

PUPILS MAKE SPEED LEAVING HOUSE AS ALARM IS SOUNDED

Seven Hundred Children Quit Shattuck School in Two Minutes, Five Seconds.

TEACHERS ACT PROMPTLY

Following Inspection Meeting Is Held at Which Notes Are Compared and Lessons Drawn.

Battalion Chief Stevens of the fire department stepped to the door of a room in Shattuck school yesterday and said to the teacher: "If I should tell you that the room next to yours was afire, what would you do?"

"I'd march my children out," she replied promptly. "Well, madam, that condition exists," continued the battalion chief. "The teacher immediately started the children from the room."

"But what are you going to do about the rest of the children in this building?" expostulated Stevens. "The teacher paused. 'I guess I'd better send my boy to tell the principal,'" she said.

Signal Is Sounded.

"Meanwhile," predicted the battalion chief in conference a few minutes later with the public safety commission, the superintendent of schools, presidents of the Women's club and the Parent-Teacher association, who were on a trip of inspection, "if school might have burned to a point where hundreds of little lives would be destroyed by fire or trampled in panic."

The general fire alarm, the same signal used for fire drills was sounded. The little children came trooping out. Some were visibly nervous, for the old Shattuck school's reputation as a bad fire risk has gotten even into children's minds.

Mrs. G. J. Frankel, president of the Women's club, stood watching them. Seven hundred children marched out of Shattuck school in two minutes and five seconds after the alarm had been sounded. It required two minutes and 32 seconds to get 1300 students out of Lincoln high school and but one minute and 28 seconds to get 925 children out of Ladd school. At Washington high school 1150 students were marched out in one minute and 48 seconds.

Notes Are Compared.

After the inspection by members of the public safety commission, the presidents of the women's organizations, Superintendent Alderman, the battalion chief, Fireing, president of the Rotary club, a meeting was held in Lincoln high school to compare notes. It was agreed that children in the first floor rooms should be marched out promptly that children of upper rooms would never need pause after starting, that children marching in pairs should take hold of hands to keep them in line and prevent panic, that all pupils should be trained in giving fire alarms and should memorize the fire department's telephone number, that certain boys in each school should be appointed fire marshals and others to assist cripples from the buildings.

Hay From Portland To the Philippines

War Department Will Advertise for Bids for Transportation of Product Purchased in Portland.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The war department informs Senator Chamberlain it will advertise for bids to transport from Portland to the Philippines before February, a quantity of hay purchased in Portland.

Market for Cheaper Salmon.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Senator Chamberlain is taking up with the department of commerce the finding of a market in South America for fall Chinooks, silver salmon and other cheaper grades of the fish. Modification of the foreign tariff on these goods may be sought by the department.

Postoffice at Vale.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Senator Chamberlain has been notified that the post-office department will lease from Lowell J. Hadley a portion of a building on A street between Court and Bryant in Vale, Or., at $420 per annum.

John P. Cooley Most Popular.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Candidates for the postmastership at Brownsville, all of whose names and endorsements have been sent to the postmaster general, having agreed to submit their claims to a popular vote, the result was John P. Cooley received the most votes. His opponent, as the result of the vote, he seems likely to get appointment.

Gift to Senator Chamberlain.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The city of Baltimore has presented Senator Chamberlain with one of the 24 bronze tablets commemorative of the transfer of Fort Mifflin from the United States to Baltimore. Each tablet was modeled individually by sculptor Hans Schuler.

School Directors Dropped.

Salem, Or., Oct. 9.—State Superintendent of Schools Churchill has suspended the action of the county school superintendent of Clatsop county in declaring vacant the office of William Billingslea as director. The Clatsop county superintendent had declared the office vacant on the ground that Billingslea had ceased to discharge the duties of his office for two consecutive months, as that he had not been prevented from discharging such duties by sickness or other unavoidable cause.

Superintendent Churchill finds that the reasons given by Billingslea for not attending the board meetings are not sufficient.

New Skating Coats Are Here $15.00

The skating coat is a successor of the sport coat, which became so popular last season. But the skating coat is far smarter and more youthful-looking than the sport coat—a novelty coat in different color combinations that every girl and woman will want. With the opening of the new ice rink this coat comes at a most opportune time. Made 38 inches in length, of Roman striped zibeline, with loose-fitting back, belted. Has two large patch pockets and two side pockets just right to keep the hands warm. This coat comes in many clever color combinations. —Third Floor

Concerning Some Swiss Handkerchiefs On Sale Saturday

15c Instead of 25c —Two weeks ago today we offered the identical handkerchiefs at the same special price. It was half of a lot we purchased from an importer. Not a handkerchief was left after the day's selling—Not one. For Saturday we offer the second half—the same quality. Not one will be left. —Swiss handkerchiefs with scalloped embroidered eyelet edges, dainty embroidered floral and butterfly designs in corner. Made on hand looms. Really wonderful at the price.

25c Imported Handkerchiefs 15c —English handkerchiefs with colored borders in green, pink, lavender and blue, fast colors. —First Floor

100 Smart Hats $3.95 —Every hat is made of silk velvet, in exquisite taste, designed to be worn by our most particular customers. Men's Durward Topcoats

—It is generally conceded that in topcoats there is more good style in London makes than in any made over here. They fit, but they never bind. They always drape gracefully no matter how much spare cloth there may be over chest and back. —Pockets are capacious for use and a pouch and pipe in one of them won't alter the good lines. —And whatever anyone may say, the cloth is the sturdiest in the world—stoutly woven, dyed in the yarn, in shades and mixtures, that indicate an admirable unconcern of conventions. —Individuality—that's Kenneth Durward. —Incidentally, these top coats, hand-tailored expressly for the Lipman, Wolfe & Co. men's shop in several styles for town and automobile wear, are priced materially lower than heretofore.
