The Neighbors Discuss Mr. and Mrs. Bully. Of course such an unpleasant affair as a fight between Bully the English Sparrow and Skimmer the Swallow for the possession of Skimmer's made a great deal of talk in the Old Orchard. Everybody felt sorry for Skimmer and told him so and said all the unpleasant things they could think of about Bully and his wife. "Sympathy is very nice, but a little fight would have been better," thought Skimmer, but he didn't say so. He and Mrs. Skimmer found an empty house, one that Drummer the Woodpecker built so long ago that he had quite forgotten it, and in this they once more started housekeeping. It wan't as pleasantly located as the old home, but still it was in the Old Orchard. If Bully noticed that they had returned to the Old Orchard after he had driven them out the second time, he took no notice of them. As long as they kept away from him he didn't where they lived.

Bully and Mrs. Bully worked very hard to build their home in the house they had stolen from Skimmer and you may be sure that they were closewatched by their neighbors.

"Did you ever see such à mess of for one home? Why, I could build three nests out of what they have already carried in there, and they are still bringing more. I see they and feathers.
