

"FOLLOW THROUGH" HIT TERRIFIC BLOW BY A PROFESSIONAL

Startling and Revolutionary Statement is Made by James Donaldson.

HUNDREDS SPOILING GAME

Present Day Drive Hit Pure and Simple Due to Introduction of New Ball, but Many Don't See It.

Stop! Look! Listen!! Here is something that is going to make every golf player sit up and take notice.

It is the first time, so far as known, that any American professional has ever made a like statement.

Get away from the fellow through—that bogey man of altogether too many golfers—and play better golf!

This is the revolutionary, startling statement made by James A. Donaldson, professional at the Glenview club, and there is hardly a better known professional in the country than "Jim" Donaldson.

Donaldson meant exactly what he said in that one short sentence. He is convinced that hundreds of present day golfers are spoiling their game by trying too hard to perfect their "follow through." He is convinced that the "follow through" is the cause of his rubber-cored ball is wholly unnecessary.

There is no longer driver anywhere than "Jim" Donaldson. He gets a 300 yards and over with great regularity. He takes off his hat to none of the mighty "swipers" among the professionals. His driving is characterized by length, direction and a proper height and flight of the little white ball.

Means What He Says. I mean exactly what I say when I advise golfers to get away from the "follow through" and play better golf," said Donaldson. "I know that it is against all teachings; but I know absolutely that I am right in my contention."

The present day drive is a hit pure and simple, and this to all that has been said and written to the contrary notwithstanding. In the days of the old gutty ball the drive was more of a sweep than a hit. The coming of the rubber-cored ball changed all that, but the trouble seems to be that a great many professionals can not or do not realize it.

Under cold conditions the ball did not leave the face of the club as fast as it does now. Then a follow through was necessary. Now things are different. The stroke is a hit. It depends on the power and the accuracy with which the ball is hit how far it is going to travel.

"How many times has every golfer seen a drive that has followed through in his anxiety to get the follow through that he considers so necessary the player almost invariably misdirects the ball, or he loses his swing. He puts the power into it after the ball is hit instead of before. He twists himself all out of shape in attempting to perfect his follow through."

Is Off His Feet. "He is off his feet, as a rule; his head is up in the air; his club is brought away around behind his back. In the world is a man going to keep his head still and his eye on the ball if his head is up in the air? He hasn't added a foot to the length of his drive. The chances are that he has taken yards off of it."

The professional went outside and drove six balls one after another. All were tremendous drives—and straight as a shot from a gun, and at the finish of no one of the shots was his club past the perpendicular.

"There you see it," he commented. "I am steady on my feet. My head is still. I pay no attention to the club after I hit the ball. I keep my eye put every ounce of power into the ball at the moment I hit it. Of course, with force behind it, it is impossible to stop the club the moment the ball is struck. It swings around according to the power that is exerted. But I am trying all the time to shorten up the follow through so that I can hit it."

Make Drive a Hit. "Make your drive a hit. Hit hard. Never mind about the finish of the stroke just so long as you do not draw up your hands so as to impart a cut to the ball. Let the hands go out after the ball, but don't worry about the follow through. Forget it and I'll gamble that your drive will have long on it that you will hardly know it."

Donaldson has taught and played golf in England, Scotland, Ireland, France and the United States. He has been at Glenview for the last five years. He has played in all of the big open tournaments. He is the holder of many records.

He was the first teacher that George Duncan ever had, and golf critics in Great Britain now are agreed that Duncan is compiling his very long list as a sterling player as there is in the world.

"I had a letter from George Duncan one or two days ago," continued Donaldson, "and George agrees with me about this follow through fad. And Duncan agrees with me on another matter for which I have long contended, namely, that there is no such thing in golf as a 'wrist shot.'"

Wrist on Irons Wrong. "You see altogether too many players, especially when they are playing their irons, attempting to get the 'wrist movement.' It's wrong. When you take an iron club back your left arm should be practically straight. Try to get the wrist in will spoil many a shot. Hit the ball hard and crisply. Don't be afraid of hitting hard with an iron."

And remember this, for it is most important of all: Finish your stroke with the head of the club in direct line with your hands.

In other words, throw out the arms to your left and stop the club when the head of it is in a direct line with your hands. Don't follow through.

Here are a few other points: "Everything written about golf says be careful not to sway your body. You've got to sway a little. It is impossible to make a full swing without swaying and make the shot right. Don't be afraid of swaying a little. Hold the shoulders back. Ninety per cent of the players get their shoulders into the drive too soon."

Remember that it is the forearm that do the work. The shoulders don't. Give the arms a chance to swing the club by keeping the shoulders out of it."

In Shilo, right fielder, the Harriman team has a sure fielder, and a very heavy hitter. At present time he is hitting at a .322 clip, most of his hits going for extra bases.

PLANS FORMING FOR TOURNAMENT OF ALL GOLF CLUBS IN STATE

Baker, Pendleton, Medford and Eugene Players May Come Here to Compete.

TURNBULL INDORSES IDEA

World-Knocking Game in Oregon Such as No Other States Could Provide

Plans are being laid for the staging of an inter-club golf tournament between the members of the Waverly Country club, Tualatin Country club, Portland Golf club, Baker Golf club, Pendleton Golf club, Medford Golf club and Eugene Golf club on the links of one of the local clubs.

If the plan crystallizes, letters will be mailed to the chairmen of the tournament committees of the various clubs. Inter-club tournaments are a feature of the season's play in the east and the California. During the present season, a number of inter-city matches have been held by the Waverly Country club.

George Turnbull the Waverly Country club professional, indorses the plan. He states that it would be a good thing for this game. A number of other prominent players in Portland are in favor of starting this inter-club tournament.

As soon as all clubs have been heard from, plans for the tournament will be drawn up. It is hoped that the tournament will be arranged so that it can be played in September.

THREE BASEBALL CLUBS IN ONE CITY ARE CHASING PENNANT

Chicago, July 18.—Three baseball teams belonging to one city and all three in the thick of the pennant battles in their respective leagues. That's the situation in Chicago today. With the Cubs, the White Sox and the Chifeds all "up there," it is not to be wondered that the Chicago fans are staying awake nights, dazed by the prospect of three championships falling to their city.

It was back in 1908 that Chicago established a record in the pennant winning line. In that year both the Cubs and the White Sox capped the flags in their respective leagues and later met in the world's championship series. No other city has ever won two pennants in one season. Now there appears at least a chance that Chicago may boost her own record by closing the present season with three flag winners.

A month ago neither the Sox nor the Cubs was figured as a formidable contender for championship honors, while Joe Tinker's Federal leaguers were rated as having only an outside chance to bring home the bacon. But about that time each of the teams started a winning streak, with the result that all three now see the hunting in sight.

Of the three teams, the White Sox have been doing the best work, considering the material at hand. Outside of the pitching staff the Callahan crew started the season with every appearance of being a weak aggregation. The desertion of Harry Lord, followed by half the ball amount, has already been made the team look weaker than ever. It was freely predicted that the Sox would drop out of sight by the fourth of July. But contrary to expectation the team took a decided brace and started their sensational climb. With "Big Ed" Walsh in a condition to pitch, the Sox now look to be traveling with the Browns. Their ball playing was apt to cause some stranger to shoot the whole outfit.

Lique, the Cuban pitcher, until recently with the Boston Braves, is a versatile ball player. He is now with Jersey City and when not pitching he plays the second sack for the "skateers."

Just when it appeared that Marty O'Leary was ready to show a little something for Barney Dreyfuss $38,500 the Phillies came along and knocked the wadding out of the Pirate slinger.

It is said Marsans' Federal league contract called for $6000 a year for three years. The sum of $9000, or half the full amount, has already been paid to the Cuban.

Frank Baker, of the Athletics, is leading the American league in home runs; Sam Crawford, the Tiger slugger, in triplets, and Clarence Walker, of the Browns, in two base walks.

"Ken" Nash, the former Brown university star, has joined the St. Louis Cardinals. Nash's duties as a member of the Massachusetts legislature prevented his joining the Cards earlier in the season.

Pitcher Faber is the best life saver the White Sox have had since the palmy days of "Big Ed" Walsh. Faber has saved several games for the Sox this season after some other finger had blown up.

Before the present season Howard Shanks was rated as a weakling with the stick; but this year the Washingtonians will not be able to spend any of a rating by walloping the ball all over the lot.

Now that Jackson and Chapman are back in the Cleveland lineup the Naps are in better shape to make a desperate fight for fresh air and sunshine before the cellar door is locked next fall.

The National Laundry team added another victory to its string last Sunday by defeating the American Laundry team by the score of 10 to 4. Hoss started on the mound for the American team, but retired in the fourth inning. The National team pitched for the winners, was a puzzle to his opponents in every inning, but the seventh. The National team would have been a great deal better, the fastest out-of-town teams in Oregon and Washington. For game write W. Walling, National Laundry company, or J. A. Hayward, 704 Wells Fargo building.

One of the very best wearers of the hat and cap around Portland is W. L. Bryson, who is doing practically all of the receiving for the Harriman baseball team. Bryson throws on a line to second, and but very few have been successful in stealing on him this season. He is batting .307 for the team as lead-off man.

Next Sunday the Harriman team will play the Piedmont Maroons on Fenwick's Park field. A good game is expected.

NORTHWEST GOLF PROFESSIONALS—NO. 8

"Sandy" Leth, professional of the Lakeside Gold club of Tacoma, Wash., and a brother of Willy Leth, the professional of the Tacoma Country and Golf club, was born near Aberdeen, Scotland.

He took up the game of golf when a mere boy, and like most professionals, learned the game when he was working as a caddy on the famous courses around Aberdeen. He also put in his time as a caddy master and a club maker.

Sandy is 23 years old and has been in America two years. Before accepting the position as professional of the Lakeside club, "Sandy" worked before the footlights.

The president's prize is the first of a series of trophies offered by rulers of different nations and it will be the most high-prized emblem, as the biggest class of boats entering the regatta are to compete for it, including Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge, which is under construction at Gosport.

MOTORCYCLE NOTES

A motorcycle special delivery company has been established in Moscow, Ga. And although in business but a short time, the company already has many patrons.

A single rider on a motorcycle is now doing the work of three bicycle delivermen, at the Crosby department store of Topeka, Kan.

About 50 motorcycles are used by the Bell Telephone company in Allegheny county, Pennsylvania. The county is very rough and hilly, and the two wheelers is about the only vehicles which can successfully cover it.

Twenty-five thousand miles is the distance that has been covered by a motorcycle used for delivery purposes by Carson, Fisk & Scott of Chicago. And the machine apparently is good for another 25,000 miles.

Seven additional motorcycles have been purchased for use of the signal corps of the Second division of the army stationed at Texas City.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Flaherty of Atlanta, Ga., are making a honeymoon motorcycle trip to the Pacific coast.

Volney Davis, holder of the ocean-to-ocean motorcycle record until maker's recent transcontinental run, is making a motorcycle trip from San Francisco to Texas.

The Concord Motorcycle club of Concord, N. H., recently affiliated with the Federation of American Motorcyclists.

W. B. Haupt was recently graduated from the agricultural college of Davis, Calif. Immediately after the graduation, Haupt mounted his motorcycle and sped over the 600 miles separating him from his home in Redlands.

A feature of the recent outing of the Quincy, Ill., Motorcycle club was the number of women who attended riding tandem, in side cars and on single machines.

A 255 mile endurance run is being planned by the Chesapeake Motorcycle club of Baltimore. The event will be held under F. A. M. rules.

C. V. Haines, a rural mail carrier of Salisbury, Kan., now covers his route on a motorcycle in almost one fourth the time it took with a horse. His route is 28 miles long, and can be covered in 1 hour and 15 minutes by motorcycle. With a horse, Haynes says, it requires five and a half hours to complete the deliveries.

A. S. Therasen, Bettineau, S. D., uses a motorcycle to help him clear his farm. To remove limbs and brush he simply runs a chain around the wood and attaches it to the motorcycle. The powerful two wheelers soon yanks the brush to the pile for burning.

Report comes from London that Promotor "Paddy" Bettinson is trying to match Frank Moran of Pittsburgh and Bombardier Wells for a 20 round bout in September. Moran has already accepted.

A number of the inspectors for the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals have been supplied with motorcycles.

Games Will Take Place Next Friday and Saturday Afternoons.

LOCAL MEN IMPROVING

Team Work Showing Up Well in Practice Games of Past Two Weeks in Portland.

The fast Vancouver, B. C., polo team will play against the crack teams of the Waverly Country club next Friday and Saturday afternoons. The dates were announced yesterday by H. L. Corbett, chairman of the local club's polo committee.

The White team, which has been strengthened by the addition of Harry Robertson, the Canadian star, will play the British Columbia team Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The game between the Blue team and the winners from across the international border line will be played Sunday at 3 o'clock.

The local club teams have been practicing two or three times during the past couple of weeks. The team work has been greatly improved by the changes made in the lineups of the teams.

The lineup of the Waverly Blue team will be the same as it was during the last game against the Spokane, Wash., team. Sherman Hall will play No. 1; Hamilton Corbett, No. 2; Gordon Voorhies, No. 3, and Harry Corbett, back.

The White team lineup will be Victor Johnson, No. 1; Dr. Whiteside, No. 2; E. R. Corbett, No. 3, and Harry Robertson, back.

WHITE SOX PITCHERS BOOSTING CLUB INTO PENNANT CONTENDER

Callahan Says He'd Rather Have Good Hurlers Than Good Hitters on Team.

CLEVELAND IS EXAMPLE

Joe Jackson and Larry Leja Do Not Seem to Be Able to Keep Hugs From Cellar Position.

New York, July 18.—The steady climb of the Chicago White Sox in the American league percentage column was the absorbing topic in baseball circles today. With a team of probably the weakest hitters in the league, Chicago is 52 points behind the Athletics, and every member is thoroughly imbued with the same confidence as its leader, Jimmy Callahan, who is looking ahead to cutting up the White Sox series money with the winners of the National league flag.

"I've seen all the systems tried," Callahan said before the White Sox left for the Philadelphia series, "and I have concluded that the best way to make an ordinary hitting team with fine pitchers is a hard hitting one with ordinary pitching."

"If Big Ed Walsh keeps on pitching the way he has of late, we are going to cop this pennant sure. We've got a young fellow named Farris that is running Ed a close second, and Death Valley Scott and the other boys are yanking off a scap here and there. Fourmie's playing on first base has made us forget all about Hal Chase."

The fact that Cleveland, with a team of sluggers like Joe Jackson and Larry Leja, seems firmly anchored in last place, would seem to show that Callahan has the correct dope.

Convinced that his Boston American also has a chance for the pennant, President Lannin is making every effort to strengthen the team. Besides Pitchers Shore and Ruth, and Catcher Egan, for all of whom he paid Baltimore $25,000 recently, Lannin is out to buy all the promising talent he can find.

In the meantime, the New York Giants are not making the runaway race in the National league which was predicted some weeks ago. McGraw's pitchers have been going badly of late. In addition to the Chicago Cubs, New York's nearest rivals, the lowly St. Louis Cardinals have actually got the pennant by busting in their millinery as a result of trimming the Giants several straight games on New York's last visit to St. Louis.

Report comes from London that Promotor "Paddy" Bettinson is trying to match Frank Moran of Pittsburgh and Bombardier Wells for a 20 round bout in September. Moran has already accepted.
