

RECALL BALLOT WILL REMAIN THE SAME. HIGH COURT DECIDES

Eugene E. Smith Loses in Effort to Secure Writ of Mandamus for Change.

ALBEE, LOSE, YET WIN

People Entitled to Vote Directly on Question at Issue.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.) Salem, Oct. 21.—The state supreme court today declared in an opinion that the recall ballot in Portland should read: "Shall H. R. Albee be recalled from the office of mayor?" and dismissed the application for a writ of mandamus instituted by Eugene E. Smith to force Auditor Barlow to recall Albee from the office of mayor.

The supreme court holds that the essence of the recall amendment of the constitution is the recall of an officer, saying: "The people are entitled to vote directly upon the unadulterated question of recalling an incumbent of a public position."

Two Questions to be Decided. In another section the court says: "In our judgment, the simple and natural construction of this section (the recall) is that in such instances there are two questions to be decided by the electorate: First, the principal one of whether the people will recall said officer; and the second, of whether the people shall recall the incumbent of the office in question."

Continuing, the opinion says: "It does not necessarily follow that there will be candidates at such a recall election, and the right of the people to exercise this prerogative cannot be made to depend upon the mere availability of possible candidates for the office. It is possible that in the election, so far as the candidates are concerned, the plurality of voters, although a very small minority of the total, may go to the individual who first held the office in question; for he, like any other citizen, is eligible to be a candidate. Thus the paradox may happen that the recall in effect may defeat itself."

"He this as it may, still, if we were to attend only to the choice among numerous candidates, no direct expression would be given to the will of the people as to whether the incumbent officer was deserving of censure or dismissal."

WOMEN HAVE PLACE IN AFFAIRS OF STATE DECLARES DR. SMITH

fare and for the unfortunate and in-eligible. The women have a wide field for their labors in our Christian democracy, in helping to more firmly establish civic, state and national righteousness. The men work along the lines of material things while women have instinctive vision of the calls of humanity. More than 75 per cent of the women in California voted on the right side whenever moral and home affairs were public issues.

Suffrage Is Milestone.

"I consider the securing of equal suffrage in Oregon one of the milestones of our progress. Some people are pessimists and do not believe we have made progress. Compare women's place in society today to what it was 100 years ago. Look at the improved conditions of labor today over what it was 100 years ago. This is to be the century of uplift and this is where women will show their influence. Every citizen of Oregon should be proud of our state with our advanced ground such as the corrupt practice act, the recall, the direct primary, the election of senators through the direct vote of the people. I believe that the world is getting better and that women will exercise more and more influence along moral lines."

Women Can Help.

"Women can help in creating a sentiment for an evening up so that the worker will more nearly secure adequate results for his toil. You are all sovereign citizens and you can help or hinder the securing and the retaining of progress toward righteousness in our government."

At the close of the meeting Dr. Smith held a reception and met those present. Immediately after the afternoon address to the women Dr. Smith, accompanied by Judge J. K. Wentworth and Judge W. R. Eliyu, went by automobile to Lebanon.

EARNEST TALK AT LEBANON CARRIES HEARERS WITH HIM

By Fred Lockley. Lebanon, Oct. 21.—An eloquent tribute to Woodrow Wilson by Dr. Smith in his address here last night elicited universal applause by the large audience that flocked to the opera house to hear the address. "I am glad to note that the applause for President Wilson comes from all alike," said Dr. Smith. "I believe every loyal American, irrespective of party, admires and respects and pays grateful tribute to the wisdom, statesmanship and humanism of President Wilson, through whose level-headedness, patience and forbearance we have been saved from being plunged into war with Mexico."

Dr. Smith was introduced by A. M. Reeves, ex-mayor of Lebanon. Mr. Reeves said: "There are various candidates for the high office of governor. I think one of the striking points of difference in the candidates is that when Dr. Smith sought the nomination he announced his platform and his principles. He was selected for these principles. He has not swerved an iota from his platform and his principles. Opposition has made him alter his high ideals. He stands for something. Some of the other candidates have trimmed their sails to the winds of popular opinion. They have ceased to advocate views that were found to be unpopular. With them getting the office is all important, of more importance than maintaining their ideals. We need a strong, clean man as governor and it is my pleasure to introduce to you such a man."

people of the state ever have a chance to vote on it, it will be carried over-whelmingly. The senate in 1913 turned down the resolution which would have submitted it to the vote of the people. "They realize that if it is ever submitted to the people they could no longer slip in little thieving items. In the 1913 legislature the appropriation bill carried 74 items, many of which were foolish and unnecessary. The governor vetoed the bill but the legislature passed the bill over his veto, laying an additional burden of $200,000 on the taxpayers."

Enforcement of the Law. One of the things that I consider of prime importance is the matter of law enforcement. A lax enforcement of the law brings a disrespect for the law. A vigorous and active enforcement of the law means a higher type of citizenship, a greater respect for the law and the ridding of the community of the gunman, the bank wrecker and the grafting official. Regardless of the intention of the law if it is on the statute books I believe it is there to be enforced and if I am elected governor I want to serve notice right now that the law on the statute books will be rigorously and vigorously enforced. If they are bad laws they should be repealed."

If I am elected governor I pledge you that I will enforce the laws. Whether the law meets with my approval or not will not enter into the question. be governor and because he has made good he is abused." Praise for Dr. Smith. Senator Chamberlain also paid a tribute to Dr. C. E. Smith, Democratic candidate for governor. "I happened to be governor of this state," he said, "when Dr. Smith was a member of the state senate. I never found him wanting in the interests of progress or the cause of the just and the right."

Senator Chamberlain sketched the accomplishments of the Wilson administration, telling of the revision of the tariff downward, the income tax, the anti-trust legislation and "watchful waiting." His audience followed him intently. Over 1200 people crowded the opera house. Upon his arrival at the Marion hotel the senator was entertained at dinner by a score of Salem friends, Postmaster Hackstein presiding. Yesterday afternoon Senator Chamberlain addressed an audience in the Mount Angel town hall. Burt C. Jones, editor of the Times, presided, and on the platform were Mayor F. S. Fuch and Albet Placidus of the Mount Angel Benedictine settlement. Deaved by bad roads, the senator reached Woodburn an hour late and found his audience still waiting in the armory. Fully 800 people heard him graphically describe what Woodrow Wilson's peace policy had saved America in contrast with the present war in Europe. In simple language in an unlighted hall he held his hearers spellbound while he told how Woodrow Wilson had struggled to maintain peace.

"My opponents state they seek to do away with the policies of President Wilson," he said. "Would you have other than his policy of peace? Would you have your sons slaughtered in Mexico as thousands are falling in Europe?"
