Little Miss Josephine Whitney who assisted at Mrs. A. T. Giesy's tea.

Spanish broom, the only color in the decorations, was massed on either side of the pulpit. Shasta daisies were used about the choir loft and the windows were banked with great clusters of arrowhead and huckleberry greenery.

Before the hour of the ceremony Mrs. Falkenberg played two Greek organ numbers, "Erotic" and "The Lonely Wanderer." Sudderbaum's Swedish Wedding march preceded the wedding march from Lohengrin which announced the bride party. The bride came in the arm of Dr. E. M. Wilber, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, from Berkeley, California. Her bridal robe was fashioned of heavy ivory crepe de chine with bodice of lace and long court train. Orange blossoms held in place the long wedding veil and brides roses, lilies of the valley and orchids formed the bride's shower bouquet.

Miss Henrietta Elliot, sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor. She was gowned in white linen with white hat and pink sweet peas for flowers. The best man was Henry Masten.

Following the service, for which the church was filled, the members of the family only gathered at the T. L. Elliot home for a wedding breakfast. After the wedding luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot will go to Berkeley, their future home.

A pretty luncheon of 12 covers was presided over at Waverly Country club Friday by Miss Margaret Ayer who gave it in honor of her eastern guest, Miss Dorothy Gifford, and Miss Hilda Smith, Mr. and Mrs. George Kirkham Smith's niece from Concord, N. H.

Two little people have made their advents most recently to homes where many messages of solicitation are finding their way. Monday a son, James Cook Crumpacker, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Crumpacker (Cully Cook). Thursday a week the Cannon Beach summer home of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Wynne Watts was gladdened with the arrival of a daughter, Mrs. Watts was Miss Helen Holbrook.

Mrs. H. S. Brill of New York, Mrs. H. Michel of Cologne, Germany, and Mrs. S. Wertheimer of San Francisco were the inspiration for a bridge luncheon, which Mrs. N. D. Simon gave yesterday. Eighteen guests were invited to the Portland for luncheon, where a pretty French color scheme of blue and pink was developed in the table decorations. Later the bridge games were formed at the Simon residence on Flinders street. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. A. Oberthorfer and Miss Sonnenfeld.

Miss Dorothy Westover chose as her honor guests for ten Thursday Miss Ethel Chamberlain, formerly of Portland, but now of Denver, and Miss Katherine Lewis of Minneapolis.

Miss Katherine B. Jackson of Chicago was the inspiration for an afternoon of auction given for her Wednesday by her sister, Mrs. Harold Tenny Burntrager. Pottery vases in green and brown held beautiful clusters of cornucopia and gladioli in the drawing room and library where the games were enjoyed. The dining room decorations were nasturtiums in crystal and silver bowls. Place cards, hand painted scenes of Switzerland, souvenirs of the affair, hand carved bears and the card prizes were all brought
