Little Stories for Bedtime

Chatterer Does a Little Spying Chatterer the Red Squirrel watched Jenny Wren out of sight, and all the time he appeared to be in a brown study over something. The truth is he was thinking of something Jenny Wren had said and wondering how he could turn it to, his own advantage. You know, Jenny had been gossiping. Yes, sir, that is what she had been doing. She had been gossiping about Bully the English Sparrow and Mrs. Bully, and she had mentioned the fact that they had six eggs in the nest they had built in the house they had stolen from Skimmer the Swallow. The very mention of eggs always set Chatterer's mouth to watering. And Jenny had

TRAINING SCHOOL, EASTERN OREGON NORMAL

THE above picture was taken in 1908. It shows the critic teachers, the student teachers and the pupils of the Training Department. The students of the Normal Department remained in the building. This picture is in itself a sufficient answer to the criticism that the Eastern Oregon Normal was merely a "local high school." High schools do not maintain training schools — neither does 81 per cent of their attendance come from counties other than the one in which they are located, which was true of the Eastern Oregon Normal. Its flourishing training school included a model kindergarten.

MORROW COUNTY TEACHERS ENDORSE EAST-ERN OREGON NORMAL

The following resolution was unanimously adopted by the teachers present at a recent session of the Morrow County Institute:

Whereas, The professional training required by those who may teach in the elementary schools of Oregon is rapidly advancing in order to keep abreast of the times; and,

"Whereas, Oregon is one of the largest commonwealths in the Union, making it inconvenient and prohibitively expensive for the teachers of Eastern Oregon to attend the normal school at Monmouth; therefore be it

"Resolved, By the teachers of Morrow County, in annual institute assembled, that they appeal to all friends of the public schools of Oregon to work for the success of the referred bill, No. 316, providing for the reestablishment of an Eastern Oregon Normal School, at the election to be held November 3, 1914." •

Vote 316 X Yes

Many other states have more than one normal school. Why not Oregon? The adequate and permanent maintenance of this school will cost you but 2½ cents on every thousand dollars assessed valuation of your taxable property. The Oregon normal schools were never, and never will be, the cause of high taxes.
