

OREGON CITY MUST PAY MRS. CHASE FOR GROUND IT WILL USE

Supreme Court Hands Down
Modifying Decision in the
Mrs. Chase Elevator Case.

(Salem Bureau of the Journal.)
Salem, Or., Oct. 6.—The supreme court today handed down a decision modifying the decision in the case of Sarah A. Chase against the city of Oregon City and the Oregon Bridge & Construction company, appellants. The purpose of the suit was to enjoin the defendants from establishing and maintaining a perpetual trespass by the construction of an elevator landing to be used in connection with the transportation of passengers between the business and residential sections of Oregon City.

The court holds that there was no dedication to the public of the land lying between block 34 and the crest of the bluff, and that the legal title and ownership therefore resides in the plaintiff. However, as to the sloping strip of land lying between the top of crest of the bluff and the easterly boundary of the way of the Oregon & California railroad, where it passes under the bluff west of block 34, it is held, belongs to the city as a part of what is known as Bluff street.

The decision means that Mrs. Chase is upheld and the city must pay for the land it intends to use as a site for its elevator landing.

The court also upheld the circuit court of Multnomah county in the case of W. P. Willett against W. T. Scudder, appellant, in which the plaintiff was awarded damages in the sum of $153.75 because of libelous statements made in two letters, it being claimed that Willett, who was traveling salesman for the Adirondack Maple company of Lovellville, N. Y., forged an indorsement to checks of the Scudder Syrup company.

The letters were addressed to the president of the Adirondack company, Judge McBride wrote the opinion.

ried response. In the Grace Memorial Episcopal church Sunday school is a class of little folks who just took a little time from the lesson and talked about the Christmas ship. And the result was that each went home resolved to help make that gift cargo bigger, that some fatherless boy or girl might be made happier. So L. S. Reveridge, superintendent of the Sunday school, came yesterday with his arms filled with bundles—parasols, dollies, a miniature windmill, picture books, a toy possum and a lion. Some of the little folks of this Sunday school class didn't have anything they thought good enough to send across the ocean, so they gave money instead, a total of $1.25, which must seem like a good deal of money to such very small boys and girls.

And last night the foreign class at the Y. M. C. A. discussed The Journal's Christmas ship and President Wilson. The result was that every man gave 10 cents, and every man was of a different nationality.

Mr. Reveridge is head of this foreign class and he brought the contribution, $1.30, this morning. He also told of his little girl, who intends to give, and he had prepared some verses explaining her interest, sentiment that should inspire other boys and girls.

Verses Explain Interest.
I'm helping to land a toy ship
That's sailing to foreign shores
With presents for poor little children
Whose daddies are off to wars.

You see with all of their fighting—
The bullets just fill the air
And people are saying that Santa
This Christmas can never go there.

You see his magic reindeer
Is all the team he's got,
And of course the dear old Santa
Doesn't want to have them shot.

So I'm bringing in my doll
And dear old Teddy bear
To make a happy Christmas
For some kids over there.

Roseburg Votes to Build a Railroad

At Same Election Occupation Tax Is Repealed and Bond Measure to Purchase City Park Is Rejected.

Roseburg, Or., Oct. 6.—By a vote of nearly three to one the voters of Roseburg on Monday authorized the issuance of bonds in the sum of $500,000 to aid in the construction of a railroad from Roseburg to Coos Bay. At the same time the voters repealed the city occupation tax by a vote of three to one, and rejected a bond issue with which to purchase a city park by a vote of four to one.

This election was one of the most spirited and hotly contested city elections held in Roseburg for years, and the women took an active interest in the result of the railroad bond issue contest, about which, together with the occupation tax measure, there centered a bitter fight by the different factions.

Four councilmen were elected, as follows: William Hargreaves was elected over A. T. Marshall in ward 1; D. R. Shambrook was unopposed in ward 2; A. J. Goddes over R. Hammond in ward 3, and W. S. Hamilton was unopposed in ward 4.

The railroad bond issue measure authorized the city of Roseburg to issue bonds in the sum of $500,000, with which, to aid in the construction of a railroad from Roseburg to Coos Bay.

It is probable that the bond issue will be in the sum of $500,000, with which, to aid in the construction of a railroad from Roseburg to Coos Bay.

To Guard Against Scenic Desecration

Mazamas Adopt Resolutions; Officers
Are Elected; Chaslet on Mount Hood
Slope Is Planned.

A resolution to do everything in the power of the club to prevent the desecration of the beautiful scenery along the Columbia highway with billboards and other forms of advertising was unanimously passed by the Mazamas, assembled for the annual banquet at the Multnomah hotel last night.

A. F. Flegel, member of the club, moved the passage of the resolution, and it was enthusiastically endorsed.

The annual election took place yesterday afternoon, with the following result: President, Attorney Jerry E. Bronaugh; first vice-president, Attorney Frank Branch Riley; second vice-president, George X. Riddell; corresponding secretary, E. C. Sammons; recording secretary, Mrs. Eleanor G. Sheldon; financial secretary, Miss B. Louisa Almy; treasurer, W. P. Hardesty; historian, Miss Mary C. Henthorne; chairman of the outing committee, LeRoy Anderson.

Within a short time the club will establish offices in one of the downtown office buildings. It will be headquarters for mountaineers.

The club plans to establish a hut or chalet on the south slope of Mount Hood and will appoint a good road committee to cooperate in the movement to secure a good road to Mount Hood and about its base.

Speakers of the evening in addition to Mr. Flegel were President Bronaugh, who succeeds H. H. Prouty to the office; Frank Branch Riley, John A. Lee, M. W. Gorman, a charter member; W. P. Hardesty, Francis Benefield, E. C. Sammons and several others. Miss Mary C. Henthorne read the historian's account of the 1914 outing.

At the same time the voters repealed the city occupation tax by a vote of three to one, and rejected a bond issue with which to purchase a city park by a vote of four to one.
