May Have to Ask For State Sand

Governor West Has Plan to Require Companies to Apply to Land Board for Product of River.

Salem, Or., Oct. 16.—Persons and firms who have been taking gravel and sand belonging to the state from the bottom of navigable streams will have to apply to the state land board hereafter for permission, if plans of Governor West announced, are carried out. This will affect the gravel and sand industry of Portland, Salem and other places in Oregon. It has been complained at various times that there has been a sand and gravel monopoly in Portland but the state has never asserted its rights.

According to the law, the property owner owns to the center of an un-navigable stream, while in the case of a navigable stream, he owns to high water mark, the stream itself belonging to the state.

Governor West will put the matter up to the state land board.

Foreign Trade of U. S. Is Improving

President Wilson Calls Attention to the Fact That the Demand for Cotton Fabrics Is Increasing.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Steady improvement in the foreign trade of the United States, said President Wilson, is indicated by letters and personal talks with exporters. Although buying of raw cotton has not been resumed on a large scale, owing to the difficulty in getting quotations, there is a large call from the Scandinavian countries, Spain and South America for American-made cotton fabrics. Indications are strong that there will be an improvement in the cotton situation before the picking of this year's crop.

Imports for September, according to preliminary figures given out by the department of commerce, show $4,426,777 increase in imports and $445,821,296 in exports. The report says further:

Imports last month totaled $139,204,267, compared with $171,084,843 in September, 1913, and $144,819,493 for September, 1912.

Exports for the month are: September, 1914, $156,188,902; 1913, $218,240,001; 1912, $199,670,962.

Gold imports amounted to $2,761,590, as against $4,626,748 for September of last year. Gold exports were $21,757,284, compared with $49,037 for September, 1913.

The balance of trade again shifted to the export side in September, exceeding imports by $16,984,522, as against an excess of imports amounting to $19,460,356 in August.

The imports into and the exports from the port of New York during the weeks ending October 3 and 10, 1914, were as follows:

Imports—October 3, $18,515,011; October 10, $18,346,168. Exports—October 3, $13,270,865; October 10, $17,982,284. Exports for the week ending October 4, 1913, $14,655,458, and for the week ending October 11, 1913, $13,121,323.

Pendleton at Outs With Railroad

Pendleton, Oct. 16.—The Pendleton city government and the Northern Pacific Railway company are at war, the council formally declaring hostilities Wednesday as the result of the attitude of the company toward orders given for street improvements. The first move of the city is an ordinance requiring that a watchman be stationed at every crossing of the Northern Pacific in the city, and that a warning bell be placed at East Court and Washington streets. Three months ago the council ordered the company to build new concrete walks along its property. The order has been ignored. The council also claims that vitrified brick pavement between the tracks which the company laid a short time ago is already going to pieces.

Italians in United States Liable.

Washington, Oct. 16.—There being no Italian-American naturalization treaty, the state department held native Italians are liable to military service at home, even though naturalized in this country.

Fell From Bridge And Was Killed

Kennewick, Wash., Oct. 14.—While crossing the Northern Pacific bridge on his return from Pasco Wednesday, J. L. Deaway, aged 58, lost his footing and fell, being crushed to death on the rocks 50 feet below. Mr. Deaway was forced to walk on the extreme outer edge of the ties to give passageway for an approaching speeder, according to witnesses of the accident, and being poor of eyesight and of quite heavy build, he missed his footing and fell. His body was taken to Pasco for an inquest.

Mr. Deaway has a son in Burlington, Vt.

Struble at Spokane.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 16.—In an effort to raise $250,000 in Spokane and surrounding country to help build a boat line on the Columbia river, W. R. Struble is secretary of the Columbia and Snake River Waterways association. He says if Spokane will raise $250,000, Astoria will raise a similar sum for a boat line to operate in connection with the municipal docks at Astoria.

WOMEN WORK WITH VIM SECURING GIFTS FOR CHRISTMAS SHIP

Volunteers In Numbers Aiding In Making Portland's Contribution Most Substantial.

DONATIONS POURING IN

Still Further Need Exists for Shoes, Stockings and Woolen Underwear—Cash Contributions Spent.

By Vella Winner.

Say! Maybe you think that Christmas Ship committee of 100 women that gathered in The Journal auditorium Wednesday was just an ornamental committee that held a meeting to fritter away time.

I never saw women more earnest and more enthusiastic over anything. In fact, that is one of the joys of working on the Christmas Ship cargo. You don't have to go out buttonholing and cajoling—virtually kidnaping helpers.

Quite the contrary. They not only volunteer in bewildering numbers and variety, from the small boy who gives his nickel out of his piggy bank to the big capitalist who signs his check for a generous amount.

The principal of one of the public schools called up his pupils and asked what his pupils could do. Small packages of pinups were suggested, and the suggestion was accepted. Mrs. C. J. Young made a similar inquiry and then purchased two boxes of stockings.

Little Girl Brings Toys.

Little dimple faced Laura Nickless and her mamma, Mrs. Albertine Nickless, were among the first contributors this morning. Laura bringing a box of her beloved toys and Mrs. Nickless bringing clothes. A woman who did not care to have her name sent by messenger, four big bundles of woolen clothing. Mrs. H. A. Gatchar brought a box of flannel, and Mrs. Rose T. Hughes and her friends brought many more. The committee is buying for boys between the age of 6 and 15. Boys of the Vernon, the Shattuck and the Shaver schools brought toys made in their manual training departments.

Miss Lillian Tingle sent a bolt of flannel to a group of women already engaged in making it into garments. Hundreds of pinups were received during the day from A. Wellington, Mrs. N. Holzapfel and a contributor who did not care to leave her name. Little Grace Ward, 3 years old, sent in a silver dollar and her favorite plaything, a big woolly dog whom she called Triple; with the dog was a note from the youthful contributor: "Please be kind to Triple."

C. Gilbert sent in a fine mechanical toy, another contributor sent a check for $5, another brought a woman's woolen coat and a pair of shoes.

Need for Woolens.

Jack, Gladys, Nellie, Robert and Frances Pilkington put their pennies and nickels together and purchased a really pretty pair of eardrops set, with yellow opals, and they sent them to the Christmas Ship editor's desk with this little note: "To make some lady happy."

There is still further need for shoes and stockings and woolen underwear, also if anyone will contribute a quantity of flannel or flannel, there are plenty of women's societies which will be glad to sew it. Such efforts will be made by Saturday, else there will not be time to make up the garments. Cash contributions are always acceptable, and the money will all be spent right here in Portland for the things which are found to be most needed. If you want to know anything more about the Christmas Ship, call up The Journal, Main 7173 or A-5951, and ask for the Christmas Ship editor.
