WOMEN JOIN STREET MARCH IN A PROTEST AGAINST SLAUGHTER

New York Witnesses Impressive Parade by Old and Young of the Sex.

MANY ARE BENT AND GRAY

Rich and Poor Walk Side by Side in a Remarkable Procession of Peace.

New York, Aug. 29.—Silently, to the measured beat of muffled drums, a great army of peace moved down Fifth avenue this afternoon. Upwards of 2000 women, black-clad, without banners or the blaring of bands, marched in a procession of mourning in protest against the slaughter of human beings in man-made war.

Never before has New York witnessed such a spectacle as was presented in this procession, comprised mostly of women of middle age, the mothers of such men as are now sacrificing their lives upon European battlefields.

Scores Bent and Gray.

There were scores, bent and gray under the weight of years, who patiently trudged in the wake of the banner of peace, registering their silent protest against the slaughter of lives given to the world by the women of other nations.

There have been processions of women in New York of greater numbers, but none more impressive. More than 100,000 persons, silent, reverential, watched the marchers as they moved down the broad avenue from Fifty-ninth street to Union square. The throngs lining the sidewalks and packing the windows of the skyscrapers were unusual for New York. There was practically no cheering or applause as the silent host marched by.

A Silent Parade of Protest.

"Is it patriotism for women willingly to offer up the sons they have given the world to slaughter upon the battlefield?"

That is the question the women who paraded today have left to be answered.

There was no meeting at the conclusion of the parades, and no speeches; merely the silent parade of protest.

At the close of the procession Mrs. Henry Villard, chairman of the parade committee, silver-haired, but vigorous in her work for peace, declared she was most impressed by the attitude of complete sympathy in the crowds along the line of march.

"We have merely thrown a pebble into the great waters," said Mrs. Villard, "but there will be made many circles from it, and we hope eventually all women will be united so that they will not send their sons and husbands out to slaughter."

Rich and Poor Side by Side.

There was no distinction in nationality, race or color in the procession of peace. Rich and poor marched side by side. There were representatives of the women of every nation now engaged in the terrific conflict in Europe. A full-blooded Indian woman rode in an automobile with a Chinese.

Marching in the ranks was a division of negro women. Many women from other cities participated. There was a division of refugees from Europe who had arrived here from the war zone in the last few days. Miss Eleanor Garrison of Boston, a granddaughter of William Lloyd Garrison, arrived on a steamer this morning and immediately arranged to march in the parade this afternoon.

In the first division was Mrs. E. A. Shores of Seattle, Wash., chairman of the executive committee of the Woman's Suffrage association.

Mrs. Rose Berger of New York marched the entire distance, pushing a go-cart, from which her infant son, Irving McCabe Berger, cooed and cried at intervals as the silent procession moved on.

Escorted by Mounted Police.

An escort of mounted police headed the procession. Then came Miss Portia Willis, the grand marshal, and Miss Alice Carpenter, bearing the peace banner. The only inscription was the single word "Peace" in large letters. In the center of the banner upon a circular field of blue was a big white dove. Miss Rose Young and Mrs. Florence Woolston held the streamers to the banner. Then came Mrs. Henry Villard and in the parade committee of 100 were such well known women as Mrs. Elmer Black, Miss Mary Shaw, Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, Mrs. John Winters Brennon and Miss Lillian Wald.

The younger women were the marshals and the prime movers in the demonstration, but it was the women of advanced years, their faces lined with care and suffering, who swelled the ranks at the last moment.

IOWA WOMAN BEGINS ACTION TO HEAD OFF RAILROAD OFFICIALS

Charges Stock Manipulation by Financiers In Control of Rock Island System.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 29.—Application for a receiver for the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad company, an Iowa corporation, was filed in the Polk county district court late this afternoon by Mrs. Clara S. McNeil, of Columbia, Kan., through her attorneys, Parker, Parrish & Miller, of Des Moines, and E. L. Burton, of Parsons, Kans.

Sensational charges of mismanagement and stock manipulation are made against D. G. Reid, a big New York financier, the Moores, also of New York, and their associates in connection with the handling of bond issues exceeding $155,000,000.

The suit is styled "Clara S. McNeil, plaintiff, versus the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad company, the Rock Island railway, and the Central Trust company of New York, defendants."

The receivership action is based on a bond issue of $71,253,500, floated by the Reid and Moore interests in behalf of the Chicago & Rock Island and the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad company in 1902, with the date of expiration fixed at 2002, and paying 4 per cent interest.

The Central Trust company is made a codefendant by reason of its appointment as trustee for all bondholders when the issue was floated. The suit is also directed against the Rock Island company, a New Jersey corporation, charged with having been benefited by the manipulations of the finances of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad company. Mrs. McNeil seeks to recover $30,600, the amount of her bond, and it is said the action was started here to head off an action in an eastern federal court by the Central Trust company for the appointment of a friendly receivership.

The prayer in the petition also asks that the court instruct the receiver to bring action against D. G. Reid and his associates to recover for the use and benefit of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad company and its creditors the face value of the stock of that company in the sum of $145,000,000, which was nominally transferred to the Rock Island company, and that the board of directors of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad company, being D. G. Reid and associates, be removed from office as directors of the company.

William of Wied Is Virtual Prisoner

Ruler of Albania Has Yacht Waiting in Bay to Take Him Out of Danger When Expected Revolution Breaks.

Durazzo, via Rome, Aug. 29.—Prince William of Wied, Morel of Albania, is virtually a prisoner in his castle. The Albanian situation is growing increasingly desperate. That a general revolution is imminent is believed certain. The prince has sent most of his family away. An Italian yacht is lying in the harbor in readiness to take him off.

Large quantities of arms and ammunition have been smuggled across the border within the last few days. It is reported that Austrian agents are endeavoring to stir up the Albanians against Montenegro, which is now at war with Austria.

SPECIAL ROUND-UP TRAINS AGAIN TO BE RUN BY THE JOURNAL

Visitors Will Be Relieved of all Responsibilities Attendant to Traveling.

EVERYTHING IS PROVIDED

Accommodations During Two Days' Stay Include Berths, Meals, Admission to Grandstand Seats.

The Journal has decided to run special trains de luxe to the Pendleton Round-up again this year.

The announcement undoubtedly will be hailed with delight by those who enjoyed the advantages of The Journal's way of taking care of Portland folk last year and the year before.

The trains, solid Pullmans, will travel to Pendleton from Portland and return over the O.-W. R. & N. and the North Bank roads, and the passengers will be relieved of all necessity of looking for hotel accommodations, meals, grandstand tickets or anything else. Everything will be provided for by The Journal. All a passenger has to do to take a reservation is to pay $25 and then make up his mind to have a good time—something that is assured everybody who attends the thrilling wild west show which Pendleton can stage.

Everything Is Included.

The Journal special trains will be the homes, as well as the transporting means for Portland and western Oregon visitors. Each train will carry baggage cars and diners. At Pendleton they will be parked within a short distance of the Round-Up arena during the two-day stay in Pendleton.

Everything is included in the $25 charges. This means fare to and from Portland, Pullman berths, meals and gratuities to porters, and admissions to the reserved seats in the grandstand for Friday and Saturday, the closing days of the wonderful exhibition of frontier and range life.

By taking advantage of the opportunities offered by this arrangement Round-Up visitors may attend the show without the worries incident to traveling, and, in addition, the trouble of hunting quarters, and taking potluck in the matter of meals and grandstand seats is done away with.

Trains Parked Near Grounds.

The specials will leave both the Union and North Bank depots at 11 o'clock Thursday night, September 24, and arrive in Pendleton on Friday morning. They will remain parked near the grounds all day Friday and Saturday and at 8 o'clock Saturday night will leave for Portland, arriving home early Sunday morning.

F. S. McFarland, city ticket agent for the O.-W. R. & N., will have complete charge of the O.-W. R.& N. trains, and L. F. Knowlton of the North Bank.

Reservations on the specials can now be made at the business office of The Journal. Early reservations should be made.

That the Round-Up this September will be bigger and better than ever is something that cannot be gainsaid. Officials of the "Let 'er Buck" exhibition have scoured the country for the best in horseflesh, and the best riders to tame them.

Attractiveness Increases.

"Each year the Round-Up increases in attractiveness and in impelling interest," said William McMurray, general passenger agent of the Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation Company. "In a natural setting, in a vast ampitheatre, men and women to the manner born, wild horses and wilder cattle, furnish an entertainment so unique and so fascinating that it attracts multitudes.

"I know of no other city on the continent whose population increases from 5000 to 50,000 in a week. There is not, to my knowledge, another locality offering just what Pendleton does. Round-Up week its hotels are filled, homes are converted into lodging houses, tents dot the lawns, the tepees of the Indians looming up adjoining the city, long trains of sleeping and dining cars are parked, campers out find pretty nooks on the river bank, the streets are thronged and carnival prevails.

Round-Up Is Wonderful.

"It is good natured revelry. The general salutation is "Let 'er Buck," and this means that the visitor is welcome and that if he doesn't enjoy himself it is no fault of the home folks. The town is his.

"The Round-Up itself is wonderfully attractive when he members of the cowboy band with their favorite horses appear. They are the vanguard for a procession without counterpart. Cowboys, cowgirls, pioneers, Indian braves, squaws and pappooses, plunging horses, shot-ridden stage coaches are in line, moving to enlivening strains to the center arena. There are hundreds of performers, and all have some act of merit.

"Feats of skill and daring, riding wild horses, roping-long horns, hog-tieing, bull-dogging, relay races by men and women are staged in swift succession. It is a moving picture of surpassing interest. Nature made the film upon which is seen the thrilling performance of man and beast. The stage is a natural stadium, with surroundings which lend color to the actions. Deeds requiring unusual effort follow in swift succession, and general and well deserved applause is bestowed.

Record Breaking Attendance Expected.

"The fame of the 'Round-Up' is world wide. At our city ticket office in Portland reservations are now being made for the special trains which will be operated during the festivities. Our representatives everywhere report many inquiries. In addition to special trains, extra equipment will be added to all regular trains to Pendleton.

"I am advised by the management that the attractions for the 1914 'Round-Up' are greater than ever. A record breaking attendance is promised on September 24, 25 and 26. It is gratifying to know that the people of Pendleton have made provision to care for more people, and I am confident they will keep up their reputation for hospitality of the genuine western kind. The O.-W., R. & N. Co. will aid in every way possible in making the Round-Up a continued success."

HART AND LIGHTNER BLAMED FOR PUTTING CITY TO BIG EXPENSE

Holman's Plan to Lease to Municipality Part of Poor Farm for Detention Home

COUNCIL WAS WILLING

County Court Blocks Scheme and Ordinance Introduced Providing Purchase of Costly Acreage.

By refusing to agree to the plan to lease to the city a portion of the poor farm for use as a site for a women's detention home, which was suggested by County Commissioner Holman, the county court has made it necessary for the city council to buy more high priced land for public uses, in spite of the fact that a considerable portion of the poor farm, already owned by the people, is not in use. At Friday's meeting of the council, an ordinance was passed to the second hearing authorizing Mayor Albee to buy 80½ acres from H. C. Campbell for a detention home site. The property is located across the O.-W. R. & N. track from the poor farm and is to cost the city $8000, or $266 an acre. This land was assessed for 1914 taxes at $2750, or $92 an acre.

When the city commissioners announced the 1914 budget last December, which contained $15,000 for a detention home, County Commissioner Holman suggested to Mayor Albee that as the county poor farm contained more land than required for the purposes of that institution, some arrangement might be made whereby the city could use a portion of it on which to build the proposed detention home. This suggestion met with the approval of the mayor and the city commissioners, and negotiations were begun looking to carrying out the plan as outlined by Mr. Holman; but it is understood that Commissioners Lightner and Hart opposed it, and succeeded in blocking the scheme.

Boy Saves His Life By Presence of Mind

Arthur Turner Has Narrow Escape From Death Under Wheels of Heavy Wagon.

After being run down by a mule team yesterday afternoon at Park and Alder streets, Arthur Turner, 16 years old, was kicked by one of the mules as he clung to the doubletree to keep the wagon from crushing him. The boy's quick act in seizing the doubletree saved his life, although he was dragged several feet.

Turner was driving a delivery wagon for the Margulis grocery at First and Columbia streets. He stopped at West Park and Alder streets. As he walked across the street a messenger boy passed on a bicycle. Turner ran to get out of the messenger's way. In trying to avoid the bicyclist the grocery boy ran into the team of Marshall-Wells Hardware company, was knocked under the wheels and grabbed the doubletree as it passed over him. He was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital, but his injuries were slight. The only one of consequence was a scratch on the head caused by the mule kicking him.

Sea Lanes Opened By English Victory

Vessels Held in Port, Fearing German Fleet, Are Confident They Will Not Be Molested, and Prepare to Sail.

San Francisco, Aug. 29.—Confirmation of the decisive victory of the British fleet in the North Sea today galvanized the port of San Francisco into action.

This victory, according to private advices cabled to shipping firms in San Francisco, means that all sea lanes are clear and open to British and French ships, and there was a rush to get clearance papers.

Barley to the extent of thousands of tons has been awaiting just such news before it could be shipped. Four British vessels and one French sailing vessel yesterday prepared to leave port with their cargoes of barley, and there are still more that will leave within the next few days.
