PORTLAND, OREGON, SUNDAY MORNING, JULY 19, 1914.

News for publication in the Sunday society pages must be in the Journal office by Friday

RECENTLY as a fortnight ago there were those who ventured the opinion that there had never been so many people remaining in town as this season. An ever increasing number of automobiles with make possible was given as the reason, But that was two weeks ago. Since then the beaches and the mountains have played havoc with the social rank and file and if the almost unsullied condition of this week's calendar may be taken as the criterion Portland soclety is divided into many parts. In this connection it is interesting to note some of the summer information which the Social Register gives of the 13,346 families, from all the large cities in the United States, concerned in its columns. There are 5691 families located inland; 4513 are by the seashore; 876 are found at bankers' addresses abroad-apparently the same number as last year; 184 are on their yachts; 852 families have gone abroad since April 1, a decrease of 20 per cent compared with last year; 237 families have arrived and 650 persons have married since April as compared with 743 of last year. Of those at inland resorts, 60 are found at Lenox, 299 at Bernardsville, Morristown and Short Hills; 133 in the Adirondacks, 164 in Canada, 101 at Bar Harbor, 1582 at New England coast resorts, 400 at Newport and Narragansett (a marked decrease over last year), 644 on the north shore of the sound, in Westchester and Connecticut, 428 on the north shore of Long island, 595 on the south shore of Long island, 250 at the Hamptons and 513 on the Jersey

During the past week the tennis tournament at Multnomah club held its own in interest, although there was little entertaining incident to it. A charming list of patronesses and their assistants presided over the refreshment marquee from day to day. Two large dances for debutantes at Waver-ly Country club, a smart tea or two and several luncheons rounded out an interesting, if limited, number of affairs for the week.

Captain and Mrs. Gordon Voorhies entertained with a delightful dancing party Friday evening at Waverly Country club for their debutante daughter, Miss Margaret Voorhies, whose debut was a recent event. Brilliant masses of varicolored oldfashioned garden flowers were the decorations used in all the rooms. Miss Voorhies made a picture of girlish leveliness as she greeted her guests. She were a beautiful creation of blue gray chiffen combined with lace. The skirt was fashioned with flounces of chiffon and the lace, the latter elaborated with tiniest of pink ribbon rosebuds. Chiffon formed the foundation of the bodice with lace over it. Miss Voorhies carried a wonderful oldfashioned bouquet of tuberoses, sweet peas, Cecil Brunner roses and baby-

Mrs. Voorhies was smartly gowned in white with the relieving touch of color a stunning girdle of blue. Mrs. Margaret Biddle, who also received, were white chiffon with a swagger little overcoat draped up at the waist line with a wreath of flowers. Miss Marion Hart Voorhies, sister of Miss Voorhies, was charming in light vellow silk. Her flowers were orchids and Cecil Brunner roses. Over 100 guests enjoyed the evening with Miss Waverly Country club has seldom presented so beautiful a picture as on Tuesday evening, when Wirt Minor was host for a dancing party complimenting Miss Ruth Teal, the debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Teal. Miss Ella Stephens planned the decorations, which were the source of many admiring expressions. In the drawing room, where the guests were received, the hanging in pastel shades of mulberry formed the color motiff, and the mantle was banked with blossoms of harmonizing tones. Tall vases and baskets of the same flowers were placed about the room. The immediate portion of the hall leading into the drawing room was done in pink and white with Shasta daisies, gladioli and carnations. Dark red gladioli were massed in the hall approaching the ball room and passing through the hall into the dining room the decorations were huge vases of golden band lillies and pink gladioli. In the dining room mantle was banked with pink sweet peas, baby breath and asparagus fern, while baskets of the same flowers centered the tables. Yellow and white predominated in the upper hall. Receiving with the host and his honor guest were Mr. and Mrs. Teal and Mr. -Minor's niece, Mrs. Herbert S. Nichols. Miss Teal was lovely in a creation of white charmeuse and lace. She wore a corsage of orchids, and carried an old fashioned nosegay. Mrs. Teal was distinguished in a robe of black charmeuse, with elaborations of bead and jet trimming. Mrs. Nichols Was gowned in embroidered creps.

About 150 guests gathered at Mr. Minor's invitation.

Mrs. Edward Hodges Freeman invited a few guests informally for Sunday evening in compliment to her guests, Miss M. J. Penington and her sister, Mrs. Lloyd Scriber of La Grande. Music and social intercourse passed the time away. Among those who called were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Costello, Miss Helen Baldwin of Denver, Miss Nan Raleigh of New York, Miss Dougherty, Miss Hazel Johnson, Miss Lucile Delahunt, Miss Helen Clark, Miss Maud Barnes, Miss Lola Crampton of Walla Walla, and the Misses Mamie and Grace Collins. Monday afternoon Mrs. Freeman asked a few matrons in to meet her guests. Among them were Mrs. Albert Johnson, Mrs. Chester Whitmore, Mrs. Carl Liebe Mrs. M. J. Delahunt and Mrs. Howard Winter.

Mrs. Johnson was a hostess for the guests on Wednesday evening, when she had music, dancing and refresh-ments. Besides the honor guests and the hostess there were Mrs. Freeman, Miss Hazel Johnson, Jacob Kamm, Le-Grande Purse, Charles H. Freeman, Henry H. Freeman, Edward Earl Freeman and Claud Johnson,

A riot of Spanish broom, coreopsis. gladioli and nasturtlums prevailed through the rooms, with the most attractive feature of all, a great cluster of mammoth white poppies. ing. Helping about the rooms were Margaret Mackenzie. About 50 guestz called during the hours. Wednesday evening Dr. and Mrs. J F. Dickson have planned a launch party for Miss Niebling's pleasure. The party will terminate at Waverly Country club, where dancing will round out the evening.

The Dansants are the thing at Seaside, where they will be given every Wednesday and Saturday afternoon in the Colonial grill of the Hotel Moore. Russell Summers of Spokane will give exhibitions of the latest dances. The long list of patronesses includes Mrs. Guy Webster Talbot, Mrs. John K. Kollock, Mrs. David T. Honeyman, Mrs. C. H. Six tables of bridge were arranged Friday afternoon for the pleasure of Mrs. C. L. Crellin of Pleasanton, Cal., by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Herbert Hol-man. Prizes fell to Mrs. A. L. Mc-Culy and Mrs. F. W. Prael.

The Unitarian Church of Our Father was the scene of a charming wedding Sunday immedately following the church service when Miss Sigrid Wijnbladh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Wijnbladh, of New York, became the bride of Thomas Dawes Eliot, son of Rev. and Mrs. Thomas L. Eliot. The nuptial service was solemnized by Rev. Thomas L. Eliot, father, Rev. William G. Eliot, brother, and Rev. Frederick Albon Weil, of Bellingham, Wash. brother-in-law of the bridegroom (Continued on Following Page).
