

BETTER DAYS. Lady (to tramp)—Why do you always stick out your middle finger when you eat?
Tramp—"Well, you see, lady, in my better days I used to wear a diamond ring on that finger and it's hard to break off old habits."

PLEASED. Wife—John, a fortune teller told me today that I would have two husbands!
Husband—And what did she charge you for that?
Wife—Well, she only charged $1, but I gave her $2.

POOR RATING. Motorist—Are you a careful chauffeur?
Applicant—Extremely so, sir!
Motorist—Then I don't want you. That's the kind that's always being run into by reckless ones!

OH, NO. Miss Nemo—"We've had several fighters in our family on my mother's side."
Mr. Inglenook—"Didn't any of them ever side with your poor father?"

ONE WAY. Tramp—"Ah, mum, I've charged many a battery in my day."
Woman—"Where and when?"
Tramp—"Oh, when I worked in the battery department of an electric automobile concern."

FORCE OF HABIT. Arthur—They found him lying with the car on top of him.
Ethel—Was he conscious?
Arthur—No; he kept moaning, "All right, Maria—all right—women should have the ballot if they want it."

UP TO DATE. Aleese—"Do you know of a good dancing teacher?"
Maude—"There is Professor Spinem; taught gramma the maxixe and hesitation in three lessons."

LORD LONGBOW

He Captures a Whale

OH, I SAY STOP IT!

"You've often seen a puppy chase his tail; why shouldn't a fish? I took a mirror in with me and the next time one of the little big fellows came near me I held it up.

"He could see his reflection and, noticing his tail, he chased it, spinning about like a top.

"Their eyes are stationary and they can't see their tails, ye know. It's the easiest way to catch a whale I know of, as they spin until they get so dizzy that they would drown unless rescued."

NO—
S'WOT I TOT.
