

HEALTH BOARDS TO HAVE REPORTS ON INDIANS' DISEASES

Physicians Expect Soon to Be Able to Cope With Maladies Afflicting Red Men.

PELLAGRA IS PREVALENT

Dr. White Says Number Has Grown to Astonishing Figures in Past Few Years.

The several state health boards of the states where Indian reservations are located soon will begin to cope with diseases and quarantine reservations when necessary, as a result of action taken recently at a conference of state and provincial boards of health at Washington.

This is the information brought to Portland by Dr. Calvin S. White, secretary of the state health board, who attended the conference and has just returned.

"At Washington we met with Commissioner of Indian Affairs Sells, among others," said Dr. White, "and discussed health regulations for Indian reservations. Heretofore the Indians have been considered as wards of the federal government, and all reports went direct to Washington.

"Now, however, each report will be made to the state health board as well, and the boards are put in position where they can control conditions affecting health. For example, the Oregon board will soon be able to begin work of eradicating trachoma, an infectious eye disease, which is very prevalent among Indians of several reservations in Oregon. On one reservation alone 50 per cent of the Indians are affected. The board is now getting out a bulletin on the treatment of the disease."

At the conference, the physicians were told of the astounding increase of pellagra, and cancer, particularly in the east and southern states.

"There are over 75,000 cases of pellagra in the United States today, and from a comparatively small area and few cases in the south a few years ago, the malady has spread to virtually every state in the union," he said. "Of its victims, 7500 are in the insane asylums. In Oregon we have had four cases."

Turtle Serum Is Favored. Two died and two are living. Last year the federal government spent $100,000 investigating it, trying to find a cure, and in addition $17,000 has been appropriated to carry on hospital investigations in North Carolina.

Dr. White reports in addition that the turtle serum "cure" for tuberculosis developed by Dr. Franz Friedrich Friedmann of Berlin has ended in a fizzle. At the conference, he said, Dr. John F. Anderson head of the hygienic laboratory at Washington and the New York health board, reported that the "cure" was a failure. Of 47 cases Friedmann treated when in the United States two years ago, 12 are dead and 25 are in the advanced stages of the disease. None showed improvement after treatment, and others manifested worse symptoms afterward.

Two Are Burned by Trolley Accident

Mechanism of Controller Box Falls to Pieces, Seriously Injuring Motorman and Section Foreman in L. A.

Los Angeles, July 10.—Trapped in the cab of a Pacific Electric trolley, Motorman C. T. Sharp and Section Foreman Robert Barrett were burned slightly today when the mechanism of the controller box fell to pieces. Both men were dragged from the cab, their clothing afire. It was announced at a hospital to which they were taken that both probably will recover.

J. S. CAMPBELL RETURNS

J. S. Campbell, agent of the Pennsylvania lines returned today from a business trip to the general offices of the company at Pittsburgh. Mr. Campbell has only recently been appointed to the head of the Portland agency. Mr. Campbell's observation in the east was that business has not readjusted itself as rapidly as was hoped a few weeks ago, the impression being that the rallying process must come about slowly.

Claim Agents' Convention.

Claim Agents B. F. Boynton and Damage Attorney F. J. Lonergan of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, are attending the annual convention of the Pacific Coast Claim Agents' association at Spokane. Each is on the program for discussion of subjects pertaining to the safety movement and damage claims. Mr. Boynton will speak particularly on the cooperation of the operating and claim departments of public service companies in the selection of men for employment.

Clean-Up at Salem.

Salem, Or., July 10.—District Attorney Ringo is making a clean up of Salem rooming houses and has served notice on the proprietors of the Eldredge and Fogg rooming houses, which he says have been reported to him as questionable places, that unless they "clean up," he will bring injunction suits against them under the abatement law.

Will Invade Seattle.

The special excursion committees of the Ad Club, the Royal Rosarians and the Transportation club will confer at luncheon at the Commercial club next Tuesday noon over the joint invasion of Seattle during the Potlatch festivities on July 17. The tri-partisan delegation will go in a special train over the coast.

STOP EATING MEAT IS ADVICE OF WOMEN IN CHICAGO, TOO COSTLY

Mrs. George Bass, Head of Chicago Women's Club, Wants War on Packers.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Chicago, July 10.—Stop eating meat to force lower prices, was the advice today of Mrs. George Bass, president of the Chicago Women's club, who declared the packers had combined to discourage the raising of cattle to force higher prices to the consumer, while at the same time compelling the growers to accept the lowest possible price.

"The packers monopolize the increase in meat prices," asserted Mrs. Bass. "If prices continue high, we must stop eating meat. I will urge all housewives to use more vegetables, fish and eggs. If we can interest the public in this movement you will find the packers will reduce the price."

The retail prices of fresh meats have advanced here 1 to 3 cents a pound in the last 30 days. Packers today held out no hope for lower quotations. Arthur Meeker of the Armour Packing company declared that the supply this year is 75 per cent of normal and that there are ten million fewer American cattle than a decade ago, while there are 20,000,000 more people to feed.

WITNESS TELLS OF METHODS OF LAND LOCATORS

case from the time of the original grant in 1867. Judge W. W. Reames asserted, in the opinion of 1911, positively ruled the settlers and locators out of the case forever, and said, regardless of the outcome of the big case in the United States supreme court, the "squatters" would have no chance whatever.

W. F. Minard, the Portland defendant, was charged by the government prosecutor with being the head of the combination. The other men, Reames asserted, acted more as agents for him.

Good Faith Asserted.

Minard is represented by Attorneys Claude Strahan and Waldemar Seton, and the former, in his opening statement, said Minard's actions throughout the transactions were in good faith.

Minard, when the big case started in 1908, Strahan said, saw possibilities for the settlers on the railroad lands. He thought they would have some right to the properties in the final outcome of the case, and proceeded to locate settlers on them. Later he was drawn into it on a large scale.

W. F. Minard, the principal defendant, is past 60 years old and is badly crippled from rheumatism and other ailments. He is virtually an invalid.

In behalf of the defendant Sellers, Attorney John Ryan of Tacoma, said that Sellers and the defendant Harper, who has pleaded guilty, were engaged in the business of locating settlers, and Sellers, he said, through inadvertence, became connected in the signing of receipts for other papers in the absence of Harper.

No opening statement in behalf of J. W. Logan was made.

A. L. Mills, president of the First National bank, is a member of the jury, which was completed after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Other jurors are F. J. Ayer, farmer of Beaver; W. J. White, farmer of Dallas; J. F. Wurfel, merchant of Barlow; L. S. Otis, farmer of Newberg; I. E. Thomas, farmer of Marion county; John J. Jr., farmer of Aurora; E. E. Baigeman, contractor, Portland; J. F. Roricke, dairyman, The Dalles; Seldon E. Carnahan, clerk, Portland; Marion Hayden, farmer of Astoria; and P. H. Cross, harness maker of Oregon City.

Writer Arrested For Vera Cruz Story

Correspondent Boalt Sent Out Article Accusing American Sailors of Shooting Prisoners in Back.

Chicago, July 10.—A story he wrote saying that the "Ley de Fuga" was applied by the naval squad from the American warships during the battle at the occupation of Vera Cruz, was the cause for the arrest at the Mexican port of Frederick L. Boalt, correspondent of the Newspaper Enterprise association who was held today technically under arrest in quarters, according to an announcement by the war department.

Advices received by the Newspaper Enterprise association offices here today said Boalt was held "in quarters" pending investigation of the "Ley de fuga" article. "Ley de Fuga" is the Mexican law by which prisoners who attempt to escape may be shot, and in the past has often been a convenient method of getting rid of undesirable prisoners.

ELECTRIC SWITCHES TO BE INSTALLED AT THE UNION DEPOT

Most Modern of Interlocking Devices Will Be Used, It is Said.

TO COST ABOUT $35,000

Work of Putting in New System Will Require Several Months to Complete.

Latest modern electric interlocking switches are to be installed in the passenger yards of the Portland Union depot, according to announcement made today. Every switch in the yards will be controlled by one man through a series of electric levers. The new system will cost something in excess of $35,000.

Work will be started at once on the improvement, which was authorized at a recent meeting of directors of the Northern Pacific Terminal company. It will require several months, however, to finish installation.

According to the outline of the system, an operator by a simple tug can set any given switch or series of switches at lock it against the entrance of any train save the one which should enter the layout. The old system was not electrical, though the general plan of operation was similar, a series of levers operating the switches.

The new system will be similar to the interlocking plant of the O-W. R. & N. Co. at Astoria, and the one recently installed in the yards at Seattle and Black River Junction.

Now operating in the terminal yards are about 80 electric switches, including 30 electric trains and 46 regular steam trains.

The new system will handle all the switches between the north end of the terminal yards and the steel bridge.

Strips Off Clothes, Beats Motorman

Youth Goes Into Frenzy on Los Angeles Steamer at Midnight and Drives Out Passengers.

Los Angeles, July 10.—Boarding a crowded street car shortly after midnight today, a youth who said his name is Jack Denberg, stripped himself of his only garment—an undershirt—and rushed the motorman with swinging fists. While passengers hurried to get out of the car, the conductor stopped the car.

Throwing off his opponents, the naked man rushed from one end of the car to the other, driving women and children into the street. He felled several men and severely battered the crew before he leaped from a window and fled into the darkness.

Hurry calls were sent into several police stations, and motorcycle squads were put on the trail. The man was found and taken to the receiving hospital, where he was chained to a cot. Investigation will be made into his mental state.

Mysterious Letter Threatens Death

San Francisco, Cal., July 10.—Marshall Nelms, whom a mysterious letter Wednesday night threatened with death at the hands of his sister, Mrs. Eloise Dennis, left today for his home in Atlanta, according to the police, to try and straighten out the tangle in which the names of Mrs. Dennis and another sister, Beatrice Nelms, are involved.

Nelms received his warning supposedly from his mother in Atlanta. It was to the effect that the latter had received a message from Mrs. Dennis saying she had murdered her sister in New Orleans, and was on her way to kill Nelms at San Francisco. From Atlanta the police, too, received a request to extend protection to Nelms.

The New Orleans police, however, know of no such murder as the one described. Instead information was received from there to the effect that the sisters had left together for Houston, Texas, today.

Nelms was quoted as saying before his departure, that he thought Mrs. Dennis had been misled by her captors forced her to send the message saying she had killed her sister and that an attempt was being made to extort money from her mother, a rich woman.

Assaulted, He Says By Mistaken Foe

San Francisco Man Appeals to Police After Third Attack, Which He Claims Must Be Due to Mistake.

San Francisco, July 10.—Threats of death or bodily harm brought to him in a letter, following assaults on the street, today drove Gilbert E. Trott to the police for protection.

Three times, recently, Trott said, he had been assaulted by thugs, though he has no enemies and has wronged no one.

The letter Trott received read in part: "The first time I see you I will beat your head off. Any man who will get the best of an innocent girl ought to get his head knocked off. So get ready for a good beating."

A case of mistaken identity was the only solution Trott could offer.

C. E. INDORSES THE DRYS

Oakland, Cal., July 10.—"California dry in November," was the slogan today of the 4900 delegates to the twenty-seventh annual convention of the California Christian Endeavor union, who assembled in mass at Piedmont pavilion to listen to a program of speech, song and patriotic exercises.

Following an address by Dr. Guy M. Wadsworth of Los Angeles, superintendent of the California Dry Federation, the big audience rose and sang "The California Dry Song," written by Rev. R. A. Browne.

Car and Auto Collide.

An automobile belonging to J. C. Newton, who lives at the Portland hotel, collided with a Sunnyside trolley car at Broadway and Morrison streets yesterday afternoon, badly damaging the front of the automobile and causing some harm to the side of the street car. No one was injured. The street car was moving eastward after having stopped as usual before reaching the crossing. The automobile was moving northward, the driver either having temporarily lost control of the car or else misjudging the speed of the trolley.

Women Teachers Are Making Sissies

At Least So Professor Ross Tells the N. E. A., Arousing Much Adverse Criticism Among the Delegates.

St. Paul, Minn., July 10.—Having elected Professor David Starr Jordan president and chosen Oakland as their meeting place, delegates to the National Educational association were already leaving here today, though the convention will not end officially until Saturday.

Fred Barber of the Illinois Normal University, speaking at today's forenoon session, attacked what he termed over-specialization in the general science courses in the public schools. James Peabody of New York spoke in favor of a "safe and sane" method of sex instruction in the schools.

Yesterday's speech by E. A. Ross of Multnomah's Assets Are More Than Million Dollars, According to Auditor's Annual Report Just Made.

County officials are proud of the showing made by the semi-annual report of County Auditor Martin. Just completed, which shows that the total assets of the county are $1,102,851.61, and that the only liabilities are outstanding warrants amounting to $18,293.17. The net assets are $1,084,558.44. Receipts, including the balances from 1913, totaled $7,189,746.99 from taxes and other sources. Disbursements, including tax money paid to the state, city, school districts and other organizations amounted to $5,102,463.98.

Portland Orphans To Have Boat Ride

O-W. R. & N. Is Sending Out Invitations to Annual Excursion Held for Benefit of Fatherless Ones.

Portland's little orphans, housed in the various institutions of charity about the city, will be given a real steamboat ride next Monday, the O-W. R. & N. company having sent out invitations for free outing on the steamer Hassalo.

Announcement of the annual outing was made by the company officials this morning. It is believed that the outing will be attended by at least as many tots as were cared for last year. This will be the third occasion of the kind.

Young men and women members of the Harriman club will help the nurses and attendants from the homes to care for the little ones, special committees having been appointed for the purpose.

The Hassalo will leave the Ash street dock at 11 o'clock next Monday morning, and will go down the Columbia river as far as will permit, and allow the little folks to be back before dark. Luncheon will be provided for the children on board.

In the invitations, which were mailed yesterday to the various organizations, request was made that the respective groups of children be accompanied by someone in authority. Responses are expected to come in late today and tomorrow.
