

ACCIDENT TO SMITH RECALLS BREAKING OF JOHN EVERS' LEG

Braves' Third Baseman Was Showing Off for Benefit of Fan Friends at Brooklyn.

DEAL WILL FILL UP GAP

Injury Came as Shock to Mats and
It Is Evident Players Are Discouraged.

By Hugh Fullerton.
Philadelphia, Oct. 7.—The Boston Braves were striving to rally today on one of the hardest blows ever offered by a world's series aspirant. Third baseman "Red" Smith is in a Brooklyn hospital, suffering from a compound fracture of the ankle, and a plan of Manager George Stallings has been seriously deranged. Smith broke his leg in the ninth inning of the first game of yesterday's double header between Boston and Brooklyn. He was trying to "show off" for the benefit of the Brooklyn fans. Manager Stallings had told the regulars that they would be excused from the second game, so Smith's injury came at the last possible moment. By an odd coincidence it was the fourth anniversary of the accident to Johnny Evers, who broke his leg on the eve of the world's series between the Cubs and the Athletics.

Manager Stallings told me today his plan for filling the gap caused by Smith's injury. He will start Deal at third base in each game of the series but if a situation arises in which a hit is needed he will withdraw Deal and send Whitted to play third for the remainder of the game. The chief effect of the injury to Smith is psychological rather than real.

Deal, a fielder, is a much better third baseman than Smith. He can beat Smith in every department of the game except hitting. Deal has had a long rest and has regained his strength after a rather severe illness, and it is probable that Smith will not be missed. Whitted can hit, but if he bats for Deal and then plays third, the team's defense will be weakened.

The injury to Smith came as a shock to the Braves, and it was plainly evident today that the players are discouraged. Smith was going at top speed, playing better than he ever did, and the team feels that his hitting will be missed.

The Braves came here from New York last night and spent part of the morning practicing at the National league park. They will witness the final game of the American league season here this afternoon between the Athletics and the New York Yankees. They know more very much; in fact, they know more about the Athletics now than is good for them. The Athletics have been advertised. It seems as if every baseball man in the country has been trying to help the Braves, and they have been told more about the Athletics than even Manager Connie Mack knows himself.

The Braves held a meeting before coming to Philadelphia last night and Stallings briefly outlined his plan of campaign. If they are capable of carrying out the campaign the Athletics will have a hard time defending their honors. Stallings is planning a rushing, fighting attack, and will attempt to break Mack's defense by sheer impudence.

Eddie Humphries to Captain Club Second

Eddie Humphries, one of the best second out football quarterbacks in Portland, was elected captain of the Multnomah club second eleven at a meeting of the members last night. Manager Dwyer of the team is very enthusiastic over the showing his players are making in practice and he believes that his team will win the city title.

The second team will journey to Salem on October 24 to play the Chemawa Indians. Games with Albany college and Pacific university are pending.

THEIR LEGS CRACKED BEFORE WORLD SERIES

The action picture shows "Red" Smith, of Boston Braves, who broke his leg yesterday. The small head is of Johnny Evers, who broke his leg on the eve of the Philadelphia-Chicago series of 1910. Johnny is now a teammate of Smith and his club is meeting these same Athletics.

ATHLETICS WELCOME TO ALL POINTS THEY CAN GET ON BOSTONS

Stallings Says He Knows
Mack Sent Collins and Baker to See Braves.

BEST NOT TO KNOW MUCH

Boston Chief Has Not Let Me Rest
A Minute and Will Not Do So Now.

By Hal Sheridan.
New York, Oct. 7.—Reports that the Boston Braves had sent spies to get a line on the work of the Philadelphia Athletics was denied here today by Manager Stallings.

"I know it to be a fact," said Stallings, "that Connie Mack sent Frank Baker and Eddie Collins here to watch our style of play in our recent series with the New York Giants. Perhaps they saw something that will benefit them when we clash in the first of the world's series games Friday, but I have my doubts about it. They are welcome to all the points they picked up."

"We know as much about the Philadelphia club as we need to know. And sometimes I think it best not to know too much. In trying to figure it out too close we are liable to cross ourselves."

"We may not win the world's championship, but I think we will. We won't win it, however, if the outcome depends on any sort of a spying system, because I decided to keep my regulars busy as soon as they got the pennant until we go to the mat with the Athletics."

"I have not let my team rest a minute because I believe it had to do to let a club ease up as soon as a pennant is won. It is easy to get in a habit of easing up, and ballplayers are likely to keep easing up right through the practice series. I figured the best thing we could possibly get was to fight our best up to the close of the season in our own league."

Perkins reports that Owner James Gaffney of the Boston Braves was dickering for the New York American league club were denied here today by Gaffney himself.

"That report is all bosh," he said. "One club of my hands is all that I can care for, and I would not know what to do with two. And it also must be remembered that managers of the Athletics are not going to let me like him to manage the Yankees I might think about it, but that would be the hardest thing to do I know of."

Boatright, Wagner Furnish Star Bout

The initial smoker of the Western Amateur Athletic club will be staged Friday evening in the clubrooms at Gaffney, of the Boston Braves, was dickering for the New York American league club were denied here today by Gaffney himself.

The feature event of the card will be the bout between Boatright of the M. A. A. C. and Wagner of the Army. Miller, who made a big hit in the first circles last year, will appear against Stein of the Army, who is rated very highly.

In the other named Ohio, New Jersey and West Virginia lead the states in pottery production.

FOUR ICE HOCKEY TEAMS FOR RINK LEAGUE IS PLAN

Seniors Will Organize for the Season at Meeting Tomorrow Night.

Portland will have at least four fast hockey teams in the Senior league, which will be organized tomorrow night at a meeting of the hockey players in the Portland ice hippodrome. Waverly, Multnomah, University and Portland Rowing are the clubs that will likely be represented in the league.

There are a number of fast hockey players in Portland now and a number of other players are coming from Victoria and Vancouver to seek work here and play on the local teams.

William Irvine, recognized as the best goal keeper in the amateur ranks in British Columbia last season, is here and expects to play with one of the local clubs.

Others, who have played hockey and who are living here, are Charles Uksila, former crack eastern player; J. Arthur Dawson, W. Leonard Dawson, C. R. Mann, Vincent Driscoll, Robert Cromley, L. W. Pearson, Charles Bearthol, W. A. Kearns, A. C. Thorpe, W. B. Owen, P. J. Lawrence, R. Hill, C. H. Beaumont, A. P. Lyle, G. C. Struelens, S. C. Ward, John Jensen, and Gordon Murray.

Leader Twins Aid Dobie's Champions

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 6.—Coach Dobie of Washington is having bad luck with his men in early training. There are four of last year's men in the ranks of the wounded. Miller has a great improvement over that of last year, however. It is expected that Miller will do most of the punting this year.

The leader twins are showing up better this year than they ever have, and should prove a great help to Dobie before the season is over.

The Multnomah club football eleven faces defeat in its opening game of the season Saturday afternoon against the Oregon Agricultural college team. The "Winged M" gridironers have not the leader they had in Pete Rodes and they lack the "pep" they had during the 1913 year.

Reports from the Oregon Aggie training quarters state that Dr. Stewart's players are much stronger than they were last season and have more fight in them. The Corvallis team is confident of winning from the clubmen. Coach Stewart is a little afraid that his proteges will become too confident of winning the game.

The loss of Rodes, McRae, Cherry and Rodgers greatly weakened Multnomah's team this season and Manager Pratt has little hopes of winning the initial game. The players lack the fighting spirit, but as this is a year of upsets the clubmen may win out.

Manager Pratt will substitute Rader for Day, Bailey for Philbrook, Conville for O'Rourke, Hall for Donaldson, Phillips for Striebig and Geer for Hargraves during the game.

A preliminary game between the Western Amateur Athletic club team and the Multnomah seconds will start at 1:30 o'clock. The big game will start at 3 o'clock. Vincent Borleske of the Lincoln High will referee. Dean Walker will umpire and W. A. Fenstermacher will be head linesman.
