Democratic Candidate for Congressman Tells Important Work to Be Done.

TRIBUTE PAID TO SMITH

Pendleton Man Who Well Knows Candidate for Governor Tells of Physician's Sterling Qualities.

The Democratic meeting at Falling school last night was well attended, and great interest shown in the addresses, which were delivered by A. F. Flegel, candidate for congress, Harold Warner, on behalf of Dr. C. J. Smith, and Judge John Van Zante, on behalf of Tom Wood for sheriff.

Mr. Flegel spoke of the duties of congressmen and the importance of the office of Portland of having a representative in congress who is familiar with the needs of the state and in harmony with the western spirit of conservatism and improvement, and would and could cooperate with all agencies in the state, in representing to the national administration the needs and spirit of progress.

NEWSIES DOWN RIPE OREGON APPLES AND ARE FEELING GREAT

Lads Enjoy Feast in Eating Contest and Doctor Is Not Needed, Either.

It's a good thing for some 200 newsies and a bad thing for numerous doctors that all the apples absorbed in yesterday's "chawing" contest were perfectly ripe. The Order of Muts rates and regulations are adopted by the forest service, the irrigation service, the engineering corps and the land department that the most will be made from these resources and will be preserved for all the people of the state and saved from the few special interests which have heretofore, with the aid of a friendly administration, been able to absorb so much of the state's valuable property without giving anything in return.

CHAMBERLAIN'S VOTE FOR PEACE PRESIDENT

Present Is Momentous Time. This is a momentous time in the history of the United States; momentous for that which has been accomplished in legislation in 18 months; momentous in what has not been done; momentous for the history that is being made.

I wish to call your attention to some of the national accomplishments for the benefit of labor. Laws have been enacted providing for an eight-hour day on all government work, for women in the District of Columbia, for laborers on dredgers, for contractors supplying ordnance and powder to the government, for postoffice clerks and letter carriers in all naval work; in mines supplying coal used by the government.

Some present will remember an old injunction that the day should be divided in three parts—one for labor, one for refreshments, recreation and improvement of the mind and one for sleep. Here is combined both the ideal and rational division of time.

Bills have also been passed to devise ways to improve the condition of children, to investigate industrial relations, and to determine the relation of labor organizations to anti-trust laws, and a department of labor established and a secretary made a member of the cabinet. When before was such a record for the improvement of labor conditions made in our history of legislation?

In addition to this record of achievement are the downward revision of the tariff, the national re-bank act, the Clayton-Oliver anti-trust act, income tax, Alaska railway act, rural credits extended, and many others.

Saved From Bloody War. Momentous for what has not been done. President Wilson refused to permit this country to be plunged into a war with Mexico, and defiantly declared that so long as he was president there would be no war for conquest. Do you want war with its attendant loss, suffering and carnage, or peace, which means plenty?

The time is momentous because of the terrible war in Europe. Our nation—the only world power at peace. This nation stands neutral, stands as the servant of other nations, trusted with their highest and most sacred affairs. It is looked to as the friend of all, and the friend to whom all nations will look for help in solving the problems of peace, which must come when they have exhausted their treasure and the lives of their best people.

In this time, when by capacity record has so clearly demonstrated their ability to deal with so complicated and delicate a situation as our president and his advisers I appeal to your judgment, I appeal to your patriotism and to your loyalty to support the great peace president by your votes in November and vote for Chamberlain and Flegel. They stand for President Wilson.

Dr. Smith's Sterling Character. Mr. Warner, formerly of Pendleton, made a stirring address for Dr. C. J. Smith.

"I desire to stand with those who are working for higher ideals in government, coupled with the best business principles," he said. "I am supporting Dr. Smith because he represents most nearly these ideals, coupled with a business experience which will insure the best for all the people of the state."

He reviewed the record of Dr. Smith in his old home in Pendleton in his professional and official capacity, and showed that his life was an open book without a blot or blemish.

"He was always found on the side of right and good government," he said, "and opposed to wrong and graft."

"He was given a vote of confidence by his old neighbors in Emmalla county, and as Woodrow Wilson now carries all the votes from your vote for senator and congressman."

"Dr. Smith stands for law enforcement and efficiency in government, and that taxes may be reduced. He is a progressive, not a reactionary, and a vote for Dr. Smith is a vote for progress and the highest ideals in government."

More Than Lawmaker. "Your representative in congress is more than a lawmaker, although a member of one of the greatest law-making bodies in the world," said Mr. Flegel. "He called attention to the laws passed by the present Democratic administration, making for improved labor conditions, and urged every patriotic citizen to stand by the administration at this time and vote President Wilson such a vote of confidence as would encourage and strengthen him in his purpose to serve the people of this nation."

What some 20 youngsters did with the $1 prizes awarded them for speed in, downing three apples still give rise to apprehension today. So much candy, ice cream and similar upholstery can be bought for $1 that some parents are locking up their children with the garlic acid of the fruit already devoured might cause untold grief.

Divided Into Squads. The boys were divided into squads of five, each presided over by a Mut, who acted as judge. George L. Baker was chief judge, and Police Captain Moore was official starter. Soon after 6 o'clock, when the captain's gun boomed the signal, the pavement at Sixth and Alder began to resemble a cider press. Apples vanished down and with direct masses of juice, and not absorb all the juice and most of it cascaded over chins, down necks and upon the asphalt.

Each lad, according to rule was obliged to eat three apples and to whistle after downing each, as a token that his mouth was clear. Some youngsters thrust heads behind the backs of comrades and spat out the pulp as fast as they bit it off, but a judge observed this procedure and put a stop to it. Others hammered their apples on the pavement until they were nothing but masses of juice, and then crammed the whole thing down.

After it was all over, the judges finally figured out that these lads had won the prizes, one from each squad: Albert Dickstorf, Sol Roscraft, James Anderson, William McCarthy, David Rosen, Moses Mesher, Dinny Roberts, John Boscow, Ralph Leonard, Herbert Zunger, Ben Kulchinsky, Verlin Masterson, Isaac Sirus, Robert Poole, Vensendo Valfreda, Henry Rosen, Isidore Tessler, Sam Pearlman, N. Lippmann, N. Lencher, Max Gordon and Albert Schocket.

The real fun making tug of war, however, was in the selection of the grand champion apple eater. The winners of the preliminary were ranged behind a horizontal plank, with hands tied behind them. Each had laid his hand on the plank, and on the cap was placed an apple. The game was to see who first could gnaw his apple into nothingness. Ben Kulchinsky was declared supreme, with Sam Pearlman such a close second that he was given some of the sweepstakes money.

A crowd of thousands watched the fun and joined the rush on what was left of 2000 apples piled in the center of the enclosure.

Gasoline Causes Fire. Fire, caused when articles of wearing apparel that had been cleaned in gasoline were placed too near a kitchen stove, resulted in damage estimated at $1200 to the residence of A. R. Ritter, 1297 Sandy boulevard, shortly before noon today. Mrs. Ritter was cleaning with gasoline in the kitchen and her arms were badly blistered in attempting to rescue some of the burned articles. The fire spread rapidly and damaged the rear part of the house, which is a two-story structure.

Jury Convicts Metzger. Following a jury trial in the municipal court yesterday, Barney Metzger, proprietor of the Sanitary Beauty Parlors in the Dekum building, was found guilty of operating his business under an assumed name without filing a certificate with the county clerk and the state secretary. He will be sentenced this afternoon.

JUDICIAL RECALL IS CONDEMNED BY BAR AS VICIOUS DOCTRINE

Anti-Trust Legislation Is Also Disapproved by American Bar Association.

DENOUNCE JUSTICE CLARK

Anti-Trust Law Is Said to Discriminate Against Property and in Favor of the Labor Organizations.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Washington, Oct. 21.—Condemnation of the judicial recall and anti-trust legislation, and the labor exemption clause included in the recent anti-trust legislation, was made here today in a committee report submitted to the annual convention of the American Bar association.

Of the advocates of the judicial recall, one committee report said: "They would substitute in place of the careful judgment of the tribunal of triers, experienced in the trial of facts and learned in the law, the arbitrary and capricious pre-judgment of comparatively incapable arbiters, declared at a mass meeting or a referendum election."

Anti-Trust Laws Criticized. Discussing the anti-trust law, another committee report said: "This new legislation discriminates against the successful man. It snatches the prize from the hopeful and energetic, and legalizes weapons of offense on the part of labor unions, encourages lawless labor leaders. There are some who love the excitement and riotousness of strikes and profit by them."

The committee to oppose judicial recall denounced Chief Justice Walter Clark of the North Carolina supreme court, showing reasons for his opposition, because of his advocacy of the recall of decisions. The committee said: "Some who would disavow the Socialist, as such, nevertheless are of this Socialist doctrine. Within the past year, a chief justice of one of the oldest and most respected courts of the entire nation, held up to derision our federal constitution and its major parts, showing itself an ardent advocate of decision recalls and other changes in our form of government. His attack on the federal constitution was granted in the name of justice, never been surpassed in malignity and vituperation by that of any Socialist doctrinaire."

Change of Sentiment Seen. In summarizing its report, the committee said: "A perceptible change in sentiment toward the judicial recall is slowly but surely showing itself among the people of the different states. In many localities its true nature is not yet understood. In most states the average citizen has not the correct appreciation of its baneful character."

A special committee to suggest remedies and formulate proposed laws, copied that the house judiciary committee had not kept its promise to give the committee a hearing on anti-trust legislation. Of the anti-trust law, the committee said: "It discriminates in favor of labor organizations, forbids injunctions in labor controversies, which would be granted in other cases, makes certain acts legal when done by labor unions which would be illegal when done by others."

Force Would Replace Courts. "Can it have occurred to the gentlemen who propose this legislation that if the courts cannot decide these controversies peaceably, they will be decided by force? We have seen plainly the shocking results of the latter method in Colorado. Would it not have been better to have questions which have given rise to bloodshed there decided in an orderly manner by the Colorado courts?"

Your committee is not opposed to organized labor. We freely concede the laboring man the same right to organize that his employer possesses. For our own part, we believe that deadly competition is uncivilized. This, and this alone, is the crime alleged against the founders of the Standard Oil company. It is perfectly plain that public sentiment and the law administered do not permit 'deadly competition' by corporations. On every principle of equality and justice it should not be permitted to trade unions."

The committee on taxation found 25 faults with the new income tax law.

WEST TO MEET BOOTH IN JOINT DISCUSSION NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

(Continued from Page One.) or the subject under discussion. It sets itself up to judge what is "pertinent" and what is not.

Oregonian Persistently Falsifies. This demand by the governor for a fair, impartial and complete report by the Oregonian was based on the untruthful, garbled reports that paper has been making of the governor's addresses, such as its report from Eugene, in which it placed words in the governor's mouth which he never said. It stated that the governor admitted Mr. Booth's honesty in obtaining his timber lands. An untruthful, unfair and inadequate report was also given by the Oregonian of the governor's address last week in the Washington high school, at which time the governor answered the Oregonian's challenge to tell where Booth got his timber.

The Oregonian had at that meeting a shorthand reporter who took a full stenographic report of all that the governor said, but the Oregonian made no use of it. Yesterday Mr. Booth endeavored to impose upon The Journal the same condition that the governor imposed upon the Oregonian. Mr. Booth was told that The Journal would publish a full, accurate and adequate report of the meeting.

The Journal's Reports Are Truthful. He was reminded The Journal gave entire page to a verbatim report of his speech at Albany, in which he undertook to answer the question of the Albany Democrat, "Where did you get it?" Mr. Booth was told further that while The Journal would report the proposed discussion with absolute fairness, it would not accede to any such conditions as the governor had imposed upon the Oregonian, for the reason that The Journal had not been guilty of such misrepresentations and falsehoods as have characterized the columns of the Oregonian. In his acceptance of the Oregonian's challenge to meet Mr. Booth, the gov-

Judge Cleston Seeks More Light on Supreme Court Decision Handed Down Yesterday.

At the request of Rufus C. Holman, chairman of the board of county commissioners, District Attorney Evans is preparing quo warranto proceedings to be filed in the supreme court this afternoon if possible to determine Holman's right to his office. The question as to the legality of the act which created the third commissioner-ship and named Holman as commissioner was raised in the supreme court decision yesterday, which held that the act creating the sixth circuit court, abolishing the county court and naming former County Judge Cleston as the new circuit judge in this county is unconstitutional. As county judge, Cleston was ex-officio chairman of the board of county commissioners.

Mr. Evans advised the board that, pending a decision as to Mr. Holman's status, it would be best that no orders be made unless both Commissioners Hart and Lightner agree, that there may be a majority of the board without Mr. Holman voting for each order.

Judge Cleston went to Salem this morning to secure more light if possible on the decision of the supreme court handed down yesterday. Considerable doubt as to the real meaning and extent of the decision exists. District Attorney Evans has not yet seen the decision but said that from the reports in the papers he was of the opinion that the new department of the circuit court does not now exist and that Judge Cleston is still county judge.

Partly because of the mixup resulting from the decision and in order that Attorney C. H. Carey may have time to confer with eastern directors of the United Railways and Hill lines, further action on the petition of Linn residents for the revocation of the United Railways' franchise along the St. Helens road has been postponed for another week.

'UNCLE' STEIN ACQUITTED

Philip Stein, proprietor of the pawnshop at 26 North Sixth street, was acquitted of a charge of having stolen property showing itself among the people of the different states. The complaint was made by Dr. S. F. Barber, a dentist, that Stein had received a dental chair and tools that had been stolen from Dr. Barber's office. A son, H. T. Barber, who is said to have taken the property from his father's office, testified that he had received a loan of $20 on the chair from Stein.

MAID TESTIFIES MISTRESS SAID "I SHOT HIM!"

(Continued from Page One.) I had seen no one in the kitchen, and I signed it, but the statement was not true.

"A few days after the murder I built a fire at Mrs. Carman's request. She said she wanted to burn some letters and she did burn something."

Retells Entire Story. Under cross-examination, Defense Attorney Graham compelled Celia to retell her entire story, which she did without variation. She declared the defendant carried the revolver in her hand, hidden in a shawl, when they entered the office where the body of Mrs. Bailey lay.

The witness said Mrs. Ida Powell, Mrs. Carman's sister, was dressed in a blue skirt and white waist, contradicting other witnesses, including Mrs. Powell herself, who said she was clad in white.

Credibility Is Attacked. Attorney Graham attacked Celia's credibility. "Do you think that God will forgive you for committing perjury now?" he demanded.

"Yes," was the answer. "Do you think that God will forgive you for committing perjury now?" she declared. "I am not doing that now," she declared. "I am afraid to, because I don't want to go to jail."

ALLIES TRY TO TURN THE RIGHT WING

German attempts to mount heavy coast artillery for use against British naval guns were reported here today to have been frustrated by bombardment from the British warships, which dismounted the kaiser's cannon before it could be used effectively.

Allies to Attack Lille. Paris, Oct. 21.—A sudden tightening of the censorship today hinted at important developments along the fighting front. It was reported that the allies were directing a determined attack against the Germans at Lille, which was believed to be the headquarters of the kaiser's right wing.

The opinion was widely held that the Teutonic troops were retiring to the eastward of the Belgian frontier. No confirmation had been received of Tuesday's report that they had evacuated Ostend.

Allies' Attacks Repulsed. Washington, Oct. 21.—The Franco-Anglo-Belgian allies' attacks on Germany's advance line near Nieupoort, Belgium, have been repulsed with heavy losses, it was stated in a Berlin message, transmitted by wire to the German embassy here today.
