

KAISER PLAYING FOR HUGE STAKES IN WAR GAME WITH ALLIES

Entire North Sea and Baltic Coast Countries Will Probably Be Claimed If He Wins

TERRITORY FOR AUSTRIA

Italy Will Have to Pay Penalty for Not Coming to the Aid of War Lord; Greece Will Suffer.

(United Press Special Wire.)
London, Aug. 27.—That the Kaiser has in mind, if he wins the pending European war, the acquisition of the whole North sea and Baltic coast, from the strait of Dover to the Gulf of Finland, was the opinion expressed here today by diplomats representing countries in arms against the German and Austro-Hungarian allies.

Their theory was that he would claim, say, the French departments of the Pas-de-Calais, the Nord, Ardennes, the Meuse and Muerthe-et-Moselle, Belgium and Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Denmark, the Russian Baltic provinces, which have already large German populations, and probably Russian Poland.

Promises Nearly Broken.
The German government did, indeed, say that it intended to evacuate Belgium as soon as the military situation made it possible, and Holland and Denmark have been merely alarmed without actually being threatened.

Judging, however, from what the fatherland's ruler and his advisors undoubtedly would consider the necessities of their situation, observers of continental affairs were convinced that Belgium would remain a German province, and that means would be found of involving Holland and Denmark in the conflict before the time came for talk of a settlement.

From France and Russia, as having fought the Teutons, the demand for territorial indemnity would be natural. Was Austria Would Take.
In addition to this, it was taken for granted that Austria would get Serbia, Montenegro, Albania, and possibly the Russian province of Bessarabia, and from Roumania, which while not yet in arms, has sympathized with Russia, the Moldavian country.

Just as Germany declared it had no thought of taking territory from Belgium, Austria announced when it declared hostilities, that it had no designs against Serbia's integrity.

It was considered certain, however, that the general war would be regarded as having wiped out these pledges. Bulgaria, being already pro-Austrian, it was thought might expect to remain unmolested.

Turkey Not to Be Disturbed.
Turkey also, which, though it has thus far remained neutral, has passively favored Germany, was also deemed likely to continue undisturbed. Greece, however, as a friend of the British-French-Russian combination, was considered likely to lose to Austria, sooner or later, a part at least of the territories it wrested from the sultan.

With Italy also, for having failed to join the Teutons in arms, though bound to them by a treaty alliance, it was believed there would also be a stern reckoning which probably would cost it at least two or three northern provinces.

After British Colonies.
So far as Great Britain is concerned, Germany was thought to covet not so much a foothold on the British Isles as a share of the nations' colonial possessions.

Even in the event of a continental victory, it could not obtain this while the British retained control of the seas.

INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN WITH DIVORCE DECREE

Mary McGinn Warns Witness Not to Judge Defendant in Proceedings—Promises Is Made.
"If I give Wuest this divorce see that you do not marry Mrs. Wuest," said Circuit Judge McGinn this morning to George Fisher, a witness for Christ Wuest in a divorce suit against Paulina Wuest. Fisher had testified that Mrs. Wuest, prior to her marriage, had told him she would marry Wuest, secure Wuest's property, get a divorce and marry him. Fisher assured the court that he did not intend to get married.

Wuest is a tailor of Hillsboro. He said that Mrs. Wuest married him to get his money and then mistreated him because he insisted on being the man of the house. Letters in German to Fisher by Mrs. Wuest were introduced and Fisher gave a free translation of them showing that Mrs. Wuest was inclined to like Fisher best. One contained a poorly shaped heart of ribbon and the words, "You see my heart is crooked." Wuest was allowed the divorce.

BUILDINGS ADJACENT BRIDGES MUST HAVE SPRINKLING DEVICES

Dock Commission Will Cooperate With City to Reduce Fire Hazard.

HARBOR LINE CHANGES

Meeting Will Be Held Tomorrow to Consider Proposals of J. B. Ziegler.

Cooperating with the city in the effort to decrease fire hazard from structures adjacent to bridge approaches, the dock commission at a meeting this morning agreed to pass an ordinance requiring all docks within 500 feet of a bridge to be equipped with automatic sprinkler systems. The ordinance will have immediate application to the buildings used by Albers Brothers' Milling company near the approach to the Broadway bridge.

The failure of the county commissioners to receive bids for the interstate bridge bonds caused the dock commission to doubt if it can make satisfactory sale of an additional $150,000 dock bonds at this time, and it is probable no more contracts will be let until the more or less chaotic financial conditions are adjusted.

Changes in Harbor Lines.
"At the same time," said Chairman Mulkey of the dock commission, "I see no warrant for any 'fenced off' due to the war; American securities, on the contrary, should appreciate in value."

Dock Commissioners Mulkey, Keller and Moores and the commission's engineer, G. B. Hegardt, will attend the hearing tomorrow morning called by the United States engineers to consider harbor line changes proposed by J. B. Ziegler.

The city attorney gave opinion favorable to appropriation of commission funds for building necessary adjacent roadways.

The city attorney also gave opinion that it will be necessary to advertise for bids for asbestos protected metal for the walls of public docks. After discussion it was agreed that the ordinance requiring asbestos protected metal should be amended to include galvanized iron.

Business Matters Transacted.
An estimate of $1486 by Guthrie, McDougall & Co. for adjusting three ramps was declared too high and no action was taken.

The city attorney also gave opinion that it will be necessary to advertise for bids for asbestos protected metal for the walls of public docks. After discussion it was agreed that the ordinance requiring asbestos protected metal should be amended to include galvanized iron.

Motorcyclist Is Held Responsible by Jury
Cedric C. Anderson who ran into Mary Fairchild, accused of driving in careless manner.

Cedric C. Anderson was held responsible by the coroner's jury this morning for the death of Mary Fairchild Tuesday afternoon, when he ran her down with his motorcycle at East Eighth and Belmont streets. Anderson was not taken into custody, but is under order of the municipal court to appear whenever wanted.

The verdict of the coroner's jury is as follows: "The testimony shows that the deceased was attempting to cross Belmont at East Eighth street on the way to her employment at the southeast corner of that intersection, and while crossing said street was struck by a motorcycle driven by Cedric C. Anderson. The testimony offered, the jury finds that the motorcycle was driven in a careless manner, which was the cause of the accident."

Anderson lives at 1027 East Grant street. J. V. Baker was riding on the tandem seat of the cycle. Evidence before the jury this morning showed the machine was in the wrong side of the street for a considerable distance before it hit the woman, and that she was dragged about 14 feet. Miss Fairchild lived at the Montgomery apartments near the Oregon Packing plant, where she worked. She was 49 years old, and is survived by two sisters and a brother.

Son Held as Witness On Bail of $1000
Assault Upon Dr. Joseph Hickey Still Remains a Deep Mystery to the Detectives.

Dr. Joseph Hickey continues to improve at the St. Vincent hospital from the blow on the head delivered Monday night while he was sleeping on the porch of his home, 514 Vista avenue. The son, LeRoy Hickey, was released from jail yesterday afternoon upon bail of $1000. He is held as a material witness, and Attorney John F. Logan has been retained to represent him. In order to hold Hickey as a witness, a warrant charging "John Doe" with assault was issued.

Investigation by the detectives leaves the assault still a mystery. Dr. Hickey has not been able to talk of the attack, except a few words gained by the wife and physician. They say no light can be shed upon the affair. The police and detectives have been working on the theory that the son made the attack, but the boy denies any knowledge of the midnight attempt to kill his father. So far, no motive has been shown for the act.

Woman Says Dentist Slapped Her Face

Mrs. Martha Hobson Gets Warrant Charging Dr. Paul C. Yates With Assault; Arms Black and Blue.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Dr. Paul C. Yates, a dentist with offices at 291 1/2 Morrison street, charging him with assault and battery on Mrs. Martha Hobson, one of his clients. Mrs. Hobson appeared at the district attorney's office this morning displaying black and blue marks on her arms and red spots on her cheek.

She alleges that Dr. Yates grabbed her arms and slapped her face during a scuffle in his office. She said that she went to the office to complain about work done under a guarantee on her teeth which did not suit her. She says Dr. Yates ordered her out and when she refused to go she said, he grabbed her roughly by the arms and attempted to put her out. Then, she said, she soundly boxed his ears and the real trouble began.

The salmon pack of southeastern Alaska this season will run light, according to Anthony Eckern, cashier of the Scandinavian-American bank of this city, who just returned from a trip of the northern coast. However, he explains, splendid prices are obtained this year and hence those interested in the industry are well pleased.

Mr. Eckern, accompanied by his family, made the trip on the steamship Dolphin. They enjoyed delightful weather most of the time and were much impressed with the scenic wonders on the trip.
