

Social and Personal BY NONA LAWLER

YESTERDAY'S calendar holds the record of two delightful affairs planned for the pleasure of Miss Beatrice Nichols, of San Francisco, who is Miss Claire Wilcox's guest for this week. Last evening Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett presided at a small dinner followed by bridge. Her guests for this week were Misses Lacey, Smith, Miss Violet Erskine, Miss Polly Young of the Barracks, Miss Mackenzie, Miss Barbara MacKenzie, Miss Wilcox, Harry Reed, Frederick Foster, Walter Gifford, Jordan Zan, Robert Noyes and Richard Jones.

The other affair for Miss Nichols was the luncheon over which Miss Wilcox presided when she had as her guests Mrs. Charles C. Hindman (Mildred Honeyman), Mrs. Conrad DeBreuck of Germany, Miss Charlotte Laidlaw, Miss Lesley Smith, Miss Polly Young, Miss Violet Erskine, Miss Evelyn Carey, Miss Margaret Voorhis, Miss Ruth Teal and Miss Helen Ladd. Salmon pink sweet peas in Bohemian vases and bows graced the table.

Laurelhurst Musical Tea. Mrs. H. R. Albee opened her beautiful Laurelhurst home yesterday afternoon for a musical tea that was the closing affair of a series that has been given during the past season to swell a fund for furnishings of a new Laurelhurst club house to be built. Yesterday was the second occasion of the series on which Mrs. Albee has acted as hostess. Receiving with her were Mrs. J. O. Humphrey, Mrs. Charles Barnsteecher, Mrs. Robert McBride, Mrs. C. S. Towse, Mrs. W. F. Greer, Mrs. L. H. Maxwell, Mrs. J. C. English and Mrs. E. H. Anthony. Mrs. Humphrey and Mrs. McBride presided at the tea table and assisting in serving, and about the rooms were Mrs. J. J. Valentine, Mrs. Homer J. Keeney, Mrs. Owen Summers Jr., Mrs. Viola Barnsteecher, Mrs. Jean Brownlie and Miss Margaret Jackson. The table was centered with a large oval basket filled with pink sweet peas and baby breath. An effective how of pink tulips adorned the handle. The porch was decked with ferns and wild flowers and in the hall Shagha daisies and woods flowers predominated. In the music room Ulrich Brunner roses were arranged in vases except on the piano, where an art basket of the fragrant blossoms was placed. A delightful program was given by Mrs. Jone T. Wells, vocalist; Miss Elizabeth Woodbury, reader; Miss Roxana Wommelsdorf, violinist; and George Hotchkiss Street, vocalist. The accompanists were Mrs. Samuel H. Pierce and Miss Marie Brodie. More than 100 smartly gowned women called during the hours.

Carse-Fourier Wedding. Miss Florence Fourrier became the bride of Raymond Monroe Carse on Wednesday, at 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, 1494 East Eighth street north, Rev. Oswald W. Taylor of Grace Memorial church officiating. The house was beautifully decorated in a color scheme of red and pink with palms, except the drawing room, which was in white. The ceremony was performed under a great canopy of white roses, carnations and sweet peas. The bride was pretty in white chiffon and princess lace, with a full length veil. Her cap was adorned with a wreath of orange blossoms. She wore a diamond lavalier, a gift of the bridegroom, and her bouquet was of white roses, white sweet peas and maiden-hair fern. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. George W. Stitt, who was charming in pink charmeuse and wore a bodice bouquet of lavender sweet peas. The bridegroom was attended by George W. Stitt, who wore a tuxedo and a boutonniere of white flowers. The bride party came in. Only relatives were present at the ceremony, but later a reception was held, when over 100 friends called to express their good wishes and to greet the couple. Miss Bertha Koontz and Miss Rose Black presided over the punch bowl, and were assisted by Mrs. Charles Dungan and Miss Henrietta Townzen of Oakland, Cal. Mrs. Chester Rinegan, Mrs. Tom Crawford and Miss Myrtle Colvin served in the dining room. Mrs. Thomas E. White rendered several vocal selections during the evening, while an orchestra furnished music for the reception. Mr. and Mrs. Carse left on a late train for their honeymoon at San Francisco, and will be at home after August 1.

Son Arrives. By Mary Lee. Before going away for a vacation, even for a short time, it will save lots of trouble and inconvenience not to say possible expense if the house is placed in good order. There are so many details that many are apt to be forgotten.

For instance, a woolen skirt that may have picked up a grease spot should not be hung in a closet with good clothes unless the soil is removed. If there is a crack in the ticking, all good woollen clothes should be brushed and hung away in a first smelling of camphor, although this will not destroy moths once they are there, but it will keep them away. As a last precaution before locking the door leave a small bottle of chloroform in the closet with a small hole in the cork. This will kill any insect life.

Camphor, too, should be freely sprinkled on rugs. It will be better to leave these upon the floor and not roll them up. Also leave plenty of newspapers around, especially upon upholstered furniture. This will be better than covering with cotton covers unless one is quite sure there are no moths already in the home. Some persons slip a fold of newspaper at the top of all bureau drawers. Lumps of charcoal placed about rooms will absorb the musty odors that always come from rooms shut up.

It is a good plan to sprinkle insect powder or borax and powdered sugar freely about the bathroom, closets, sink and other places where roaches may be inclined to increase and multiply.

Book shelves should be dusted with Persian powder to keep the tiny silver insects from destroying the books. They are attracted by the starch used in the paste with which books are bound. In fact, so fond are these little pests of starch that they have been known to eat starched curtains that were put away for the summer.

Flatirons should be covered with grease to prevent rusting and so should any pots and pans of iron. They can be cleaned and made ready for use again by washing in hot soda water, which will be much less trouble than removing rust. Steel should be rubbed over with sweet oil, or, in fact, any good oil to prevent rusting.

When packing away silver the better plan is to cover each article with a coating of collodion, which can be bought at any drug store. The article to be covered must be clean and quite hot, so one article should be washed, dried, and painted at a time. When the silver is washed again the coat can be washed off with hot water and soap. Another way is to put the silverware into a box and cover with dry flour. This, too, will exclude the air and prevent tarnishing.

Water Hearing Monday. Salem, Or., July 10.—Complaint in the case brought in the federal court at Portland by the Pacific Livestock company against the state water board and others, to enjoin the water board from hearing contests or adjudicating the water rights in Silvies creek, has been served on State Engineer Lewis. The matter will be up for hearing before the court next Monday.

Graves, leaves tomorrow on the Beaver for San Francisco where she expects to spend a year doing publicity work. Miss Graves has been identified with educational work both here and in San Juan, Porto Rico, and her knowledge of Spanish will enable her to handle the Spanish American news in connection with the exposition. Miss Graves is a member of Pi Beta Phi son arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Joseph Daniels (Ethel E. Frances Barton), 1116 East Twenty-sixth street north, Tuesday, June 23. The baby has been named William Joseph Jr.

Members of the Lang Syne society, with their families, have planned a river excursion Saturday evening. The steamer Joseph Kellogg will leave the foot of Washington street promptly at 7:30. Those who intend going and have not cards should secure them at once from Frank Dayton, secretary and treasurer, 235 Taylor street, telephone Main 1771. The membership of the society is now nearing the 200 mark. It is composed of men who lived in Portland and took an active interest in its prosperity prior to 1891.

The officers are: J. K. Gill, president; Charles F. Beebe vice president; F. E. Beach, second vice president; Charles H. Dodd, James S. Failing, E. C. Frost, S. L. N. Gilman, Thomas McCusker, executive committee; George H. Hines, historian.

Prominent Guest Arrives. Arriving in Portland yesterday to be the guest of Aedine M. Alvord, was Mrs. Bell Case Harrington, of Bowling Green, Ohio, wife of Judge Ross M. Harrington, one of Ohio's well known members of the judiciary. Mrs. Harrington is a member of the Toledo Writers' club and the authoress of a number of children's stories. She is a prominent child welfare worker and a lecturer of distinction.

Here and There. Mrs. Oscar R. Menefee and children are leaving tomorrow for Gearhart to spend the remainder of the summer there. The Menefees have taken the Hamilton cottage.

Anne Shannon Monroe has as her guest her niece from Tacoma, Miss Helen Walton, who will also visit her grandmother, Mrs. T. J. Farmer, and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Storey.

Mr. and Mrs. F. X. Legrand have returned from the formal opening of their new bungalow, "Snuggery by the Sea," at Newport. Mrs. L. D. Keyser has been their guest for the past week at the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Varney have as their guests from Seattle Mr. and Mrs. Otis A. Sargent.

Miss Martha Chapin, who went to Tacoma especially for Miss Grace Potter's coming out dance at the Country club, will spend several weeks as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foster and Mr. and Mrs. Addison G. Foster.

Miss Verna Wright and Miss Ethel Barnes of Bismarck, S. D., who are making a tour of the Canadian and Pacific northwest, are in Portland, the guests of Mrs. John Scott Mills, 629 Halsey street. Miss Wright will spend the remainder of the summer in Oregon and Washington, but Miss Barnes will go to Canada next week to visit relatives.
