "sonny-boy."

Will Film Growth Tomorrow. Features at the Oaks amusement park for the Fourth will include the taking of motion pictures of the big crowds and their activities. These pictures will be projected at the Oaks a week later, beginning Sunday, July 12. Two thousand feet of film will be Joint Installation Success. Last evening the joint installation of six local camps of the Woodmen of the World at W. O. W. Temple, 128 Eleventh street, was a well attended and successful affair. Prospect Camp acted as host and the team of Portland Camp acted as escorting guard during the ceremonies. Deputy Head Consul E. F. Martin acted as installing officer. The following camps participated: Sunnyside, No. 319; Rose City, No. 191; George Washington, No. 240; Portland, No. 107; Prospect, No. 140; Webfoot, No. 65.

The consul commanders in the same order installed were as follows: L. Owen, J. H. Jordan, W. C. Frey, W. Lemman, J. Jennings, O. W. T. Muellhaupt.

At the close of the ceremonies Deputy Head Consul Martin made a few remarks, and then the officers addressed urging united efforts to secure new applications by precincts throughout the city. Francis Clarno, as spokesman for Prospect Camp, presented
