* P. M. report of preceding day.

committee of the Portland Y. M. C. A. The department, under the supervision of the University, is preparing conditions for advanced students in the physical and biological sciences. This work is being conducted in the Y. M. C. A. by Nathan B. Blair, head of the physics department in the association. The examinations are given by the university faculty and the work has the general supervision of the state institution. A number of students have enrolled for the course.

Accused of Auto Speeding.—D. M. Bass was arrested this morning upon a complaint charging auto speeding Sunday morning on Union avenue. At Alberta street, Bass is accused of driving into eight bundles of morning newspapers belonging to two newsboys, scattering the papers in such fashion that they were unfit for delivery. Witnesses to the affair declared Bass was in the center of the street, driving at an excessive rate of speed and was unable to avoid the papers. The automobile ran almost a block before it was stopped after striking the papers. Upon the request of Bass the case was set Tuesday for hearing in the municipal court.

Ran Away From Highwayman.—John Murray of the Arnsden hotel has reported that last night he encountered a holdup man at the foot of Market street. One flash of the thug's pistol, and Murray darted down the street at full speed. The holdup man followed, but soon quit the chase. Murray said he was unable to find any trace of the man. Murray was on his way home. The holdup man is described as about 5 feet and 10 inches tall, 155 pounds, wore a dark suit and hat with a mask half covering his face.

Conditional Paroles Granted.—James Jacketta and James Buckner appeared before Municipal Judge Stevenson this morning for fighting. Jacketta said he had been unable to find employment and Judge Stevenson granted him a six-week interval to find work at a city institution. The mother of James Buckner said she would send her son to a place where he cannot get liquor if paroled. He was ordered held until arrangements for the trip are made.

Tobacco Dealers Sold to Boys.—It cost Millard C. Haines and Harry Root, cigar dealers, on East Burnside street, each $20 this morning in the municipal court for selling tobacco to minor boys. Patrolman Jones made the arrest yesterday when he caught two boys smoking. One had had a can of tobacco, while the other had a pocket full of stogies. They told of buying the tobacco from the two dealers. Neither dealer could recall the sale.

Minimum Wage Question.—At the Reed college conference on labor problems tonight, A. H. Harris, formerly editor of the Portland Labor Press, Edward Gilbert and Mr. Spicer will be the speakers. They will discuss the question of a minimum wage for men. The conference will be held in the seminar room of the social sciences from 7 till 9 o'clock. The public is invited.

Dog Owners Are Reminded.—Thirteen dog owners for which license has not been paid were before the municipal court this morning. Foundryman Welch made the complaints, and these are the forerunner of many that are to be filed. All the owners this morning were fined. The court also ordered the necessary license tag at once.

Dr. Chapman to Lecture Tonight.—"The New Literature" will be the subject of the lecture by Dr. Charles H. Chapman this evening in library hall. This is the fourth of his series of lectures on current history given under the auspices of the Oregon Civic League. Mrs. F. S. Myers will act as chairman and all are invited to attend.

Trade School Alumni Meeting.—The second meeting of the Portland Trades School alumni will be held this evening at 8:15 at the home of Miss Georgia Smith, 1031 Mallory avenue, near Alberta. A full attendance is desired as more than 500 important business to be transacted.

Old Sacks Prove Expensive.—For stealing 45 sacks from the Weinhard Brewing company, C. L. Huss and F. H. Glock were each fined $25 yesterday in the municipal court. The two men were caught Tuesday night with the sacks.

Desertion Is Alleged.—Suit for divorce was filed yesterday by Jesse B. Troeh against May Troeh, in which desertion was alleged.

Steamer Jesse Maxkins for Campa.—Washington and way landings, daily except Sunday. Leaves Washington street dock at 7 p. m. (Adv.)

Crawfish.—Millions of 'em. Snyder's, First and Madison. On sale Thursday and Friday only. 25c doz. M. 6753. Ad.

CITIZENS OF JACKSON COUNTY CHEER FOR SEN. CHAMBERLAIN

advantage of information at my command to get rich. But I did not. And now they charge me with being a poor man.

Poor, With Clean Record. "I would rather be poor and have my good name than to own a single acre with a question mark after it. "They ask me what I have done with the salary I have received as a public servant. I will tell you, my friends, it is no secret. I have supported a wife and raised and educated six children here in Oregon. "Try as they may I defy them to point to a single act of mine wherein I have been guilty of wrongdoing. They won't do it. They can't do it. As Senator Chamberlain finished his last statement cheer upon cheer was given by the enthusiastic audience. Scores made their way to the platform to shake his hand while others left the Auditorium praising the ringing sincerity of his message to the people.

Large Ashlund Audience. Yesterday afternoon the senator spoke in the new Vining theatre at Ashlund, one of the largest afternoon audiences of the trip turning out to hear him. Old timers who have attended every Ashlund political meeting in years all remarked on the size of the crowd that almost filled the beautiful little playhouse. Walter Newcomb, president of the Ashlund Commercial club, presided.

Just before the theatre meeting Senator Chamberlain gave a short talk to the pupils of the Ashlund high school on the workings of the senate, using the Alaska railway bill as an example of legislation. Professor F. E. Moore introduced him.

"How the people of Ashlund feel toward Senator Chamberlain was best shown in the round of applause that greeted his declaration to disregard all lists of questions submitted to him by those opposed to his candidacy and by paid circulators of one of his opponents, who have been following him from town to town.

Deals Only With Principals. "I refuse to deal with third-hand representatives," he said. "Let their chief face me face to face."

The senator made the trip from Medford to Ashlund and return, passing over the completed portion of the Pacific highway between the two cities. He paid a warm tribute to the people of Jackson county for their substantial interest in good roads.

"Perhaps the most striking thing about Senator Chamberlain's present trip is the warm and hearty welcome which is accorded him on every hand. Although admittedly a campaign tour in every instance it is rather a homecoming. The people are honestly glad to see him, glad to shake his hand, glad to welcome him into their homes. Everyone seems to regard the senator as his friend, even those who are meeting their senior senator for the first time.

Support of Women Voters. Mindful that he has ever been the champion of equal suffrage, women voters, who are indignant at the attempts being made to influence their votes in other directions, are among the first at every stop to grasp his hand with assurances of support. Men, too, who are members of another political faith are not ashamed to announce openly that they are going to vote for Chamberlain, the man.

An instance at Mount Angel Tuesday is typical when a prominent city official remarked, "I am a life long republican, but I've voted for Chamberlain every time he has run and I am going to do it again."

Nearly Loses His Hat. Among those who heard Senator Chamberlain last night was one man who in the confusion of the impromptu reception on the platform picked up the senator's hat for his own. Senator Chamberlain was about to leave the building before he discovered the exchange.

"Why, this isn't my hat," he said. A hurried survey of heads revealed the hat in question perched on the head of a Medford supporter. The latter was a little taken back to think that he had run off with the senator's hat but once reassured gracefully made a laugh of the incident saying, "Senator, I knew that hat was intended for a better head than mine."
