Vessel Was , Stranded Sixteen Miles North of Point Titus on the West Coast.

San Francisco, Oct. 12 .- After bucking a strong head wind for the past two days eight steamers came into port Friday from various ports between Point Arena and Puget sound. Admiral Schley of the Pacific Navigation company, from Seattle; the Mc-Pacific steamer Roanoke and the Mc-Cormick steamer Multnomah from Fortland, and the Nan Smith of the C. A. Smith company, from Coos Bay. All of the steamers were delayed by storms. The Marshfield came in from Albion with only 200,000 feet of lumber. This is only a part cargo, but the weather became so bad that it was unsafe to wait until the ship was fully loaded. When the Pacific Mail steamskip Manchuria and the Oceanic steamship Ventura raced into port a few weeks ago, passing into the harbor nearly together, the affair was reported as being rather unusual. According to advices received yesterday, the same kind of a maritime incident will hap-

CHARTERED TO LOAD GRAIN Two Barks Engaged With Option of Loading Lumber.

With the chartering of two Norwe-gian barks for fall grain loading and he arrival in the river of three wind jammers the grain situation this morning was brighter than in several weeks. H. Houser reported having chartered the Norwegian barks Eldsvold and Cambusdoon, of 1814 and 1506 ons respectively, at a rate of 30 shillings. The charters allow delivery of lumber to the United Kingdom at Buenos Aires, the Norwegian bark on the Pacific coast. Steamer Georgian Cuts Off Month's Sailing Time. A saving of $10,000 resulted, it is those words, Willie, said, from the American steamer Georgian being able to come through the Panama canal to this coast instead of going by way of the Straits of Ma-

The Georgian arrived at Albers dock Saturday evening and Captain Sweetser estimates that easily that amount was saved. Canal tolls and pilotage for the big steamer amounted to $5200. The run was made in 26 days, while the running time around the South American continent would have been in The passenger steamers included the the neighborhood of 60 days, a saving of one month.
