Lane Would Give Cash for Evidence

But Point of Order Is Made Against Amendment Offered to Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill.

Washington, July 13.—Senator Lane made an unsuccessful attempt to secure the amendment of the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill by the insertion of a clause.

Provided, That the secretary of the treasury is hereby authorized and directed to pay, as a reward, 10 per cent of the amount of any money recovered in the nature of penalties, fines, forfeitures, or otherwise to the person or persons who shall first furnish evidence to the government of the violation of the anti-trust or interstate-commerce laws, or the commission of any fraud against the government.

Senator Lane made the following statement in support of his amendment:

"It calls for no expenditure of money; it will bring in hundreds of thousands of dollars. It will bring in the money that is being perpetrated upon the government. It is a useful provision. It is not against the law. It is in the bill and it is already incorporated in other measures which have been passed by congress.

RAILROAD NEWS

One of the little efficiency savings in the new arrangement of the Southern Pacific's general offices in the Wells-Fargo building is a matter of 10 miles of steps every day.

This has been "figured out" to a nicety by "Jimmy" Ormandy, chief clerk in the general passenger department.

Before the remodeling was started, the ticket stock room was some little distance down the corridor from the main office on the third floor.

Now it has been installed in the main work room of the department, within a few steps of the desks.

Mr. Ormandy figured that the two boys who visit the stock room oftentimes make about 150 trips a day.

The round trip used to represent about 140 feet of distance, which means 280 feet for the two boys.

This, however, was not the prime object of the rearrangement of the offices. The idea was to make room in the one building for all the departments of the company, which have been rather scattered through the Wells-Fargo, Fenton and Beck buildings.

The second, third and fourth floors are being remodeled, the work now nearly finished save for the last touches of paint and the aftermath of cleaning.

The offices of President R. E. Strahorn of the P. & N. have already been moved to the south end of the fourth floor corridor to give the accounting department more space by throwing out the old desks.

The offices of the general freight and passenger departments on the third floor have been rearranged, and started his usual preliminary. He was about to announce his text when one of the deacons handed him a note from his wife, who was sitting in the audience.

"Why not?"

"He might lay you out."

Miss Pickles—Certainly not. A good, healthy sneeze would blow you away.

Mabel—Why did Belle break the engagement? Edith—He was so untrustworthy. She found he was engaged to four other girls and he had only told her of two.

Mr. Gormpop—Fireman, before you turn the hose on my burning domicile can you assure me the water you use is free from bacteria?

Mrs. Kelly—I was young Jerry De-lan was nearly killed by too much study. And who was he studying? Mrs. O'Bryne—He was studying electricity and picked up a live wire.
