

EUGENIC INDUSTRY TO BE REPRESENTED AT SHOW THIS FALL

Better Babies Contest to Be Held at Manufacturers' and Land Products Exhibition.

IDAHO GOVERNOR TO AID

Executive Accepts Appointment on Advisory Committee, and Gives Assurance of Cooperation.

Better babies will not be forgotten at the Manufacturers' and Land Products Show, to be held at the Armory October 26 to November 14. General Manager Louis W. Buckley announced today that with the big pumpkins, big wheat shocks, big apples, big hams, big gooseberries and big fish, it would be unfair to leave out the best product Oregon can boast.

Detailed plans for showing the eugenic industry are yet to be developed, but the management is working on a host of other features that will make the show highly diversified and comprehensive.

With the arrival Monday of Professor R. D. Hetzel of the Oregon Agricultural college definite decision will be reached on half a score of subjects pertaining to the soil. A. F. Bateman, chairman of the soil products committee, will discuss with the professor what scope the educational features of the show should have.

It is probable that from 20 to 40 lecturers will tell of as many phases of modern agricultural methods. These will cover irrigation, practical demonstrations of soil culture, pruning, spraying and harvesting, marketing, improvement of livestock, domestic economy of the farm, housing, eugenics, and plenty of entertainment features.

Exhibits will be supplied by the O. A. C., including probably a miniature model farm.

Governor John M. Haines of Idaho has accepted a place on the honorary advisory committee of the Manufacturers' and Land Products show, a letter received from him stating that he will not only cooperate but appoint a special staff to help the movement.

Manager L. W. Buckley has received advices from Otis R. Dougherty of Molalla that the Dougherty pedigree seed would be exhibited at the show, with educational features showing how farmers themselves may be tested to assure themselves that their seed will germinate.

C. J. Tidcombe of Scappoose has suggested that fruits entered for competition for awards be displayed without any cards to indicate the grower or his locality, that judging might be made without any partiality or prejudice.

AD WITHOUT AN ADDRESS

Without an address a "For Sale or Exchange" advertisement has been sent to the Journal business office. The person who forwarded it is requested to send name and address to the Want Ad department of The Journal. The ad follows:

PRETTY new home, not quite finished, 3 rooms, lot 100x130, town in the heart of timber district surrounded by logging camps, a small well, would exchange for acreage, small good house, price $1600.

Car Men Hold Picnics.

Portland street car men are having numerous little picnics at nearby pleasure spots during the present warm season, for the most part the outings being held by the men who associate at the same car barns. Yesterday the employees of the Piedmont division held their outing at Estacada and tomorrow the light and power men will eat their fried chicken at Bull Run park. The employees of the Ankeny and Savier divisions are also planning outings soon. The Sellwood contingent having already held two outings.

ATTITUDE OF CITIZENS TO OFFICIALS, SUBJECT

Mrs. Lillian Mitchner.

Mrs. Lillian Mitchner has promised to tell members of the Oregon Civic League at luncheon in the Multnomah hotel tomorrow noon "How the Private Citizen Should Aid the Public Official."

Her remarks are based upon a several weeks' study of the average Oregon citizen's attitude toward administration of public affairs, and upon her experience as official visitor to Kansas charitable and penal institutions, representing the governor.

She is also a member of the advisory board appointed by the mayor of Topeka. Mrs. Mitchner is known as a ready and direct speaker, and league members have taken unusual interest in the announcement of tomorrow's meeting.

Vagrancy Charged In Suit for Divorce

Woman Alleges Husband Has Record in Vancouver and Portland; Mrs. Willetts Says Spouse Shiftless.

Alleging that her husband has a police record as a vagrant; that he was run out of Vancouver, Wash., in July, 1906, and was in jail for five days on a vagrancy charge in Portland in July, 1911, Mary Jobb has filed suit against John A. Jobb for divorce. She asks that she be allowed to resume her maiden name, Mary Goll.

Lona Willetts filed suit against Jess Willetts for divorce and charges him with being "shiftless and lazy," and that he would not work. She says that she secured employment and that Thanksgiving day, 1912, he came to her begging for money to buy food and lodging. She charges him with pawn-ing her watch at one time for money for personal expenses.

Suits for divorce were also filed by Christ Wuest against Paulina Wuest on a charge of cruelty, and Julia A. Razner against Joseph A. Razner on charges of cruelty and drunkenness. The Wuests were married at Hillsboro, March 25 last.

FINED FOR GIVING DRUG

Admission by J. A. Gilmore that he had injected cocaine into the leg of a drug fiend led to a fine of $100 being imposed on him Wednesday by District Judge Jones. Special Officer Sandifer of the state board of pharmacy arrested Gilmore and told Judge Jones that he had found a hypodermic syringe in Gilmore's pocket. Gilmore said that he had been employed at a St. Johns drug store but one day and had recently come from the Oregon Agricultural college, where he studied pharmacy.

SON FILES NEW WILL IN WHICH BULK OF ESTATE IS LEFT HIM

Mark A. Sturtevant Nominally Remembered in First Instrument Executed.

LEGAL BATTLE EXPECTED

Parent Had Been Adjudged Incompetent to Manage His Own Affairs.

Pendleton, Or., July 17.—What promises to be a long contested legal battle over the estate of the late A. J. Sturtevant, who died July 3 at Pilot Rock, leaving property estimated at $42,000, was seen today when a new will was filed here by Mark A. Sturtevant, only 17-year son.

The first will was filed for probate July 7, and in it T. J. Tweedy and Herbert Boylen are named as executors of the estate. In the new will filed today Mark A. Sturtevant is named executor and to him practically all of the property of the decedent is left. His wife, Alma Sturtevant, is to share equally with her husband, provided she continues to remain his wife, and if she survives him, she will receive a dower right in the estate if the stipulations of the will are kept.

In the first will filed Mark A. Sturtevant is named to receive but $500 and a quarter section of land, from which he would receive an income through life, the remainder of the estate being divided among the six grandchildren—Ester, Fay, Vivian, Lowell, Andrew and Clark. In the new will Vivian and Lowell Sturtevant are bequeathed the sum of $250. Provision is made for the care of Fay, while Ester is named to receive one half of the net proceeds and income from a section of land near Pilot Rock so long as she remains unmarried. The other two grandchildren are not mentioned.

The new will is dated November 5, 1913, and is witnessed by Dr. R. E. Hingo and George W. Couits. The first will filed was dated December 23, 1911, and in every particular is at variance with the one filed today.

Mr. Sturtevant was 80 years old at the time of his death, and for years had been under the guardianship of T. J. Tweedy, appointed by the court, as Mr. Sturtevant was adjudged incompetent to manage his personal business affairs.

Faithful Service Shown by Stripes

Gold or Silver Bands or Stars on Sleeves of Street Car Employees Are Decoration Authorized by Company.

If you see a street car conductor wearing a yellow stripe on his sleeve do not get the impression that he is an honorary member of the state militia or a survivor of the Spanish-American war. The decoration is to convey the information that he has earned recognition from the company by faithful service.

After a trainman has worked one year, he is entitled to wear a white stripe on his left sleeve. After five years, the stripe will be yellow. After another five years, the car man will be entitled to two yellow stripes. Three such stripes will be the badge of 15 year service and after 20 years four stripes will be worn.

As a special badge of honor, the employee who has served 25 years with this company or its predecessors will be awarded a five pointed golden star, embroidered on his coat sleeve.
