

SMITH-FOR-GOVERNOR WOMEN'S CLUB OPENS HEADQUARTERS TODAY

Rooms on First Floor of Hotel
Portland Have Been Fitted Up for Purpose.

NO WITCOMBE CLUBS

'Fair Voters' Not Flocking Very Fast to Candidate Who Tried to Block Woman Suffrage.

The Women's Smith-for-Governor club opened headquarters this morning in the Hotel Portland.

Rooms on the first floor of the hotel at the Broadway and Yamhill street corner have been fitted up. The entrance is on the Broadway side of the hotel.

Mrs. John Nissen, president of the Portland Smith-for-Governor club is in charge and will be at the headquarters all day every day from now until the election.

Some committee meetings of the Smith-for-Governor club, which now numbers 200 in Portland alone, will be held at the new headquarters, and the rooms will be principally devoted to receiving inquirers, meeting workers and distributing literature.

"We welcome all women who believe in law enforcement and good government," said Mrs. Nissen.

"We shall have quantities of literature for all who desire it. We have rest rooms where women can make themselves comfortable while on shopping trips down town.

"We shall be glad to answer all inquiries."

The Smith-for-Governor club has enrolled as members many of the women prominent in civic affairs, said Mrs. Nissen. The presidents of Parent-Teacher associations, those active in philanthropic enterprises, those who have been energetic in the demand for enforcement of law are included.

"I noticed in this morning's Oregonian," continued Mrs. Nissen, "that fair voters are flocking to the Witcombe standard. Dr. Withycombe was opposed to equal suffrage. Women today would have no voice in political affairs if he had had his way. Women have not forgotten. I have been throughout Oregon. There are many women's Smith-for-Governor clubs. I do not know a Withycombe-for-Governor club anywhere. If there are any they have kept themselves so withdrawn from attention that I have not learned of them."

Man Says He Is Murderer--Is He?

H. Lamont Inlay, Tacoma, Tells Officers
He Killed Claude H. Mead, a Barber, Last July.

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 19.—His conscience tortured by continued brooding over his alleged crime, H. Lamont Inlay, 37 years old, a newspaper vendor, confessed early today, according to the police, to murdering Claude H.
Mead, a barber, on South Fourth street, on the night of July 26 last.

With several police officers, he later visited the scene of the murder.

Inlay, who is a well known character on the streets here, told the police that he had mistaken Mead for another man, whose name, however, he refused to divulge, and that not until after he had fired the fatal shot did he discover his error. His intended victim, he said, was a young woman friend of his, and he had warned this man of his intention to shoot him on sight. The girl referred to lives near the scene of the murder, but the authorities are keeping her identity secret. She told Detective Captain Smith, the officers suspect that the man Inlay had planned to kill had done her no harm, and that she believed Inlay was suffering from hallucinations.

Mead's murder was one of the most mysterious ever committed here, and detectives who were placed on the case were completely baffled.

Believes War Will Cost Nine Billions

Prediction Made by Paul Leroy Beaulieu, Political Economist, in Address in Paris.

Paris, Oct. 19.—Paul Leroy Beaulieu, the political economist, continued his address on the financial aspects of the war before the Academy of Moral and Political Sciences today. He estimated the length of the war at seven months, as in 1870. Each of the five great nations participating in the war he would spend one billion francs ($200,000,000). Adding to this the expenses of the smaller nations and the neutral countries on account of the war, would make the grand total which each government would be forced to face at an amount of 45,000,000,000 francs ($9,000,000,000). The liquidation of the colossal sums will not have to be paid if the war is likely to extend, according to M. Beauhieu, from three to five years, will absorb the greatest part of the world's savings.

be held in the central library tonight, at which initiative measures coming before the people at the next election are discussed. George S. Shepherd is the speaker advertised to speak on the bill, but as attacks against it are anticipated, friends of the measure have engaged Judge McGinn to reply to Mr. Shepherd.

The non-partisan judiciary measure is sponsored by Circuit Judges Gan-sleben, Gatens and Davis, who were appointed a committee to initiate the bill.

Perpetual Piano Playing

IT IS CERTAINLY THE TALK OF PORTLAND

Several days ago a man by the name of Waterbury who holds the world's record of 85 hours and 7 minutes, made a proposition to endeavor to break his world's record. He, however, only played 19 hours and 40 minutes, when the San Francisco man, Mr. Milo, broke his record by playing 25 hours and 45 minutes. Now comes a proposition from a Portland boy, Mr. Simmons. He previous long-time Portland records.
It will be interesting and we feel sure the Portland boy can break all previous long-time Portland records.
Be sure and see him. He plays day and night, never taking his hands off the keyboard.

Admits Passing Bad Checks.

downfall of Hugh B. Dobbs, the 17-year-old son of a wealthy stockman of Prineville, Or., Saturday, and this

In addition to these funds the dis-

War Enthusiasm in Canada Is Great

Many Regiments of Troops Being Recruited and Sent to Front, Says Railroad Man.

Enthusiasm over the war has quite taken possession of the people of western Canada, according to W. C. Wilkes, assistant general freight and passenger agent of the North Bank road, who returned here from a tour of inspection of traffic here at Vancouver, B. C.

"We went to the theatre Friday night," said Mr. Wilkes, "and the orchestra played 'The Star Spangled Banner' and the people would tear down the house in their excitement. Then 'The Star Spangled Banner' was played and the demonstration was nearly as great. Although you hear little about it, many regiments of troops are being recruited in all parts of Canada and are being sent to the front.

"While I was getting my berth reservation for the trip home, a young aviator of local renown was getting his ticket for England, taking his plane with him for enlistment in the British aerial corps.

"But the people are rather uneasy.
They do not actually fear a German attack by sea, but they are getting quieting and accordingly there is little extension of investment until it is known how far the war is going."

H. E. Lounsbury, general freight agent of the O-W. R. & N. Co., also attended the conference, which had to do with routine traffic matters. Mrs.
Wilkes and Mrs. Lounsbury accompanied their husbands.

Albert's Second Trial to Begin

Defendant Was Acquitted of Arson Charge Two Weeks Ago—Other Indictments Disposed Of.

The trial of Max Albert, charged with arson, will begin before Circuit Judge McGinn tomorrow morning. Albert was acquitted of the charge of arson from the fire in the store of L.
Sax & Son, 207 First street, by a jury in Circuit Judge Morrow's court two weeks ago.

The indictment on which he is to be tried tomorrow charges him with setting fire to a rented house at 848 Sumner street. The trial was at first set for Thursday, but by agreement was advanced to tomorrow.

Albert is alleged to be a member of a so-called "arson trust," involved in seven indictments based on as many fires. A. W. Bennett was freed of one charge when Judge McGinn directed a verdict of acquittal last week on the ground that improper methods were used to secure evidence. Indictments against the O-W. R. & N. Co., Sam Sax, were dismissed Saturday.

Striz Thorstensen, 16 years old, of were hunting west
