AMERICAN BOY TELLS HOW FRENCH GAVE UP LILLE TO GERMANS

Defenses Robbed of Modern Guns Which Were Sent to Belgium Only to Be Lost.

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, Sept. 14.—The first story of the real evacuation of Lille, France, by the French forces, for which a French general was disgraced, reached this city tonight. An 18-year-old Brooklyn boy who was there when the French retreated declared that the Lille defenses had been robbed of their blacking stool that can be temporarily modern guns, which were sent to Belgium, and later captured by the Germans. As only obsolete guns were left. the French did not try to hold the

The boy is Harold Sykes, who arrived here on the steamer France. His father has a factory in Lille and he

"At that time the Germans had occupied all of the country to the north. The French soldiers told me that they had taken the modern guns with them when they went north to fight, and that they had all been captured. As the old guns were no good, the fortifications were dynamited and the troops evacuated the town. A party of only 80 Uhlans

"After the Germans came I hired a horse and cart for $40 to take me to Paris. But I was able and to take me to 1940. Paris. But I was able only to go to Lenz. There I was told there were no trains and the entire countryside was filled with soldiers who were retreat ing after having been badly defeated. All were short of food.

"One of the French officers grabbed me and threatened to have me shot as apy, and I managed to convince him that I was an American. But he wanted me to join the army. I did not, but I walked 25 miles with them. They told me that the German guns had a range of one third longer than the 8 Line French, and that the Germans greatly eutnumbered them. There were a few English among them, Highlanders, whose regiment had been badly cut up. We were retreating very fast, doing as good as five miles an hour. "I walked a good bit of the way to Paris, but part of the time I was able to get a bicycle, which enabled me to make speed. At that, it took me three days to get to Paris, although the journey by train takes only four
