

CLEETON IS BACK IN HIS OLD POSITION OF COUNTY COURT JUDGE

Decision Made After Conference With Supreme Justices at Salem Yesterday.

NEW ANGLE IS DISCLOSED

Amendment to Constitution Makes Term of Six Years; Holman's Status to Be Decided.

Judge T. J. Cleeton has stepped from the circuit court back to his old position of county judge as the result of a conference yesterday with the members of the supreme court as to the meaning and extent of the law abolishing the county court, creating the Sixth circuit court and raising himself from county to circuit judge. "As the result of that conference I will take up probate work and will circuit court work," said Judge Cleeton. "The supreme court has explained to me that I am still county judge, but am not circuit judge and that my department of the circuit court does not exist. I will remain as county judge until my term expires unless the decision is changed."

A new angle was presented this morning as the result of a conference held last night by District Attorney Evans with Attorneys E. E. Covert, A. E. Clark, Jay Bowerman, Judge Cleeton, ex-Judge Gantenbein and County Clerk Coffey.

During the conference the fact was brought out that in an amendment to the constitution taking the courts from the constitution, with the exception of supreme court, the terms of office of all judges affected was set at six years. The amendment was passed in 1910 at the election at which Judge Cleeton was elected county judge.

District Attorney Evans and the others are of the opinion that the amendment became effective at once and should that be true it is believed that it will mean as county judge Cleeton's term would not end until January 1, 1917, and that a successor would not be elected until November, 1916.

Judge Cleeton said that the supreme justices were not ready to determine what effect the declaring unconstitutional of the act would mean on circuit court cases tried by him as circuit judge. He said that they told him that the point may be decided on a writ of habeas corpus and that a successor would be elected in the interim and should not be validated by himself as county judge and should not change be made in the decision he expects to validate all acts connected with the probate department during the time he became circuit judge until the present. In this he can only do as the matters are again brought before him, but he will endeavor to have attorneys in all cases bring such matters up that they may be cleared.

No question was raised by Judge Cleeton yesterday as to the effect the decision would have upon the naming of Rufus C. Holman as county commissioner to fill the vacancy created when the county court was abolished. It was done by a separate act and District Attorney Evans is preparing court warrants to place the question before the supreme court at the point may be decided on a friendly basis. Mr. Evans and Mr. Covert, who will represent Mr. Holman, hold to the theory that the legislature had the authority to make the board of county commissioners distinct from the county court and that the act is broad enough to make the election valid this November to fill the vacancy.

County Clerk Coffey will make no change in the ballots unless ordered to do so by some court. The ballots at present contain provision for the election of a circuit judge to fill the vacancy in department six and to fill Mr. Holman's place as county commissioner.

JAPANESE FLEET SIGHTED

Tokio, Oct. 22.—That a Japanese squadron is looking for German warships in the vicinity of the Hawaiian Islands, was officially announced here today.

Visitor Here From New York

Frederick M. Shelley of Rome, N. Y., a mining engineer, is visiting at the home of A. D. Charlton, assistant general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific railway. Mr. Shelley expects to go on to California to engage in hydraulic mining.

WAR SUMMARY

BY J. W. T. MASON
Former London Correspondent for the United Press.

New York, Oct. 22.—The allies continued today to press the German line slowly backward in Belgium, but there was no evidence of further allied gains in the north.

Lille, the center of the Kaiser's advanced entrenchments, is being desperately held. North of it the Germans are giving ground. At one point apparently for a further concentration of their forces south of the city, three miles farther north, Menin, they have swung a mile or two past the Lille line.

South of Lille, however, no gains are reported.

German Resistance Fiercer.

The brief progress made eastward by the allies' movement from Arras has been checked by the Germans' fierce resistance at La Bassée. The immense importance to the Teutons of protecting their lines of communication against the French swing apparently has led to a heavier concentration of their forces south of the Lille than to the north of it. If the Germans can do so, undoubtedly they will use Lille as a pivot for their line, just as the French are using Arras. If the allies' pressure becomes too strong to be resisted, their front will be forced to retreat from Lille to the northward, but to the southward they will try to retain their north and south positions.

This strategy, if continued, will end material progress in the passing of the German back through northern Belgium to Antwerp. Such a battle front, by zigzagging, will afford protection to their lines of communication. The line from Lille to Antwerp, however, will be maintained without endangering their main railroad supply system.

German's Protect Lines.

But once the allies begin to make material progress in the passing of the German back through northern Belgium to Antwerp, the Kaiser's hold on French territory will be greatly imperiled.

Liege, where the most important German communication line enters home territory, is almost due east of Lille. The German zone of safety, therefore, is south of the Lille-Liege line, and for this reason the Teutonic forces must prevent, at any cost, an advance by the allies south of the former city.

Up to the present they have been, on the whole, successful in this effort. They must continue the same strategy even at the expense of losing all Belgium, from the frontier north of Lille to Antwerp, beyond the former city.

Extensive advances by the allies north of Lille would not, under existing circumstances, be decisive, but south of Lille they would be grave, for the German standpoint.

It is this area to the southward which must be watched for major strategic developments.

PHILOMATH CITIZENS TURN OUT IN FORCE TO HEAR DR. SMITH

Democratic Gubernatorial Candidate Declares His Opposition to Slates.

SPEECH IS CONVINCING

Voters Set to Thinking by Straight From the Shoulder Arguments on Live Issues of the Day.

By Fred Lockley.

Philomath, Or., Oct. 22.—What a wonderful success along any line a man could make if he only knew what the people were thinking. The man who can most nearly interpret their wishes and desires is the man who is most successful. It is always a question with a candidate what the people are really thinking about the election. Last night as I left the meeting addressed by Dr. Smith, I fell in back of two men who had attended the meeting. "How did you like the doctor's speech?" asked one. "It struck me as a very sensible, straightforward talk. What did you think of it?" "It was a good talk, all right, and it was convincing. Who do you think will be elected?" said the first speaker. "Well both of the candidates are good men. I am a Republican, and I like Dr. Withycombe, but I would not be surprised to see Smith win out. There are a lot of moral issues up this year, and there is no use talking, the people are tremendously interested in them. Smith certainly has backbone. He isn't afraid to say what he thinks. He talked straight from the shoulder, and I believe he will back up his talk with his actions."

That afternoon I happened to be standing at the corner of Cusick's bank. Three middle-aged and substantial looking men were discussing the political issues as I came up. I heard one of them say: "Why, I guess both of them are honest, all right, but the one who is getting tired of the old school of politics. They want a governor who is a good business man and who will do what he thinks is right regardless of what other people think. People nowadays are voting for principles and measures. The day when they would vote the ticket straight, or as they used to say, 'vote for a yellow overcoat' was on the ticket, is gone. Nowadays it is the man they vote for and not the political labels." All of which goes to show that the people are thinking and discussing the issues of the campaign.

We came to Corvallis this morning, where Dr. Smith was in charge by County Judge W. H. Malone, District Attorney Arthur Clark and Victor P. Moses, and introduced to the citizens above party motored to Philomath.

House Was Full.

At Philomath, Dr. Smith spoke in the moving picture hall. Philomath is an old town, and though the population does not exceed 500 or 600 people, they turned out a full house to hear Dr. Smith's address.

District Attorney Clark introduced Dr. Smith by saying, in part: "Today we do not ask what part of the state the candidate comes from, we ask, will he be a good citizen of this state? We do not ask what a man's politics are as his performance. We ask will he give the same careful and conscientious care to the business as to his own affairs? He reviewed Dr. Smith's work as a farmer, physician, legislator, mayor and school director, and said, 'He has proved his fitness, he is worthy of the high office he seeks.'"

Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the work of President Wilson and told of his long acquaintance with and admiration for Senator Chamberlain. "I believe it would be a real calamity not to re-elect Senator Chamberlain," said Dr. Smith. "We can't afford to lose the benefit of his experience and knowledge." Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the steps by which the people of Oregon had secured the Oregon system and told of the political corruption of the old-time overlords that led to the revolution that secured for Oregon its freedom from the bosses.

"Do the people want to surrender their liberty?" said Dr. Smith. "If they are not vigilant and alert they will lose it through the underhanded attacks of the old time bosses who want to resume their dictatorship."

ADVANCED COURSE IN GERMAN IS OFFERED

Professor Schmidt of University of Oregon Will Give Instruction on Every Other Friday.

A course in German literature for advanced students of German is offered by the extension department of the University of Oregon to be held in Portland by Professor F. G. G. Schmidt every other Friday. A preliminary meeting October 9 proved that a sufficient number of students could be secured for the course. The first session will be held tomorrow and there will still be a chance to enroll at that time.

On the same evenings, every other Friday, the German literary society of Portland offers a series of lectures on the achievements of Germany in science, art, education, economic conditions, political development, etc.

The courses are entirely free of charge and everybody is invited, whether or not a member of the German literary society. The sessions of the extension department begin at 7 o'clock, those of the literary society at 8 o'clock. The courses will be held in room A, Central library.

MAN IS ACCUSED OF KILLING MRS. BAILEY IN CARMAN'S OFFICE

(Continued from Page One.)

I think it was that hand she shoved through the window. I heard a shot then and started to run. I glanced over my shoulder and saw the woman running. Then I heard a sound like another shot, but when I turned around it was, in my excitement I could not tell."

Farrell was then excused and the jury retired.

After his motion for dismissal of the indictment against Mrs. Carman had been denied, Attorney Levy made the following statement:

Accused a Criminal.

"Not only do we propose to show this defendant is innocent, but we will prove the murder was committed by a man whose identity we will have been unable to establish. We will show the defendant was lying down when she heard a peculiar noise, donned a kimono and slippers and went to the head of the stairs, but did not enter the Carman's office. He reviewed Dr. Smith's work as a farmer, physician, legislator, mayor and school director, and said, 'He has proved his fitness, he is worthy of the high office he seeks.'"

Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the work of President Wilson and told of his long acquaintance with and admiration for Senator Chamberlain. "I believe it would be a real calamity not to re-elect Senator Chamberlain," said Dr. Smith. "We can't afford to lose the benefit of his experience and knowledge." Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the steps by which the people of Oregon had secured the Oregon system and told of the political corruption of the old-time overlords that led to the revolution that secured for Oregon its freedom from the bosses.

"Do the people want to surrender their liberty?" said Dr. Smith. "If they are not vigilant and alert they will lose it through the underhanded attacks of the old time bosses who want to resume their dictatorship."

MAN IS ACCUSED OF KILLING MRS. BAILEY IN CARMAN'S OFFICE

(Continued from Page One.)

Farrell was then excused and the jury retired.

After his motion for dismissal of the indictment against Mrs. Carman had been denied, Attorney Levy made the following statement:

Accused a Criminal.

"Not only do we propose to show this defendant is innocent, but we will prove the murder was committed by a man whose identity we will have been unable to establish. We will show the defendant was lying down when she heard a peculiar noise, donned a kimono and slippers and went to the head of the stairs, but did not enter the Carman's office. He reviewed Dr. Smith's work as a farmer, physician, legislator, mayor and school director, and said, 'He has proved his fitness, he is worthy of the high office he seeks.'"

Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the work of President Wilson and told of his long acquaintance with and admiration for Senator Chamberlain. "I believe it would be a real calamity not to re-elect Senator Chamberlain," said Dr. Smith. "We can't afford to lose the benefit of his experience and knowledge." Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the steps by which the people of Oregon had secured the Oregon system and told of the political corruption of the old-time overlords that led to the revolution that secured for Oregon its freedom from the bosses.

"Do the people want to surrender their liberty?" said Dr. Smith. "If they are not vigilant and alert they will lose it through the underhanded attacks of the old time bosses who want to resume their dictatorship."

MAN IS ACCUSED OF KILLING MRS. BAILEY IN CARMAN'S OFFICE

(Continued from Page One.)

Farrell was then excused and the jury retired.

After his motion for dismissal of the indictment against Mrs. Carman had been denied, Attorney Levy made the following statement:

Accused a Criminal.

"Not only do we propose to show this defendant is innocent, but we will prove the murder was committed by a man whose identity we will have been unable to establish. We will show the defendant was lying down when she heard a peculiar noise, donned a kimono and slippers and went to the head of the stairs, but did not enter the Carman's office. He reviewed Dr. Smith's work as a farmer, physician, legislator, mayor and school director, and said, 'He has proved his fitness, he is worthy of the high office he seeks.'"

Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the work of President Wilson and told of his long acquaintance with and admiration for Senator Chamberlain. "I believe it would be a real calamity not to re-elect Senator Chamberlain," said Dr. Smith. "We can't afford to lose the benefit of his experience and knowledge." Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the steps by which the people of Oregon had secured the Oregon system and told of the political corruption of the old-time overlords that led to the revolution that secured for Oregon its freedom from the bosses.

"Do the people want to surrender their liberty?" said Dr. Smith. "If they are not vigilant and alert they will lose it through the underhanded attacks of the old time bosses who want to resume their dictatorship."

MAN IS ACCUSED OF KILLING MRS. BAILEY IN CARMAN'S OFFICE

(Continued from Page One.)

Farrell was then excused and the jury retired.

After his motion for dismissal of the indictment against Mrs. Carman had been denied, Attorney Levy made the following statement:

Accused a Criminal.

"Not only do we propose to show this defendant is innocent, but we will prove the murder was committed by a man whose identity we will have been unable to establish. We will show the defendant was lying down when she heard a peculiar noise, donned a kimono and slippers and went to the head of the stairs, but did not enter the Carman's office. He reviewed Dr. Smith's work as a farmer, physician, legislator, mayor and school director, and said, 'He has proved his fitness, he is worthy of the high office he seeks.'"

Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the work of President Wilson and told of his long acquaintance with and admiration for Senator Chamberlain. "I believe it would be a real calamity not to re-elect Senator Chamberlain," said Dr. Smith. "We can't afford to lose the benefit of his experience and knowledge." Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the steps by which the people of Oregon had secured the Oregon system and told of the political corruption of the old-time overlords that led to the revolution that secured for Oregon its freedom from the bosses.

"Do the people want to surrender their liberty?" said Dr. Smith. "If they are not vigilant and alert they will lose it through the underhanded attacks of the old time bosses who want to resume their dictatorship."

CITY COMMISSIONER URGES BIG VOTE ON QUESTION OF RECALL

Official Not Affected by Election Sees Apparent Indifference Among Voters.

MINISTERS WILL ASSIST

Factors Aiding in Effort to Get People Out to the Polls on Next Tuesday.

On account of the apparent indifference displayed regarding the recall election to be held Tuesday, C. A. Bigelow, commissioner of finance, one of the commissioners not affected by the movement, urges that everyone interested in the welfare of the city go to the polls that day and vote.

Members of the Portland Ministerial association are doing everything possible to get the people out to vote, and it is probable that at an executive meeting of the association to be held tomorrow morning a resolution will be adopted asking every minister to announce to his congregation the necessity for voting at the special election.

"The responsibility in this affair," said Commissioner Bigelow this morning, "should be fully felt by all who are interested in the city. If the vote is a heavy one no one can have any just cause for complaint, but if there is a small number voting those who are now apparently indifferent will have themselves to blame for the result."

B. E. Kennedy, one of the candidates for mayor, and one of the active movers in the recall movement, is making a number of campaign talks.

Voters are to vote on three issues, one being on the direct recall question, another on the candidates and another on the proposed water amendment. This measure, if adopted, will lower the minimum rate for water and make it unlawful for the city to ever raise it, provide for the quarterly payment of all accounts, and provide when due and not in advance, and providing for the billing of accounts to the premises instead of to the actual tenant.

WOMAN'S SMITH FOR GOVERNOR CLUB HAS A DIRECT TELEPHONE

Women Backers of Democratic Candidate Ready to Give Voters Attention.

To provide a prompt and convenient method of giving information, a direct telephone has been installed in the headquarters of the Woman's Smith-for-Governor club in the Portland. Its number is Main 2701.

Mrs. John Nissen, president of the club, said that the club is in attendance at the headquarters answering calls made by telephone and in person by those desiring information or literature.

Many of the women who call for and are freely given the Smith-for-Governor posters adapted for display in the windows of residences. There are also quantities of the Smith-for-Governor cards and the pamphlet copies of Dr. Smith's law enforcement address made at Oregon City.

Woman Has New Plan.

Mrs. L. P. Budahn of 5018 Sixty-fourth avenue, has announced a plan of making votes for Dr. Smith and other candidates for whom she is working that she believes will be effective if generally used by the housewives of the city.

"We have our meat, groceries, bread, laundry and many other articles delivered by a long succession of clerks, drivers and carriers," said Mrs. Budahn, while a caller at the Smith-for-Governor headquarters yesterday afternoon.

"I take enough of the time of each to find out how he's going to vote, and if he hasn't positively made up his mind I tell him the way he should vote, and I have sufficiently informed myself on the facts of this campaign so that I can make recommendations that result in pledges to vote for the candidates I hope to see elected and the measure of success in this campaign is that it is spreading so widely."

"I have also called upon the women of my neighborhood, and I find them uniformly anxious to learn the facts and to be governed by what is right and wrong in this campaign. That's the reason the women are for Dr. Smith because he is right, and because he stands for the best things."

"That is true," said Mrs. Nissen. "And the result is that the women who are going to vote for Dr. Smith are working for him. I sometimes meet women who say they are going to vote for Dr. Withycombe, but they say so in an indifferent, listless sort of way, and apologize by saying that they intend to do so because of their idea of loyalty to the Republican party. Among most of the women, however, I do not hear party mentioned. They are for Dr. Smith because he is the kind of man who should be elected governor. Why, in Newport, both the president and vice president of the Woman's Smith-for-Governor club are Republicans."

SLAKE IN THE GRASS ATTACK ON DIRECT PRIMARY BEING MADE

(Continued from Page One.)

Oregon," according to the leaflet, has offices at 310 Fenton building. Callers at 310 Fenton have been getting tired of the old school of politics. They want a governor who is a good business man and who will do what he thinks is right regardless of what other people think. People nowadays are voting for principles and measures. The day when they would vote the ticket straight, or as they used to say, 'vote for a yellow overcoat' was on the ticket, is gone. Nowadays it is the man they vote for and not the political labels." All of which goes to show that the people are thinking and discussing the issues of the campaign.

We came to Corvallis this morning, where Dr. Smith was in charge by County Judge W. H. Malone, District Attorney Arthur Clark and Victor P. Moses, and introduced to the citizens above party motored to Philomath.

House Was Full.

At Philomath, Dr. Smith spoke in the moving picture hall. Philomath is an old town, and though the population does not exceed 500 or 600 people, they turned out a full house to hear Dr. Smith's address.

District Attorney Clark introduced Dr. Smith by saying, in part: "Today we do not ask what part of the state the candidate comes from, we ask, will he be a good citizen of this state? We do not ask what a man's politics are as his performance. We ask will he give the same careful and conscientious care to the business as to his own affairs? He reviewed Dr. Smith's work as a farmer, physician, legislator, mayor and school director, and said, 'He has proved his fitness, he is worthy of the high office he seeks.'"

Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the work of President Wilson and told of his long acquaintance with and admiration for Senator Chamberlain. "I believe it would be a real calamity not to re-elect Senator Chamberlain," said Dr. Smith. "We can't afford to lose the benefit of his experience and knowledge." Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the steps by which the people of Oregon had secured the Oregon system and told of the political corruption of the old-time overlords that led to the revolution that secured for Oregon its freedom from the bosses.

"Do the people want to surrender their liberty?" said Dr. Smith. "If they are not vigilant and alert they will lose it through the underhanded attacks of the old time bosses who want to resume their dictatorship."

SLAKE IN THE GRASS ATTACK ON DIRECT PRIMARY BEING MADE

(Continued from Page One.)

Oregon," according to the leaflet, has offices at 310 Fenton building. Callers at 310 Fenton have been getting tired of the old school of politics. They want a governor who is a good business man and who will do what he thinks is right regardless of what other people think. People nowadays are voting for principles and measures. The day when they would vote the ticket straight, or as they used to say, 'vote for a yellow overcoat' was on the ticket, is gone. Nowadays it is the man they vote for and not the political labels." All of which goes to show that the people are thinking and discussing the issues of the campaign.

We came to Corvallis this morning, where Dr. Smith was in charge by County Judge W. H. Malone, District Attorney Arthur Clark and Victor P. Moses, and introduced to the citizens above party motored to Philomath.

House Was Full.

At Philomath, Dr. Smith spoke in the moving picture hall. Philomath is an old town, and though the population does not exceed 500 or 600 people, they turned out a full house to hear Dr. Smith's address.

District Attorney Clark introduced Dr. Smith by saying, in part: "Today we do not ask what part of the state the candidate comes from, we ask, will he be a good citizen of this state? We do not ask what a man's politics are as his performance. We ask will he give the same careful and conscientious care to the business as to his own affairs? He reviewed Dr. Smith's work as a farmer, physician, legislator, mayor and school director, and said, 'He has proved his fitness, he is worthy of the high office he seeks.'"

Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the work of President Wilson and told of his long acquaintance with and admiration for Senator Chamberlain. "I believe it would be a real calamity not to re-elect Senator Chamberlain," said Dr. Smith. "We can't afford to lose the benefit of his experience and knowledge." Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the steps by which the people of Oregon had secured the Oregon system and told of the political corruption of the old-time overlords that led to the revolution that secured for Oregon its freedom from the bosses.

"Do the people want to surrender their liberty?" said Dr. Smith. "If they are not vigilant and alert they will lose it through the underhanded attacks of the old time bosses who want to resume their dictatorship."

SLAKE IN THE GRASS ATTACK ON DIRECT PRIMARY BEING MADE

(Continued from Page One.)

Oregon," according to the leaflet, has offices at 310 Fenton building. Callers at 310 Fenton have been getting tired of the old school of politics. They want a governor who is a good business man and who will do what he thinks is right regardless of what other people think. People nowadays are voting for principles and measures. The day when they would vote the ticket straight, or as they used to say, 'vote for a yellow overcoat' was on the ticket, is gone. Nowadays it is the man they vote for and not the political labels." All of which goes to show that the people are thinking and discussing the issues of the campaign.

We came to Corvallis this morning, where Dr. Smith was in charge by County Judge W. H. Malone, District Attorney Arthur Clark and Victor P. Moses, and introduced to the citizens above party motored to Philomath.

House Was Full.

At Philomath, Dr. Smith spoke in the moving picture hall. Philomath is an old town, and though the population does not exceed 500 or 600 people, they turned out a full house to hear Dr. Smith's address.

District Attorney Clark introduced Dr. Smith by saying, in part: "Today we do not ask what part of the state the candidate comes from, we ask, will he be a good citizen of this state? We do not ask what a man's politics are as his performance. We ask will he give the same careful and conscientious care to the business as to his own affairs? He reviewed Dr. Smith's work as a farmer, physician, legislator, mayor and school director, and said, 'He has proved his fitness, he is worthy of the high office he seeks.'"

Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the work of President Wilson and told of his long acquaintance with and admiration for Senator Chamberlain. "I believe it would be a real calamity not to re-elect Senator Chamberlain," said Dr. Smith. "We can't afford to lose the benefit of his experience and knowledge." Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the steps by which the people of Oregon had secured the Oregon system and told of the political corruption of the old-time overlords that led to the revolution that secured for Oregon its freedom from the bosses.

"Do the people want to surrender their liberty?" said Dr. Smith. "If they are not vigilant and alert they will lose it through the underhanded attacks of the old time bosses who want to resume their dictatorship."

SLAKE IN THE GRASS ATTACK ON DIRECT PRIMARY BEING MADE

(Continued from Page One.)

Oregon," according to the leaflet, has offices at 310 Fenton building. Callers at 310 Fenton have been getting tired of the old school of politics. They want a governor who is a good business man and who will do what he thinks is right regardless of what other people think. People nowadays are voting for principles and measures. The day when they would vote the ticket straight, or as they used to say, 'vote for a yellow overcoat' was on the ticket, is gone. Nowadays it is the man they vote for and not the political labels." All of which goes to show that the people are thinking and discussing the issues of the campaign.

We came to Corvallis this morning, where Dr. Smith was in charge by County Judge W. H. Malone, District Attorney Arthur Clark and Victor P. Moses, and introduced to the citizens above party motored to Philomath.

House Was Full.

At Philomath, Dr. Smith spoke in the moving picture hall. Philomath is an old town, and though the population does not exceed 500 or 600 people, they turned out a full house to hear Dr. Smith's address.

District Attorney Clark introduced Dr. Smith by saying, in part: "Today we do not ask what part of the state the candidate comes from, we ask, will he be a good citizen of this state? We do not ask what a man's politics are as his performance. We ask will he give the same careful and conscientious care to the business as to his own affairs? He reviewed Dr. Smith's work as a farmer, physician, legislator, mayor and school director, and said, 'He has proved his fitness, he is worthy of the high office he seeks.'"

Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the work of President Wilson and told of his long acquaintance with and admiration for Senator Chamberlain. "I believe it would be a real calamity not to re-elect Senator Chamberlain," said Dr. Smith. "We can't afford to lose the benefit of his experience and knowledge." Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the steps by which the people of Oregon had secured the Oregon system and told of the political corruption of the old-time overlords that led to the revolution that secured for Oregon its freedom from the bosses.

"Do the people want to surrender their liberty?" said Dr. Smith. "If they are not vigilant and alert they will lose it through the underhanded attacks of the old time bosses who want to resume their dictatorship."

SLAKE IN THE GRASS ATTACK ON DIRECT PRIMARY BEING MADE

(Continued from Page One.)

Oregon," according to the leaflet, has offices at 310 Fenton building. Callers at 310 Fenton have been getting tired of the old school of politics. They want a governor who is a good business man and who will do what he thinks is right regardless of what other people think. People nowadays are voting for principles and measures. The day when they would vote the ticket straight, or as they used to say, 'vote for a yellow overcoat' was on the ticket, is gone. Nowadays it is the man they vote for and not the political labels." All of which goes to show that the people are thinking and discussing the issues of the campaign.

We came to Corvallis this morning, where Dr. Smith was in charge by County Judge W. H. Malone, District Attorney Arthur Clark and Victor P. Moses, and introduced to the citizens above party motored to Philomath.

House Was Full.

At Philomath, Dr. Smith spoke in the moving picture hall. Philomath is an old town, and though the population does not exceed 500 or 600 people, they turned out a full house to hear Dr. Smith's address.

District Attorney Clark introduced Dr. Smith by saying, in part: "Today we do not ask what part of the state the candidate comes from, we ask, will he be a good citizen of this state? We do not ask what a man's politics are as his performance. We ask will he give the same careful and conscientious care to the business as to his own affairs? He reviewed Dr. Smith's work as a farmer, physician, legislator, mayor and school director, and said, 'He has proved his fitness, he is worthy of the high office he seeks.'"

Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the work of President Wilson and told of his long acquaintance with and admiration for Senator Chamberlain. "I believe it would be a real calamity not to re-elect Senator Chamberlain," said Dr. Smith. "We can't afford to lose the benefit of his experience and knowledge." Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the steps by which the people of Oregon had secured the Oregon system and told of the political corruption of the old-time overlords that led to the revolution that secured for Oregon its freedom from the bosses.

"Do the people want to surrender their liberty?" said Dr. Smith. "If they are not vigilant and alert they will lose it through the underhanded attacks of the old time bosses who want to resume their dictatorship."

SLAKE IN THE GRASS ATTACK ON DIRECT PRIMARY BEING MADE

(Continued from Page One.)

Oregon," according to the leaflet, has offices at 310 Fenton building. Callers at 310 Fenton have been getting tired of the old school of politics. They want a governor who is a good business man and who will do what he thinks is right regardless of what other people think. People nowadays are voting for principles and measures. The day when they would vote the ticket straight, or as they used to say, 'vote for a yellow overcoat' was on the ticket, is gone. Nowadays it is the man they vote for and not the political labels." All of which goes to show that the people are thinking and discussing the issues of the campaign.

We came to Corvallis this morning, where Dr. Smith was in charge by County Judge W. H. Malone, District Attorney Arthur Clark and Victor P. Moses, and introduced to the citizens above party motored to Philomath.

House Was Full.

At Philomath, Dr. Smith spoke in the moving picture hall. Philomath is an old town, and though the population does not exceed 500 or 600 people, they turned out a full house to hear Dr. Smith's address.

District Attorney Clark introduced Dr. Smith by saying, in part: "Today we do not ask what part of the state the candidate comes from, we ask, will he be a good citizen of this state? We do not ask what a man's politics are as his performance. We ask will he give the same careful and conscientious care to the business as to his own affairs? He reviewed Dr. Smith's work as a farmer, physician, legislator, mayor and school director, and said, 'He has proved his fitness, he is worthy of the high office he seeks.'"

Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the work of President Wilson and told of his long acquaintance with and admiration for Senator Chamberlain. "I believe it would be a real calamity not to re-elect Senator Chamberlain," said Dr. Smith. "We can't afford to lose the benefit of his experience and knowledge." Dr. Smith reviewed briefly the steps by which the people of Oregon had secured the Oregon system and told of the political corruption of the old-time overlords that led to the revolution that secured for Oregon its freedom from the bosses.

"Do the people want to surrender their liberty?" said Dr. Smith. "If they are not vigilant and alert they will lose it through the underhanded attacks of the old time bosses who want to resume their dictatorship."

SHIP THROUGH THE OBNOXIOUS ASSEMBLY BILL ON THE BALLET

Official Not Affected by Election Sees Apparent Indifference Among Voters.

MINISTERS WILL ASSIST

Factors Aiding in Effort to Get People Out to the Polls on Next Tuesday.

On account of the apparent indifference displayed regarding the recall election to be held Tuesday, C. A. Bigelow, commissioner of finance, one of the commissioners not affected by the movement, urges that everyone interested in the welfare of the city go to the polls that day and vote.

Members of the Portland Ministerial association are doing everything possible to get the people out to vote, and it is probable that at an executive meeting of the association to be held tomorrow morning a resolution will be adopted asking every minister to announce to his congregation the necessity for voting at the special election.

"The responsibility in this affair," said Commissioner Bigelow this morning, "should be fully felt by all who are interested in the city. If the vote is a heavy one no one can have any just cause for complaint, but if there is a small number voting those who are now apparently indifferent will have themselves to blame for the result."

B. E. Kennedy, one of the candidates for mayor, and one of the active movers in the recall movement, is making a number of campaign talks.

Voters are to vote on three issues, one being on the direct recall question, another on the candidates and another on the proposed water amendment. This measure, if adopted, will lower the minimum rate for water and make it unlawful for the city to ever raise it, provide for the quarterly payment of all accounts, and provide when due and not in advance, and providing for the billing of accounts to the premises instead of to the actual tenant.

WOMAN'S SMITH FOR GOVERNOR CLUB HAS A DIRECT TELEPHONE

Women Backers of Democratic Candidate Ready to Give Voters Attention.

To provide a prompt and convenient method of giving information, a direct telephone has been installed in the headquarters of the Woman's Smith-for-Governor club in the Portland. Its number is Main 2701.

Mrs. John Nissen, president of the club, said that the club is in attendance at the headquarters answering calls made by telephone and in person by those desiring information or literature.

Many of the women who call for and are freely given the Smith-for-Governor posters adapted for display in the windows of residences. There are also quantities of the Smith-for-Governor cards and the pamphlet copies of Dr. Smith's law enforcement address made at Oregon City.

Woman Has New Plan.

Mrs. L. P. Budahn of 5018 Sixty-fourth avenue, has announced a plan of making votes for Dr. Smith and other candidates for whom she is working that she believes will be effective if generally used by the housewives of the city.

"We have our meat, groceries, bread, laundry and many other articles delivered by a long succession of clerks, drivers and carriers," said Mrs. Budahn, while a caller at the Smith-for-Governor headquarters yesterday afternoon.

"I take enough of the time of each to find out how he's going to vote, and if he hasn't positively made up his mind I tell him the way he should vote, and I have sufficiently informed myself on the facts of this campaign so that I can make recommendations that result in pledges to vote for the candidates I hope to see elected and the measure of success in this campaign is that it is spreading so widely."

"I have also called upon the women of my neighborhood, and I find them uniformly anxious to learn the facts and to be governed by what is right and wrong in this campaign. That's the reason the women are for Dr. Smith because he is right, and because he stands for the best things."

"That is true," said Mrs. Nissen. "And the result is that the women who are going to vote for Dr. Smith are working for him. I sometimes meet women who say they are going to vote for Dr. Withycombe, but they say so in an indifferent, listless sort of way, and apologize by saying that they intend to do so because of their idea of loyalty to the Republican party. Among most of the women, however, I do not hear party mentioned. They are for Dr. Smith because he is the kind of man who should be elected governor. Why, in Newport, both the president and vice president of the Woman's Smith-for-Governor club are Republicans."

SLAKE IN THE GRASS ATTACK ON DIRECT PRIMARY BEING MADE

(Continued from Page One.)

Oregon," according to the leaflet, has offices at 310 Fenton building. Callers at 310 Fenton have been getting tired of the old school of politics. They want a governor who is a good business man and who will do what he thinks is right regardless of what other people think. People nowadays are voting for principles and measures. The day when they would vote the ticket straight, or as they used to say, 'vote for a yellow overcoat' was on the ticket, is gone. Nowadays it is the man they vote for and not the political labels." All of which goes to show that the people are thinking and discussing the issues of the campaign.

We came to Corvallis this morning, where Dr. Smith was in charge by County Judge W. H. Malone, District Attorney Arthur Clark and Victor P. Moses, and introduced to the citizens above party motored to Philomath.

House Was Full.

At Philomath, Dr. Smith spoke in the moving picture hall. Philomath is an old town, and though the population does not exceed 500 or 600 people, they turned out a full house to hear Dr. Smith's address.

District Attorney Clark introduced Dr. Smith by saying, in part: "Today we do not ask what part of the state the candidate comes from, we ask, will he be a good citizen of this state? We do not ask what a man's politics are as his performance. We ask will he give the same careful and conscientious care to the business as to his own affairs? He reviewed Dr. Smith's work as a farmer, physician, legislator, mayor and school director, and said, 'He has proved his fitness, he is worthy of the high office he seeks.'"